NOTIFICATION.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT.

Bombay Castle, 20th September 1890.

No. 3796.—In exercise of the power conferred by Act I of 1870, the following Rules for Quarantine against Cholera have been made by the Government of Bombay with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council: they have effect from the 16th instant in the Ports of Aden, Perim, and the Somali Coast as a temporary measure:—

I.—The commander of every vessel, including buggalows or other native craft, arriving from Massowa shall, before entering the harbour, indicate by signal the port from which such vessel has come.

II.—Such commander shall not, except as hereinafter provided, allow any communication either with the pilot boat, except orally, or with the shore, or with any other vessel or boat in the harbour.

III.—Immediately on arrival the commander shall cause the letter R of the Commercial Signal Code to be hoisted, and shall keep the said flag flying during his stay in port or until authorized by the Health Officer to haul it down. If communication with the shore is not desired, the vessel shall anchor at such place as may be pointed out by the Port authorities, having regard to the season of the year. If communication with the shore is desired, the Health Officer shall go alongside the vessel and, after all necessary enquiries, shall direct the commander to take the vessel to the quarantine anchorage duly appointed and notified in that behalf by the Resident, there to remain for a period of seven days from the date of arrival, or for the shorter period prescribed in Rule IV, and undergo disinfection, which should apply as well to crew, passengers, effects, and suspectible goods.

IV.—If the Health Officer of the Port has sufficient evidence that no cases of a suspicious nature have taken place on board during the voyage, and if the vessel is, besides, in good hygienic condition, the duration of the quarantine will be diminished according to the following scale:—

After eight days of voyage			...	...	six days of quarantine.
Do. nine	ditto		...	...	five ditto.
Do. ten	ditto		...	...	four ditto.
Do. eleven	ditto		...	...	three ditto.
Do. twelve	ditto		...	...	two ditto.
Do. thirteen	ditto	and upwards		...	twenty-four hours of quarantine.

V.—If during the period a vessel is at the quarantine anchorage aforesaid any case or cases of cholera should occur on board, the said vessel shall remain in quarantine for a period of seven days from the date of the last case occurring, and be subject to all the prohibitions provided for in Rule III.

VI.—When any vessel has been placed in quarantine as aforesaid, the Health Officer may direct the removal of so many of the passengers and crew as may not be suffering from illness, and whose services may not be required on board the vessel, to such particular spot as may from time to time be selected by the Resident as places of quarantine, there to remain for a period of seven days. If a case of cholera occurs among such passengers and crew during any such period, they shall remain in a place of quarantine for a period of fifteen days from the date of the occurrence of the last case of such illness.

VII.—Any mails or cargo which may be brought by any vessel so arriving shall be landed under such precautions as the Health Officer may deem necessary to prevent the spread of the disease.

VIII.—It will be the duty of the Port Officer to facilitate the conveyance to all vessels in quarantine of such supplies of provisions, stores, and other articles as may be required by those on board. Such supplies will be placed on the boats of the vessels in quarantine, to be subsequently removed by members of their crews.

IX.—All vessels arriving at Aden, Perim, and the Somali Coast, which may have communicated with vessels coming from Massowa, shall be subjected to the same quarantine as vessels arriving at Aden, Perim, and the Somali Coast from Massowa.

X.—All vessels which have undergone quarantine in the manner above prescribed, should have the fact clearly stated on their bills of health.

By order of His Excellency the Right Hon'ble the Governor in Council,

J. NUGENT,
Chief Secretary to Government

The 26th September 1890.—It is hereby notified that, under section 27, Act III (B.C.) of 1884, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to appoint Dr. R. H. Whitwal, M.B., B.SC., Civil Surgeon, and Mr. H. M. Weathrall to be Commissioners of the Comillah Municipality in the district of Tipperah, vice Babu Govinda Chandra Chatterjea and Moulvie Bazlar Rohman, transferred.

H. J. S. COTTON,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

NOTIFICATION.

The 27th September 1890.—It is hereby notified for general information that the Lieutenant-Governor intends, in the exercise of the power vested in him by section 86 of Act III (B.C.) of 1884, and in accordance with the recommendation of the Commissioners of the Hajeepore Municipality, in the district of Mozufferpore, made at a meeting, to sanction the levy by the Commissioners of a fee on the registration, under section 142, of all carts which are kept or habitually used within the Municipality, at rates not exceeding those mentioned in section 143 of the Act, unless good reasons are shown to the contrary within one month from the date of publication of this notification within the Municipality.

H. J. S. COTTON,
Secretary to the Govt of Bengal.

NOTIFICATION.

The 29th September 1890.—It is hereby notified that the Commissioners of the Hajeepore Municipality, in the district of Mozufferpore, having at a meeting requested the Local Government to appoint a Chairman, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to appoint, under sections 23 and 27 of Act III (B.C.) of 1884, Mr. N. D. Beatson-Bell, Sub-divisional Officer, to be the Chairman of that Municipality, vice Mr. W. H. Vincent.

H. J. S. COTTON,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

NOTIFICATION.

The 29th September 1890.—Whereas a notification, dated the 8th July 1890, was published at page 203, Part IB of the Calcutta Gazette of the 16th idem, declaring the intention of the Lieutenant-Governor to extend the provisions of sections 251, 252, 253, 258, 264, 269, 275 and 276 of Act III (B.C.) of 1884, to the Serampore Municipality, in the district of Hooghly, and whereas no valid objection has been raised to the extension of these sections, except section 264, within one month from the date of the publication of the above notification within the Municipality, it is hereby notified for general information that, in the exercise of the power vested in the Local Government by section 221 of the Act, and in accordance with the recommendation of the Commissioners of the Serampore Municipality, made at a meeting, the Lieutenant-Governor sanctions the extension of sections 251, 252, 253, 258, 269, 275 and 276 of the Municipal Act to the said Municipality.

H. J. S. COTTON,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

NOTIFICATION.

The 29th September 1890.—In accordance with the provisos in sections 252 and 276 of Act III (B.C.) of 1884, it is hereby notified for general information that the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to direct that the provisions contained in the second clause of section 252 and in section 276 of the said Act shall come into operation within the limits of the Serampore Municipality, in the district of Hooghly, after the expiration of a period of six months from the date of the publication of this notification in the Calcutta Gazette.

H. J. S. COTTON,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT, BENGAL.

DISTRICT ROAD FUND.

NOTIFICATION No. 341.

Dated the 25th September 1890.

THE subjoined annual accounts and report of the District Road Committee of the district of the Sonthal Pergunnahs for the year 1889-90, together with the remarks thereon of the Commissioner of the Bhagulpore Division, are published for general information.

W. B. BESTIC,
Under-Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal, P. W. Dept.

No. 71P.W., dated Doomka, the 5th July 1890.

From—W. R. BRIGHT, ESQ., Offg. Deputy Commissioner, Sonthal Pergunnahs,

To—The Commissioner of the Bhagulpore Division and Sonthal Pergunnahs.

I HAVE the honour to submit my report on road works in this district for the year ending 31st March last.

2. The district is a non-cess one. Its income is solely derived from an annual grant made by Government. There is no District Board here. The Deputy Commissioner exercises the power of a Chairman.

3. The only original work done during the year was a masonry bridge over the Baisa nulla, 60th mile, Bhagulpore and Soory road. We propose to construct during the current year a bund across the Nimhochee nulla, 19th mile, Dumka Rampur Hât road.

4. Repairs.—All roads in the printed schedule underwent repairs during the year.

5. Relief Works.—Rs. 6,900 were given by Government for this purpose for mitigating distress in the Godda and Jamtara sub-divisions, Rs. 3,000 of which were spent by the Sub-divisional Officer, Godda, in improving the Godda-Dhuria road, Rs. 1,500 by the Sub-divisional Officer, Jamtara, in bund works, and the balance Rs. 2,400 in purchasing tools and plant. A great number of work-people found relief when famine raged in the above sub-divisions.

6. We have about 700 miles of roads in our charge. About 200 of them are metalled and the rest unmetalled. The average cost of maintaining a mile of metalled road is about Rs. 60 a mile, and that of an unmetalled one is Rs. 12 to Rs. 15 a mile.

7. All the buildings in our charge have undergone repairs during the year, except the one at Rajmehal in charge of the Sub-divisional Officer.

8. Village Roads.—There are three of them in the district. A list showing allotments made to, and expenditure incurred on, them in the year is given below :—

No.	Name of road	Allotment.	Expenditure
		Rs.	Rs.
13.	Deoghur village roads	200	89
22.	Benagoria ditto	200	99
28.	Village Chord, Rampore Hât road	60	31

9. Arboriculture.—Our roadside trees, numbering about 3,000, were taken care of, and are thriving well. Some of them have fruits. We have nurseries at all inspection bungalows in charge of chowkidars.

10. Establishment.—The work establishment consists of one District Engineer, one Overseer, and one Sub-Overseer, and the office consists of one Accountant and one Clerk : the former worked well, and the latter gave me satisfaction.

W. R. BRIGHT,
Offg. Deputy Commr., Sonthal Pergunnahs.

No. 86L.W., dated Bhagulpore, the 21st July 1890.

From—C. C. QUINN, Esq., Offg. Commissioner of the Bhagulpore Division and Sonthal Pergunnahs,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department.

I HAVE the honour to submit the annual accounts and reports of the District Road Fund of the Sonthal Pergunnahs district for the year ending the 31st March 1890.

2. The Sonthal Pergunnahs is a non-cess district, and the Government annually sanctions a grant-in-aid of Rs 34,000 for public works.

3. The following table shows the mileage of metalled and unmetalled roads, with cost of their maintenance, as well as cost per mile of roads of both classes worked out from actual expenditure incurred in maintaining them during the year under review :—

DISTRICT	METALLED ROADS			UNMETALLED ROADS
	Mile	Expenditure in maintaining them.	Cost per mile.	Miles.	Expenditure in maintaining them.	Cost per mile
		Rs	Rs		Rs	Rs.
Sonthal Pergunnahs ..	183	11,437	62	556	6,987	12

The expenditure on original work amounted to Rs. 2,516 or 6 per cent. on original work, and the expenditure on repairs amounted to Rs. 26,503 or 63·5 per cent. on repairs, and the roads are reported to be in very fair order.

4. The original works executed during the year were the improvement to the Baisa nulla bridge and construction of the Katikund bungalow. The sum of Rs. 1,000 was also paid as contribution towards the erection of Economic Institute at Dumkah in commemoration of Her Majesty's Jubilee as sanctioned by Government. The cost of two last-named works were met from grant for the improvement of Government estates in that district.

5. The aggregate length of the village roads in this district amounts to 17½ miles, for which Rs. 460 were allotted for their repairs, and the sum of Rs. 219 has been reported to have been spent on them. In this district the Sub-divisional Officers chiefly look after the repairs of the village roads.

6. Arboriculture.—The number of trees planted out on the sides of roads was 730, and those maintained during the year numbered 28,000. They are all thriving, and some of the trees have already borne fruit.

7. The expenditure on account of public works, exclusive of establishment, was Rs. 32,126, and the cost of work establishment amounts to Rs. 6,971 or 21·7 per cent. of the outlay on works. The income of the district for the year under report, exclusive of balance of the previous year and suspense account, is Rs. 53,839, against an outlay on account of work establishment of Rs. 6,971, that is 12·9 per cent. work establishment, so that the outlay on work establishment is within the limit laid down in the Cess Act, which is 25 per cent. on income exclusive of balance of previous year.

LAND SALE NOTICES.

NOTICE is hereby given, under sections 6 and 13, Act XI of 1859, that the undermentioned estates, or shares of estates, in the district of Jessore, will be put up for sale at the Collector's office of that district on 8th October 1890, corresponding with 24th Asin 1297 B.S., for arrears of revenue and other demands for the kist ending 28th June 1890, which, by the Regulations and Acts in force, are directed to be realized in the same manner as arrears of revenue.

Chittagong Collectorate, the 20th August 1890. C. G. H. ALLEN, Covtd, Dy. Collr. in charge.

NOTICE is hereby given that the undermentioned plots of lands, no longer required by Government, situated along the Western or Bettiah Extension of the Tirhoot State Railway, in the district of Chumparun, will be sold as follows :—

Plots 51 to 54 inclusive at Bara on the 8th October 1890; plots 55 to 58 inclusive at Turkaulia on the 9th October 1890; plots 59 and 60 at Simra on the 10th October 1890; and plots 61 to 71 inclusive at Majhowlia on the 11th October 1890. The purchasers of the plots will be subject to the following conditions :—

1*st*.—The purchasers will have no power to make any excavation on the land nearer than fifteen feet from the Railway fencing, or plough it closer than three feet from its foundation.

2*nd*.—If the amount of purchase-money does not exceed Rs. 100 (hundred), the whole amount to be paid down at once.

3*rd*.—If the amount of purchase-money exceed Rs. 100, one-fourth of the amount bid to be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by the 15th day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or if that day be a close holiday, then by noon of the first succeeding office day, the sale to be cancelled, the sum deposited being forfeited to Government, and the land to be again put up for sale at the risk of the defaulting purchaser after issue of advertisement, as in the case of original sale.

4*th*.—The plots will be sold revenue-free to the highest bidder.

5*th*.—The purchasers shall be put in possession on receipt of the orders of the Board approving of the sales; but such possession shall be liable to be disturbed in case the final confirmation of the Board of Revenue should not be accorded to the proceedings.

The Indian Law Reports

Published under Authority.

THE Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor-General in Council appear in monthly parts, published as soon as possible after the first of each month at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, and comprise four series one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court. The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the Series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat, and the Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad respectively.

In supersession of the previous advertisements, on and from the 1st January 1889 the terms of subscription and sale will be as follows for current issues as well as for back numbers of the Reports from 1876:—

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.,
Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses, both chemical and industrial; trade statistics; markets, &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributions have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names; so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal pages; Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891; but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary; and this as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs. 30 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole sets.

* No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete, and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs. 45 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.*

RESOLUTION ON THE ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE RAJSHAHYE DIVISION FOR THE YEAR 1889-90.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—MISCELLANEOUS.

Calcutta, the 30th September, 1890.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Administration Report of the Rajshahye Division for the year 1889-90.

Tours.

The Commissioner (Mr. Lowis), all the Collectors in the Division, and the Sub-divisional Officers with a single exception, made very complete tours. Among the subjects which engaged their attention are mentioned enquiries into excise matters, chowkidari work, the condition of roads and villages, the state of crops, public health and feeling, the disposal of bad livelihood cases, inspections of police-stations, dispensaries, sub-divisional offices, subsidiary jails, schools, offices of Managers under the Court of Wards, and the collections of ferry and pound rents.

Circumstances affecting the material condition of the people.

2. The rainfall was generally sufficient, and the outturn of the different crops not much below the average. Prices were nevertheless high, owing to a deficiency in the harvest of the previous year. Public health was better than in 1888, and the agriculturists, who comprise the bulk of the population, are said to have been comparatively well off. On the other hand, the high prices of food affected injuriously those who live on fixed incomes, among whom are specially mentioned those engaged on clerical work in its different forms. There was a tendency to a rise in wages: the rates increased in regard to masons, blacksmiths and carpenters in Rajshahye and unskilled labour in Julpigoree, but against this must be set off an unexplained decline in the district of Bogra.

Manufactures and trade.

3. As observed by the Commissioner, the most important manufactures of this Division in indigo, silk, tea, cinchona, and gunny cloth are carried on by Europeans. The first of these industries, which once flourished in Rajshahye and Pubna, has greatly declined in recent years. The outturn of silk in the Rajshahye district has increased while the business has almost been abandoned in Bogra. The yield of tea was 23,471,100lbs. against 20,649,957lbs. in the previous year. The Commissioner remarks that a great impetus to the trade of the Rajshahye district has been given by the introduction of the daily steamer service between Rampore Beauleah and Damukdea, and the bi-weekly service between Maldah and Beauleah. The trade with Bhootan increased during the year, the imports being valued at Rs. 1,53,690 against Rs. 1,08,070 in 1888 ; the exports Rs. 1,39,833 against Rs. 1,20,927. The imports from Thibet are not precisely stated, but the export trade was as follows:—

Cotton piece-goods (European) ...	Rs.	12,281	18,486
Rice	Mds.	150	...
Copper	„	103	31
Iron	„	122	95
Tobacco	„	700	254
Wool	Rs.	650	4,821

Crime and police.

4. The Commissioner's report does not indicate the character of the year in regard to crime, or convey any expression of his opinion as to the general conduct of the police. It would, however, appear from a comparison of the figures submitted with these returns last year that there was a diminution in the total number of cognizable and non-cognizable offences. Progress was made in the work of raising the pay of chowkidars and assuring its more regular discharge. The Commissioner expresses himself as preferring benches of Honorary Magistrates sitting alone to those over which a Stipendiary Magistrate presides, on the ground that the members take more interest in their work when allowed to act independently, and that relief is thus afforded to the officers of Government. He has, moreover, to some extent given effect to the policy he recommends. These considerations are of weight where Honorary Magistrates are found qualified by knowledge of the law to act alone; but care should be taken to avoid the establishment of benches which cannot be expected to dispose satisfactorily of the criminal work allotted to them. The subject has been under the consideration of the Lieutenant-Governor during the past year, and the Commissioner should embody any proposals he may desire to make in the form of an amendment to the rules for the appointment and guidance of Honorary Magistrates that have been recently promulgated.

Affairs connected with land.

5. Mr. Lowis considers that the conduct of the zemindars in his Division was satisfactory on the whole, and mentions several who have been distinguished for exceptionally good management. On the other hand, certain land-owners in the Pubna district are indicated as well-known disturbers of the public peace, with results which have sometimes proved ruinous to themselves. The number of rent suits in Rungpore has increased from 6,481 to 8,086, and the explanation offered, that the agricultural classes are becoming more able and willing to assert their rights under the Bengal Tenancy Act, is not very satisfactory, as this cause, if the true one, must have operated also in Pubna and Bogra districts, where there has been a falling off under this head. Mr. Lowis considers that the Act worked successfully during the year. Its special provisions were but little used. Of the land revenue 98 per cent. was collected, a result somewhat better than that obtained during the previous year.

Education.

6. There was a nominal decrease of one school during the year, and an increase in the number of pupils from 92,090 to 94,578. In the Rajshahye Division the work of educating the masses makes very slow progress. There was an actual falling off in the attendance at lower primary schools, a decrease which was most marked in the case of Rungpore, in which there were 12,589 such pupils in 1889-90 against 15,517 in 1888-89, and no explanation is offered of the decline.

7. The thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are given to Mr. Lowis for his administration of the Division during the year. Mr. Marindin, Mr. Paul, C.I.E., and Major Boileau are specially mentioned among Collectors for the excellence of their work, and among subordinate officers Mr. Pargiter, Mr. Bedford, Baboo Gunga Narain Roy, and Baboo Sita Kunta Mukerjée.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE GENERAL ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE ORISSA DIVISION FOR THE YEAR 1889-90.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—MISCELLANEOUS.

Calcutta, the 30th September, 1890.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The General Administration Report of the Orissa Division for the year 1889-90.

Mr. Worsley has submitted a very full and careful report of the administrative history of the year, which in his Division was the reverse of prosperous. The price of food was high, owing to the shortness of the harvest in 1888-89, and the effect of this on the condition of the working class was not counteracted, as it was in some other parts of the country, by unusually steady demand for labour, or by any general rise in wages. The crop was not very bad, the rice yielding 13 annas, pulses 9 annas, wheat 6 annas; but on the other hand it was not good enough to compensate for the deficiency in the two preceding seasons by replenishing the exhausted stocks. The year was also most unhealthy, a result attributable, at least in part, to conditions which are described as follows by the Collector of Balasore:—

General condition of the people.

"The causes are not, I think, far to seek, though they take us back to the autumn of 1888. The October rainfall of that year was an almost total failure throughout the district, and, except in the extreme south, there was practically no rain in November. In their eagerness to save the winter rice, the ryots used for irrigation purposes every available drop of water, with the result that by February there was little left for drinking purposes. In January, February and March, 1889, there was scarcely any rainfall. May, June and July were also much below the average, as was also September. It was no wonder therefore that cholera took root in every part of the district, especially in Basudebpur and Chandbally thanas, which are impregnated with salt, and where drinking-water is always scarce. It should perhaps be noted that these are two of the three thanas that suffered from flood in August and September, 1888. . . . . It is certainly worth remarking that Jellasore suffered less than any other thana. Here the people possess an abundant supply of good water in the Subarnarekha river."

In Pooree the cholera prevailing generally over the whole Division was aggravated by a special cause, the concourse of pilgrims to the temple of Juggurnath. Fever also was very common, and the registered mortality of the year amounted to 131,784 against 76,103 in 1888-89.

2. The question of salt manufacture is being separately considered by Government. The other articles of manufacture mentioned in the report, such as the silver work of Cuttack, the muslins of Goolnagur, and the stone carving of Alsi, are of very minor importance, but they indicate a bent in the Uriya character which, under favourable circumstances, may hereafter lead to important economic results. At present the population is almost entirely agricultural. The sea-borne traffic of Orissa during the year was valued at Rs. 1,21,38,631, made up of Rs. 59,84,345 exports and Rs. 61,54,286 imports. It is somewhat greater than in the preceding year, when the total value was Rs. 1,13,28,886, but considerably below the average of the three years 1885-86 to 1887-88, which was Rs. 1,57,72,237. The decline is partly accounted for by the opening of the Coast Canal, which carried during the year goods valued at Rs. 5,74,531, but is mainly attributable to the bad crop of 1888-89.

Manufacture and commerce.

3. Under the heading of Police the Commissioner quotes observations on the efficacy of the system of providing for the village watch by grants of rent-free land, a subject which will have to be considered with care now that the province has come under resettlement. When properly worked, it is a very cheap system, but it cannot secure any high degree of efficiency. Chapter XIII dealing with this subject will be specially submitted to the consideration of the Committee recently appointed under the presidency of Mr. Beames. The number of criminal cases increased from 11,731 in 1888 to 13,044 in 1889, and in regard to crimes against property this is attributed to the prevalence of high prices. There was no appreciable fluctuation in the amount of civil litigation.

Land and land revenue.

4. The revenue collections were not satisfactory, and the Commissioner refers to the standard of 90 per cent. on current demand in a way which may mislead his subordinates as to the expectations of Government. The collections of a whole district are not to be pronounced good because they exceed 90 per cent., although a very special explanation is needed whenever collections fall in any place below that minimum. In Pooree the collections, which amounted to 78·5 per cent. only on the current demand, were very bad, and it is not to be considered as a set-off that they were worse in the preceding year. The collections of the canal rates were most deficient, and the general result is very disappointing. The attention of the Board will be drawn to this point. There were several settlements in progress during the year, important in themselves, and also as preparatory to the general settlement of Orissa, which will be commenced next year. It is satisfactory to observe that only three sales ultimately upheld took place during the year for the realization of Government revenue.

Education.

5. The Lieutenant-Governor observes with regret that there has been a marked decline both in the number of schools and scholars, the former having, as reported, fallen from 8,421 to 8,073, the latter from 125,786 to 115,788, the decrease being principally under the head of primary education. It is attributed, no doubt with truth, to the influence of high prices and to the sickly character of the year; but if a strong movement had been established in the direction of mass education, the effect of such conditions would be merely to retard the rate of progess, not to cause actual retrogression. The special schools of Cuttack, Normal, Medical, and Surveying, are mentioned as doing much practical good.

Conduct of zemindars.

6. The Commissioner observes that—

"Rajah Baikuntha Nath De Bahadur of Balasore and Rajah Badyanath Pundit of Cuttack hold the foremost place among the zemindars of Orissa for liberality and public spirit. Both these gentlemen are good landlords and of enlightened views. Rajah Baikuntha Nath De takes a very active part in the administration of local affairs, and renders much assistance to the district officer in his capacity of an Honorary Magistrate.

"The Rajah of Parikud is conspicuous among the zemindars of the Pooree district, and possesses much influence and authority. He is alive to the advantages of making improvements on his estate.

"Among other zemindars, Babus Koilash Chandra Roy Mohashoy of Dehurda and Gobind Bullabh Roy Mohashoy of Cowpore are favourably noticed by the Collector of Balasore as just landlords and men of public spirit."

7. The thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are given to Mr. Worsley for the efforts made by him to secure the efficient management of his Division during the year. The three Collectors, Mr. Tute, Mr. Allen, and Mr. Cornish, are noticed by him as having administered their districts satisfactorily, and among Deputy Collectors special note is made of Babu Rash Behari Naik.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

P. NOLAN,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUSION ON THE ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE DEPARTMENT OF LAND RECORDS AND AGRICULTURE, BENGAL, FOR THE YEAR 1889-90.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—AGRICULTURE.

Calcutta, the 23rd September, 1890.

READ—

Letter No. 630A, dated the 13th August, 1890, from the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, submitting with their remarks the annual report of the Director of the Department of Land Records and Agriculture, Bengal, for the official year 1889-90.

THE Director was chiefly employed during the year on important settlement work, and, in so far as it relates to this Department, and to the supervision he has exercised over improvements on Government and Wards' estates, his valuable report will be reviewed with those submitted by the Board of Revenue as to Land Revenue Administration and the management of estates under the Court of Wards. He, however, found time to prosecute with effect the agricultural enquiries which form the second part of his duties, completing, with the aid of Mr. B. C. Basu and Mr. N. N. Banerjee, the analysis, as it has been called, of the districts of Dacca and Lohardugga, and making interesting investigations as to forest and fuel reserves, tree-planting and other subjects of a kindred nature.

Eradication of pebrine and silk experiments.

The work originally undertaken by Government at Berhampore for the eradication of pebrine among silk-worms, by the supply of untainted seed, was carried on during the year under the supervision of a committee of merchants interested in the trade, with Sir Alexander Wilson as President. There appears to be no doubt that the action taken has been judicious, and may ultimately result in reducing very largely the loss suffered from the disease; but last year the success obtained was not as great as had been expected. Of 7,295 maunds of seed raised, only 1,358 maunds were sold—a result which indicates no particular eagerness on the part of the villagers to obtain the improved production. Some experiments undertaken in Midnapore on a small scale were more successful. The sum of Rs. 5,000 a year is contributed by Government towards these experiments, and the services of Mr. Mookerjee, Probationery Deputy Collector, who has studied the subject in Europe, have been lent for the purpose. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes that the work will be continued steadily for a series of years, as from its nature no great improvement can be expected to result at once, while perseverence will probably result in success, such as has been obtained by similar methods in other countries.

Experimental farms.

A series of experiments were tried at the Dumraon, Burdwan, and Seebpore farms during the year. In regard to the fodder grasses tried at Burdwan, the Director observes:—

"From the statement given below it will be seen that bone-meal, applied at the rate of one maund per bigha, gave excellent results with sorghum, raising the outturn to more than twice that of an unmanured plot:—

Manure applied per bigha.	Outturn per bigha.
	Mds.	s.
Bone-meal, per maund	280	36
Unmanured	118	0

This experiment further showed that sorghum succeeds as a rainy weather crop where it had been found to fail as a cold weather crop In the absence of any demand for the grass, the whole of the produce was given to the bullocks of the farm, which did well on it, and used it with the greatest avidity."

At Seebpore—

"Experiments made with this crop last year confirmed the opinion expressed in the annual report of the previous year that sorghum can be profitably grown as a fodder crop in Bengal. The produce was sold at 2 annas 6 pies per maund to a Calcutta dairy, the manager of which, Mr. G. C. Bose, a Cirencester scholar, reported very favourably on it. The yield of milk of a number of cows was increased from 20 to 25 seers by the substitution of sorghum for straw; while the cost of feeding was at the same time reduced. Mr. Bose has been so far encouraged by the results that he proposes to grow sorghum as a fodder for his milch cows. The cultivation of sorghum realized a net profit of Rs. 12-12-3 per bigha."

Agricultural implements.

The Seebpore plough has met with some recognition, though not very generally successful. Mr. J. W. Crowdy, of Durbhunga, writes:—

"I find the Seebpore ploughs very useful, especially in light soils. I have now over 40 in use, and the great advantage I find is that they are so light that any bullock who can draw a common plough can work them with the greatest ease, so I have not to keep a large complement of bullocks, as I should have to do if they were heavy and unwieldy."

The Director adds as to other agricultural implements:—

"Sugar turbine.—The centrifugal sugar drier, also called the turbine, was exhibited at the Khulna Exhibition, and an experiment made there in manufacture of dolo sugar by this machine proved successful. The turbine is coming into use for making dolo or kutcha sugar out of cane rab in the district of Shahabad, and it is not improbable that it may be introduced for the same purpose in Central Bengal, where the manufacture of sugar from date-palm juice is an important industry.

"Butter-making machines.—An interesting series of experiments was made during the year by Mr. Howman, who had been deputed to India by the Dairy Supply Company of London to show the working of the centrifugal cream separator and other dairy machines, with the ultimate view of creating a market for them in India. The experiments were made at the Metcalfe Hall in Calcutta, at the Khulna Exhibition, and at Bankipore. A comparative trial between the English method of butter-making by these machines and the native process resulted in favour of the former; but the trials of the dairy machines were far from being conclusive, and leave it an open question which system, native or European, gives the larger yield of butter. Since Mr. Howman left, Messrs. Basu and Banerjee have made a comparative trial between the European dairy machines and the native churn, and have found that, not only in respect of quantity, but also of quality, the former are preferable. Attempts will be made to bring the dairy machines to notice at mêlas and elsewhere."

The cost of these experiments is about six thousand rupees a year.

Use of bones as manure.

With regard to the facts stated on the subject by the Director, the Lieutenant-Governor observes that it is better to export bone-dust, obtaining for it Rs. 2 or Rs. 2-8 a maund, than to leave the bones on some deserted spot, where they do no good even if they do not constitute a nuisance. But what is really desirable is that the ryots should learn to prepare and use this valuable manure for suitable soils. If its use yields a profit to farms in Europe after paying all the cost of carriage, and also to indigo and tea-planters in the country, the dust must also in some cases at least be worth its cost to the ryots. Sir Steuart Bayley observes with satisfaction the progress made in the direction of utilizing a product now generally allowed to waste, as indicated in the following passage:—

"A beginning has already been made by ryots in the use of bone-meal as manure in the districts of Burdwan and Hooghly. Arrangements have been made at Belcooly, Pearapole, and Khanian in the Hooghly district, and also in the Burdwan and Dumraon farms, and at Iheria in Manbhoom, to have bones collected and to have them fermented and ground into meal, and then to distribute the bone-meal at cost price to the ryots of the neighbourhood. In this way it may be possible to offer bone-meal at prices not exceeding Re. 1 per maund. At the suggestion of Mr. Donald Sunder, Settlement Officer of the Western Dooars, and with the permission of Dr. Lethbridge, Inspector-General of Jails, it has been arranged to utilize the labour of Mahomedans, low-caste Hindus, and aboriginal prisoners at the Julpaiguri and Purulia Jails for the grinding of bones. The bone-meal prepared in the jail will be available for sale at cost price to parties applying for it. Mr. Sunder believes that he will be able to induce the jotedars of Western Dooars to use it largely. He has already purchased 50 maunds of bone-meal from Messrs. Croft, Wells & Co., of Bally, and distributed it among the jotedars of the Western Dooars."

The thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are given to Mr. Finucane for his efficient management of the Department during the year. Mr. Sen also rendered satisfactory service.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

P. NOLAN,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE PROGRESS REPORT OF THE FOREST ADMINISTRATION IN BENGAL FOR 1889-90.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—FORESTS.

Calcutta, the 23rd September, 1890.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Progress Report of the Forest Administration in Bengal for 1889-90.

MR. HOME has submitted a very full and complete report of the working of the Department during the year, for the greater part of which he was himself in charge of the office of Conservator of Forests. Mr. Davis officiated for the three months while the Conservator was on leave of absence.

Area.

2. The area of the Reserved forests is now reported to be 5,195 square miles, of Protected forests 2,239 square miles, of Unclassed State forests and Waste lands 4,034 square miles—in all 11,468 square miles, being 5½ per cent. of the total area of province (193,198 square miles). The forests are confined to the districts bordering on the sea, the sub-Himalayan tracts, and the plateau of Central India, so far as it stretches into Chota Nagpore and Orissa. The rich districts of the interior of Bengal are, most unfortunately, altogether without public forests, and are consequently supplied in a very deficient degree with fuel. An area of 207 square miles was added to the Reserves during the year, and an area of 25 square miles of Protected forests in the Sunderbuns was farmed out for reclamation. Much work is being done in completing the title of Government to existing Reserves by going through the legal formalities prescribed by the Act as a necessary preliminary to the constitution of a forest—formalities which were often overlooked in the first instance. The enquiries incidental to these proceedings will also secure the record and protection of private easements, and in some instances may lead to a more judicious alignment of forest boundaries, which should always be fixed with reference, among other considerations, to the convenience of the neighbouring cultivators. The Lieutenant-Governor notices with satisfaction that the average cost per mile of deliminating boundaries has been reduced from Rs. 16 to Rs. 7-3.

Legal proceedings.

3. During this year there have not been so many criminal charges against officers of the Department, and in only one case brought to trial has the prosecution proved abortive. Three forest guards on the Kassalong Range in Chittagong were murdered by a gang of Chakmas, who made away with over Rs. 2,000. All the gang, except the ringleader, have been captured, and it is hoped that he also will soon be in the hands of justice. Owing to the large number of cases compounded, only 120 prosecutions were instituted as against 254 in 1888-89, while the percentage of convictions remains practically the same, viz., 79·6 per cent. Considering the remarks recorded on the subject last year by the Government of India, an explanation should have been given of the small proportion of successful proceedings. The number of cases compounded has increased from 1,450 to 2,524. These came chiefly from the Darjeeling and Sunderbuns Divisions, where the delay and other inconveniences which attend an appeal to the courts have led Forest officers to prefer compounding.

Fires.

4. The result of the special measures taken to protect a portion of the forests against fire were successful—95 per cent. of the areas thus dealt with having escaped, in spite of the dryness of the season, against 72·9 per cent. in the previous year. On the other hand, there was a failure in the area not specially protected, but on which some attempt was made at preservation. In illustration of the advantages of protection reference may be made to Mr. Home's statement in regard to Buxa, that the savannahs are in many places fast clothing themselves with tree growths, thanks to consecutive years of exemption from fires. Similar improvement is observed in the savannahs of the Raidak sál tract, but it is not so marked in those of the Bholka forest. The area of regular plantations was extended by 116 acres, and that of cultural operations by 18 acres. The cost, including maintenance of former areas, is Rs. 6,604, as compared with Rs. 6,837 last year.

Outturn.

5. The outturn of wood, including timber and fuel, during the year was 29,973,004 cubic feet against 27,793,504 cubic feet in the previous year. The demand for charcoal at Darjeeling almost trebled during the year and there was a large increase in the demand for timber from the Sunderbuns Division. A notable change was introduced in the Darjeeling Division, where, in spite of the extra work entailed, all growing trees are now marked for felling by gazetted officers. The Lieutenant-Governor is not, however, disposed to think that, apart from some very special local reasons, such a change is desirable. Financial considerations alone would prevent the employment of a gazetted officer for the selection of each tree to be cut; the object of members of the controlling staff should be not to do everything themselves, but to train their subordinates to take an intelligent share in the work.

Financial results.

6. The accounts appended to the report, dealing as they do with the smaller areas only, fail to give a clear idea of the profit and loss in each Division, for which purpose the following table may be found of use:—

Financial results in Forest Divisions for the years 1888-89 and 1889-90 as shown in Form No. 58.

It will be seen that there is a large and increasing surplus, so that the general result is satisfactory. The profit is very great in the Sunderbuns Division, from which Calcutta is supplied with fuel, as are also the important sugar and other works scattered through Khulna and Jessore. The Lieutenant-Governor has always encouraged the Department to strengthen establishments as much as possible in this Division, and to make free use of steam-launches for inspection, it being generally believed that the revenue here is capable of much greater expansion. It is also desirable to free more officers for making working plans, a duty too generally neglected, and this can only be accomplished by reducing establishments where they do not pay, namely, in Chota Nagpore and Orissa. In the latter province work will probably be considerably reduced when the forest boundaries have been re-aligned by the exclusion of village grazing and fuel grounds, a measure to which the Lieutenant-Governor attaches great importance in the interests of the cultivators.

Mr. Home has devoted great care and attention during the year to the administration of the Department.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

P. NOLAN,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE POLICE DEPARTMENT FOR THE YEAR 1889.

RESOLUTION.

POLICE.

Calcutta, the 23rd September 1890.

READ—

The Report on the Administration of the Police Department for the year 1889.

Read also—

The Reports for the years 1887 and 1888, and the orders of Government recorded thereon.

GENERAL.

1. Mr. Veasey's bulky report, which has, as usual, been punctually submitted, is overburthened with more or less unsatisfactory explanations of variations in crime received from the District Superintendents or Magistrates, with the Inspector-General's comments thereon, much of which might well be omitted from future reports, while, on the other hand, the progress made in dealing with each class of crime, and the reasons which lead to failure or success, might with advantage be generalised The work of the police in each district might also be summarised, the sufficiency or insufficiency of organisation and supervision illustrated and commented on, and the report in this way made more interesting to the general public and at the same time more useful both to Government and the District Officers. At present it is long and it is dry, and neither of these qualities enhance its practical value.

2. Excluding Railway Police, the sanctioned force in 1889 was 73 superior officers, 3,418 subordinate officers and 19,365 constables, but at the close of the year the subordinate officers were 74 and the constables 348 under the sanctioned strength. The total expenditure for the year was Rs. 40,81,342, while the expenditure on that portion of the force that was employed on purely police duties was Rs. 26,23,294, or 7·6 pies per head of the population. These figures, as also those of the proportion of police to area, nearly approximate to the figures of previous years.

3. The Town Police have worked with but varying success. In Howrah, Dinajpur, and the Presidency Division generally they are reported to have done well, while in Dacca, Mymensingh, Bhagalpur, and at the head-quarters of four of the important districts of the Patna Division they have failed in many respects. In Patna itself the procedure in cases instituted for breach of municipal bye-laws would appear to be faulty in the extreme, and in Faridpur it is said that the great extension of the boundaries of the municipality has rendered its proper watch and ward an impossibility. The Magistrate of this last district will be asked for a special report on this point. It has for some time been clearly necessary to take measures to lighten the duties and increase the popularity of Municipal Police. A redistribution of batta allowances, which are now given to all fourth grade constables on town duty, and the successful introduction of a new system of working this force (described in paragraph 9 of the Resolution on the Police Report for 1888) in Midnapur and Hughli, have effected some improvement. The further extension of this scheme has now been sanctioned. Street lighting has made but little progress, and until local municipalities are persuaded of the importance of improving the present condition of affairs in this respect, the Town Police must always work at a disadvantage. The paragraph in the Inspector-General's report which deals with this subject will be communicated to the Municipal Department of this Office for such action as may be deemed necessary.

4. In dealing with rural police the Inspector-General has made up his narrative mainly by jottings from the pages of local reports with his own remarks on them. Had Mr. Veasey given his views on the working of Act VI of 1870 generally, illustrating his opinions by reference to the cases described, and so worked up his paragraphs into a consistent account of the working of the chowkidari system, the result would have been more interesting. Many of the facts recorded are clearly of importance and worthy of comment; but they are introduced without sequence, and it is difficult to ascertain their true bearing on the problem that Government has to solve. It would be useless to recapitulate all the cases that illustrate the well-known failure of the District Police in Bengal. In Kulpi, in the 24-Pergunnahs, two of the ringleaders in a dacoity case were chowkidars, while the punchayet was the receiver; in Murshidabad the chakeran men are described as a community of subsidised ruffians mostly belonging to the criminal classes and constituting a positive source of danger to the public; while abuses in the matter of distribution of pay and arrears of collection continue as numerous as ever. There are a few exceptions to this very general failure, but the reports have long since shown that further reform is needed. Colonel Ramsay, District Superintendent of Police of Monghyr, was placed on special duty at the end of the year in order to investigate certain points connected with the chowkidari system. His labours have now merged in those of the Committee which has been appointed to consider the general question of police reform. It will be, perhaps, the most important portion of the Committee's duty to attempt to devise means of welding together more completely than has hitherto been done the rural and the regular police. In the tea districts it will probably be necessary to introduce some system by which Government may be kept informed of what goes on in the gardens. Mr. Veasey sums up the present conditions in the following unfavourable terms:—

"The position of the chakeran men remains as it was, whilst that of the others has much improved wherever attention has been given to the subject, and in Chota Nagpur at all events, under the special Act, the chowkidar has at present certainly nothing to complain of. In any further legislation which may be attempted the powers of the punchayet should be restricted to assessment and collection, and the chowkidar must be brought under police control in a way that will bring home to him the fact that he is our subordinate with nothing to expect or fear from the village community. But the material is for the most part bad and rotten, and by placing things on a sounder footing we are not removing its inherent vices."

5. One hundred and twenty special constables were appointed during the year in the districts of Howrah, Pubna, Faridpur, Patna, and Monghyr. Out of these, 10 were employed in the Behar sub-division of the Patna district for an unspecified period. This was, however, contrary to the provisions of section 17 of Act V of 1861, under which the period for which the men were appointed should have been specified. The attention of the District Magistrate will be called to this irregularity. It is worthy of notice that in Jessore, Dacca, Mymensingh, and Tipperah not a single special constable was appointed during the year, though this measure used to be freely resorted to in those districts in previous years. The three parties of punitive police in the district of Backerganj continue to be retained.

6. Four head constables and five constables were judicially convicted and sentenced to various terms of imprisonment for ill-treating accused and suspected persons; and one sub-inspector and three constables in Jessore were dismissed for the same reason, although the judicial prosecution against them broke down for want of corroborative evidence. On this subject Mr. Veasey remarks—

"This exhausts the list of cases of this nature ordered to be shown as true, and it cannot, I think, be said that it is either long or serious. It is certainly outnumbered by the list of false charges, for accusations of this nature are much in favour amongst the criminal classes and their advisers; but although the police attach far too much weight to confessions, the old stock theory that most confessions are extorted by violence might very well be put on one side, though it is too much to hope that this will happen."

7. The percentage of officers punished departmentally shows a slight falling off, but is still very high. It is noteworthy that out of a total of 928 sub-inspectors, so many as 487, or over 52 per cent., should have been thus punished during the year. The Lieutenant-Governor agrees with Mr. Veasey in considering that minor breaches of discipline should, as far as possible, be dealt with departmentally, and that a resort to law in such cases should always be discouraged. But he also thinks that District Superintendents should not lightly, or hastily, fine their officers, who are, even at the best, far from being well paid; and generally, in inflicting punishments on their higher subordinates, they should not lose sight of the necessity of preserving their dignity in the eyes of the lower ranks. Sir Steuart Bayley is inclined to fear that sometimes injudicious severity does mischief and deters persons of respectability from offering themselves as recruits.

8. Money rewards were given to 1,600 officers and men and 34 more were specially promoted. The Lieutenant-Governor has seen with approval the names of the Inspectors, Sub-Inspectors, and Head-constables selected for particular mention; it is satisfactory that officers of this last much abused grade have been found deserving of this distinction.

9. Deaths from suicide increased from 2,448 to 2,917. In Cuttack (250), Jessore (204), Nadiya (185), Gya (170), 24-Pergunnahs (166), Dacca (162), Rajshahye (123), Sarun (111) and Puri (102), the number of suicides exceeded 100. It is remarkable that all these districts have headed the list for the last six years. In Gya and Dacca there were 13 and 6 cases, respectively, of suicide by children. The number of suicides by young women and girls might, as suggested by Mr. Veasey, be separately shown in future. The number of accidental deaths rose from 28,053 to 31,823. It is said that 20 cases reported as accidental death proved on enquiry to have been murders or culpable homicides. It should have been noted whether prosecutions were instituted in any of those cases for giving false information, and if so, how far they ended in conviction.

10. The following statement shows the proportion of cognizable crime to population and police in various provinces of India :—

Province.	Police.	Population.	Crime (cognizable).	Proportion of police to population.		Proportion of police to crime (cognizable).		Proportion of crime (cognizable) to population.
				Policeman.	Persons.	Policeman.	Cases.	Cases.	Persons.
North-Western Provinces and Oudh ...	32,652	43,323,539	102,123	1	to 1,326	1	to 3·1	1	to 225
Punjab	20,095	18,842,264	87,721	1	to 937	1	to 4·3	1	to 214
Central Provinces	8,653	9,838,731	25,305	1	to 1,137	1	to 2·9	1	to 385
Bombay, including Sind	19,049	15,674,613	41,178	1	to 823	1	to 2·1	1	to 380
Madras	21,648	30,808,504	128,478	1	to 1,425	1	to 5·9	1	to 240
Assam, including Frontier Police	4,007	6,961,298	10,934	1	to 1,816	1	to 2·3	1	to 554
Bengal	23,306	65,964,160	111,476	1	to 2,830	1	to 4·7	1	to 591

In paragraph 14 of the Resolution on the Report for 1888, the difficulty of drawing any satisfactory conclusion from such statistics as are given in the above table was commented on, and it was said that it would be more interesting to compare the police of Bengal with that of other provinces in the matter of success in dealing with crime. In accordance with this suggestion, Mr. Veasey gives the results obtained by applying the tests of police work to the crime of the different provinces, and the following table has been compiled from these results :—

	North-Western Provinces and Oudh.	Punjab.	Central Provinces.	Bombay (including Sind).	Madras.	Assam (including Frontier Police).	Bengal.
Test A3—Percentage of police cases ending in conviction to cases investigated ...	35·4	33·8	51·6	32·4	27·2	30·5	32·8
Test A4—Percentage of police cases ending in conviction to cases decided	69·4	63·8	74·6	58·8	68·9	62·5	59·2
Test B2—Percentage of persons convicted in police cases to persons arrested by police	62·6	57·2	66·6	43·2	42·9	55·8	43·7

The Lieutenant-Governor concurs with Mr. Veasey in his opinion that Bengal does not "appear to advantage as regards judicial results, and the figures given under test A4 must represent a large number of failures of justice. The high standard of proof demanded, the latitude allowed to the advocates of accused persons, and the dilatory procedure so much in vogue, are all obstacles well known and to be reckoned with in these provinces, whilst elsewhere they may be factors of less importance, but they would not exercise the influence they do if investigating officers were more careful and if supervision were more efficient." At the same time, (if the Central Provinces, which are in a great proportion inhabited by comparatively simple races, be excluded) the variations between provinces are not so great as might reasonably have been expected.

11. The following figures show the amount of cognizable and non-cognizable crime reported in the province as compared with that of the two previous years:—

	1887.	1888.	1889.	Increase as compared with 1888.	Increase as compared with 1887.
Cognizable ...	101,969	110,357	119,656	9,299	17,687
Non-cognizable ...	109,254	112,006	117,407	5,401	8,153
Total ...	211,223	222,363	237,063	14,700	25,840

During the year under review there was an increase of cognizable crime in all the Divisions of Bengal except Rajshahye, the increase being most marked in the Burdwan and Patna Divisions. In non-cognizable crime there was also a general increase, the only exception being Patna, which shows a small decrease of 127.

As in the previous year, the increase in cognizable crime was mainly under "Cases against property" and "Other cases," the number of which rose from 68,951 and 30,275 in 1888 to 74,431 and 34,072 respectively in 1889. This is said to have been chiefly due to the high prices of food-grains during the year. As remarked in the Resolution on the Jail Administration Report for 1889, the large increase of offences against property also affected the number of direct admissions into jail during the year, which rose to 33,542, the highest that has been recorded since 1879. The details of the increase in non-cognizable crime will be noticed in paragraph 23 below.

12. The percentage of cases declared false decreased slightly from 6·0 to 5·8. The divisional percentages vary from 7·8 in Chittagong to 3·9 in the Orissa Division. The variations are most marked in the district returns, the highest being 21·2 in the Chittagong Hill Tracts and the lowest 1·3 in the Sonthal Pergunnahs. In the Burdwan Division, the percentage varied from 8·2 in Hughli to 2·1 in Howrah. The high rate in Hughli is said to have been due to the inclusion in the returns of direct cases summarily dismissed under section 203 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, while no satisfactory explanation is given of the abnormally low percentage in Howrah. In this latter district a Sub-Deputy Magistrate was employed in making preliminary enquiries in false cases, a delegation of duty of which the Lieutenant-Governor does not approve. It is to be observed that in some cases the same districts, such as Bogra and Chumparun, in the former of which the percentage was 13·7 against 4 in 1888, and in the latter 9·3 against 17·6 in 1886, show considerable variations in the figures of different years. According to Mr. Veasey these variations are due more to "individual views and influences" than to any local conditions. It seems, however, to the Lieutenant-Governor that, though this statement is true, both in regard to the police officers who investigate and the magisterial officers who decide (and such fluctuations as those shown in Bogra and Chumparun are, doubtless, due to the personal equation of the Magistrates), it does not apparently cover the whole ground, as otherwise it would be difficult to account for the fact that the Chittagong Division generally returns the highest, and the Presidency Division the lowest percentage of false cases. It is unsatisfactory that in Puri, Balasore, and Maldah so many as 24, 31, and 39 cases, respectively, sent up in A form were declared false without any attempt to prosecute. Such wholesale entries as these are, in His Honour's opinion, manifestly unfair to the police.

13. The statistics of the prosecution of complainants for bringing false cases are unsatisfactory in every way. There is a great falling off both in the number of prosecutions instituted and in the percentage of convictions obtained in the Presidency and Chittagong Divisions, and the Lieutenant-Governor has looked in vain for signs of real improvement anywhere. Backerganj, Monghyr, and Chumparun have done best, but the 24-Pergunnahs, Hughli, Patna, Mozufferpur, and Purneah are all exceedingly bad. The whole subject has been reviewed lately by Sir Steuart Bayley in dealing with a proposal which has been made by the Government of the North-Western Provinces to extend the scope of section 250 of the Criminal Procedure Code, and His Honour is of opinion that, although much of the failure of officers in dealing with such cases is due to preventible causes, much more is due to defects in the law. The remarks of the Commissioner of Orissa quoted by Mr. Veasey, which would tend to the discouragement of prosecutions for laying false charges, do not commend themselves to the judgment of the Lieutenant-Governor, who believes that the evil is far more serious than Mr. Worsley appears to think, and that every prosecution, whether successful or not, acts as a deterrent.

14. The results of sessions trials were unsatisfactory in the extreme, the percentage of convictions for the whole province falling from 56·0 in 1887 and 51·7 in 1888 to 49·1. For the first time for many years the chances of the escape of an accused person who has been formally committed for trial by an investigating officer appear to be greater than the chances of his conviction. For this result the districts of Pubna and Bogra, appear to be very largely responsible, and the Lieutenant-Governor cannot but think that causes other than the alleged misconduct of the police must have contributed to the failures of justice that undoubtedly occurred. The percentage fell in Bogra from 51·7 in 1888 to 22·2 in 1889, and in Pubna from 48·9 to 10·0; and it is worthy of notice that the Jail Report for the past year shows that Pubna headed the list of releases on appeal with a percentage of 22·76, while Bogra was not much better with a percentage of 12·11. These two districts are included in one Sessions charge.

The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to see that the good management of the Government Pleader of Rungpur is given as the reason for the improvement in that district. In six out of eight jury districts the results were bad, notably so in Hughli and Burdwan, but in Patna there was great improvement, and in Howrah the percentage (60·4) was above the average. The subject of trial by jury is now under the special consideration of the Lieutenant-Governor, who has been asked for a report on the subject by the Government of India.

15. The following table shows the number of true cognizable cases for the last five years, as well as the percentage of convictions obtained in such cases during those years:—

	1885.	1886.	1887.	1888.	1889.	1885.	1886.	1887.	1888.	1889.

These results justify the conclusion arrived at in connection with the recent enquiries into the state of crime, that a large proportion of serious offences goes unpunished in Bengal. The reasons for this unsatisfactory conclusion, and the best method of organising reforms, are now the subjects of special enquiries.

16. CLASS I.—Offences against the State and public tranquillity.—Under this class there was a small decrease of 54, due to a falling off in cases of rioting. The cases of coining were few in number and mostly unimportant. The decrease in the number of rioting cases is found in three Divisions only, an increase being shown in the number of such cases in all the others. The great fall from 512 to 377 in the Dacca Division is most satisfactory, although even this lower number still leaves the Division at the head of the list. There were 353 cases in the Patna Division, but they were generally of a trivial nature, and the number does not appear excessive when the large area and vast population of this Division are taken into consideration. There were some serious cases in the Presidency Division, in which rioting has increased in the past two years. Jessore and the 24-Pergunnahs are responsible for the increase, while the figures in Khulna are still high. A most satisfactory fall in the number of persons bound over in Backerganj was not followed by any increase in rioting, though the presence of three bodies of punitive police in the district must have had its proper influence on the figures.

There is but little to note in the way of individual cases. In Nadiya the police sent up both parties in a serious case in which two men were killed by the defending party, but the plea of private defence was successfully raised, and only trifling punishments were awarded. In the Narail sub-division of Jessore hired mercenaries were engaged by rival zemindars for local warfare, but they were usually dealt with leniently, and the principal criminals were left untouched. In a case from Bagirhat in Khulna the action of the executive is severely criticised by Mr. Veasey, and a special report will be called for. In Jalpaiguri a vague reference is made to an increase in attacks on managers by tea-garden coolies, but no details are given. In Sarun there were some disputes about the cutting of bunds, inevitable in a season of floods; and in Patna there was one serious riot in which the sepoys of the 2nd Native Infantry at Dinapur were concerned. The matter was taken up promptly by the military as well as the civil authorities, but with unsatisfactory results.

Only 8 persons were convicted during the year for harbouring offenders as against 9 in 1888. As remarked by Mr. Veasey, this offence is no doubt much more common than is generally supposed, and a larger number of convictions would be obtained if the law were set in motion in every case, and if perfunctory excuses were more commonly rejected.

17. Class II.—Serious offences against the person.—There is very little fluctuation in the figures under this class. There was a slight improvement in the percentage of convictions before the Sessions Courts (47·9 in 1889 to 44·4 in 1888), but the standard is very low. On the whole, the results in cases which come under this heading fully justify recent strictures on the working of the police, and show that they are as unsuccessful in prosecution as in detection.

There were 316 murders, the largest number reported since 1880. Robbers were responsible for 26 of these as against 10 in 1888 and an average of 8·2 for the five years before that, and there were again 13 due to poison. It is curious that this is the exact number of murders by poison in the years 1887 and 1888, and the average number of such murders in the four years before 1887. The increase in the total number of murders must be considered with the decrease of 17 in the number of culpable homicides.

There was a slight improvement in the percentages of conviction, but the standard is so low that there is not much room for congratulation. In one of the cases of murder by dacoits in Midnapur all five of the dacoits were sentenced to transportation for life, but only six persons had been convicted for murder as robbers before the close of the year. In the cases of murder by poison only one solitary person was convicted. For all other murders 214 were acquitted at the Sessions and 103 convicted, the majority of the latter receiving sentences of transportation.

If the figures of this class of crime be taken separately for each Division, a marked feature of the statistics is, as usual, the very large number of cases reported from the Dacca Division, in which serious crime is always prevalent. The statistics in Backerganj alone will bear comparison with those of the whole Divisions of Chota Nagpur, Orissa or Bhagalpur, and Mymensingh is not far behind Backerganj, and it is in Mymensingh that there has been a notable increase in 1889 of 71 true cases. In the Presidency Division there has been a marked decrease common to most districts, while in Burdwan there has been an increase due chiefly to the district of Hughli. The figures for the Rajshahye Division show an increase of 33 cases in Rungpur, and those of the Chittagong Division show that there has been a distinct growth of crime attended by violence in the district of Chittagong. Champaran, in the Patna Division, shows an increase of over 50 per cent.

Results in murder cases were very bad in most Divisions. In the two jury districts of Burdwan and Hughli there was not a single conviction in 20 cases. In the Presidency Division 63 persons were tried for "other murders," but only eight convicted. In 10 cases in Dacca only two persons were convicted, while in Faridpur, in the same number of cases, 44 persons were released and one was convicted. In Patna there was no conviction in a murder by dacoits and three murders by robbers, while in the Patna Division generally there were only nine persons convicted to 48 acquitted in 39 murders. But these are only examples of the general rule of results in 1889, and the Lieutenant-Governor agrees with Mr. Veasey in thinking that most of the failures of justice are due to the police attaching too much weight to confessions and the Courts too little weight to circumstantial evidence.

In perusing the brief accounts of important cases given by the Inspector-General, it is melancholy to note that many were due to quarrels between husbands and their youthful wives. In Hughli a school pundit, afterwards shown to be insane, hacked his wife, a girl of 13, about the head with a katari because she would not or could not satisfy his desires. In Nadiya a husband killed his wife, a sickly girl of 12, for refusing to cohabit. In Maldah a man throttled his child-wife, aged 11, because she could not satisfy his lust. He was treated with extraordinary leniency by the Judge, who gave him two months' imprisonment for hurt—a sentence enhanced by the High Court to two years for culpable homicide. In Hughli, again, a young wife of 15 refused to cohabit with her husband, and died from the effects of the savagery with which that husband and his two brothers branded her in and about her private parts. In the remaining cases of wife-murder the ages of the victims are not given, but a further case in which a girl of 14 was chopped to death by her father-in-law on suspicion of misbehaviour may be mentioned here.

In Midnapur a woman was murdered by her neighbour, also a woman, who charged her with having bewitched her husband. The murderess escaped from the police, but was taken by some cooly recruiters, into whose hands she fell, to the sadr station, where she was recognised and re-arrested.

In a case in Dum-Dum which attracted much attention, a villager was shot by one of four European soldiers out in search of liquor. The criminal was convicted, but the conviction was upset by a Full Bench of the High Court—a notable instance of failure of justice.

In Rajshahye the following extraordinary case is reported, and the action of the officers who dealt with it will be further enquired into:—

"A man chained his wife up and then handed the key to his kept woman, who set fire to the house and let her burn with it, refusing to give up the key when it was demanded. This atrocious crime was, in the opinion of the trying Magistrate, sufficiently punished, as far as the husband was concerned, by a year's imprisonment and fine on a conviction only for wrongful confinement, whilst the woman got an additional year on a further conviction under 304A. Eventually it found its way to the Sessions, where the woman was transported for life, whilst the sentence on the husband, light as it was, was made lighter, though there was evidence to show that he had removed all his property and was no doubt an accomplice before the fact."

It is satisfactory to note that in Backerganj a principal, who had turned Queen's evidence and retracted his statement at the Sessions trial, was given five years' imprisonment on his own statement under section 194, Indian Penal Code.

The son of one of the zemindars concerned in the murder of a tehsildar in 1884 surrendered himself, and, although acquitted by the jury, was sentenced to three years' rigorous imprisonment by the High Court.

In two cases in Bhagalpur and in one in Patna there was strong evidence to show that the informants had killed one of their own party for the purpose of instituting a serious false case against an enemy; and in a case in Singbhum a burglar was wounded by the owner of the house and then murdered by his companions, who cut off his head to prevent identification.

Two cases in Tipperah are thus described:—

"An unpopular naib was shot dead at night as he was holding cutcherry; the case for the prosecution being that this was the work of a number of the ryots, who had hired a bad character from a distance for the purpose. Twelve persons were arrested and sent up, and seven of them were convicted at the Sessions: however, they were all released on appeal.

Another bad case in this district, described by the Commissioner as 'as cold-blooded a murder as could well happen,' ended in the principal accused being convicted of hurt and sentenced to six months' rigorous imprisonment. A mahout was pushed off his elephant in a bheel by two men, who deliberately left him to drown, rapping him over the knuckles when he tried to get into their boat, and afterwards cynically described his dying struggles."

There were 234 cases of culpable homicide against 251 in the previous year. The decrease is nominal, some cases having been included under the head of murder. The results of trials show a slight falling off, the percentage of convictions in true cases being 38·8 against 40·2 in 1888.

Drugging cases rose from 28 to 30. The number of persons convicted was six, the same as in the previous year. In the Rajshahye Division, out of 13 persons sent up in nine cases, 12 were discharged or acquitted. Four cases occurred in Manbhum, in all of which the victims were travellers, who fell a ready prey to designing persons. Only one arrest was made.

18. CLASS III.—This class includes dacoity, robbery, serious mischief, and burglary.

The increase in these crimes reported in 1888 shows no signs of diminution in 1889. The results of trials are wholly unsatisfactory, and there is scarcely any portion of the report, which is the reverse of flattering to the Police in most of the statistics it produces, which more seriously reflects on their efficiency than this.

The following table shows the figures relating to dacoity for the last five years:—

	Cases, including those pending from previous year.	Convictions.	Percentage.	Persons.			Percentage of convictions to persons who appeared.	Percentage of convictions to persons tried.
				Appeared before Magistrate.	Convicted.	Acquitted.
1885	182	37	20·3	663	159	385	23·9	29·2
1886	113	35	30·9	558	135	291	24·1	31·6
1887	115	24	20·8	508	95	277	18·7	25·5
1888	144	34	23·6	607	132	399	21·7	24·8
1889	190	31	16·3	782	168	554	21·4	23·2

The percentage of convictions and the very great increase in the number of persons acquitted are both most serious features of the above statistics. The falling off in power and efficiency is everywhere observable, though Burdwan and Patna account for 16 cases each out of a total increase of 40 cases. In Chumparun alone there were 13 cases against a blank return for 1888. This serious outbreak of crime is attributed to the distress caused by high prices. Out of 35 persons sent up from this district, only nine were convicted, 26 being released. Results are worse in the Hughli district, which, with 11 cases, shows only one conviction under section 411, Indian Penal Code. In the Rajshahye Division, again, only two persons were convicted in 17 cases, against 49 discharged or acquitted. In the Burdwan district no arrest was made in three out of four cases, while in Purneah all the nine persons convicted have since been released by the High Court. The only exception to this general run of bad results is Tipperah, where, out of 40 persons sent up for trial in four cases, 28 were convicted—a result no doubt creditable to the police of both Tipperah and Noakhali, who worked together, the dacoits belonging to the latter district.

In Midnapur there was a small increase from 8 to 11 cases. Five troublesome gangs in this district were broken up during the year, one of the ringleaders (Kristo Chunder Chowdhury), who admitted having had a hand in 15 dacoities, and who was last released from jail in 1885, being sentenced on conviction to transportation for life. It is hoped that the breaking up of these gangs will have the effect of materially diminishing the number of dacoities in this district.

Two river dacoities, both attacks on rice-boats, are reported from the 24-Pergunnahs. The Inspector-General says that in these cases the accused were summarily acquitted and released at the Sessions without the evidence against them having been gone into. He adds:—

"The police do not appear to have been to blame. In the course of investigating one of these cases they were opposed and roughly handled, a sub-inspector having his arm broken, whilst the number of men concerned in the original case is given as not less than 150, and an attempt had been made to scuttle the boat on the villagers coming to the crew's assistance.

"The failure of these two cases is not only unfortunate in itself, but must encourage and strengthen the demands for black-mail which are known to be made from time to time upon certain sections of the route through the Sunderbuns. It is easy enough to discourage reporting, and when manjhis find they are not protected, we can hardly blame them if they pay what is asked and say nothing, sooner than give offence by employing the police to conduct investigations and make arrests which are after all to end in nothing. There were 18 men acquitted in these two cases, and every one of them is a standing example of the many chances on the side of the criminal, who need never despair of scoring a victory."

A case of technical dacoity, but none the less serious, is reported from Dinajpur. In this case the assailants, who used fire-arms and had an elephant, attacked the homestead of a recalcitrant ryot. A man was killed on the side of the ryots, but the case fell through, as they absolutely denied having recognised any one.

A rather curious case occurred in Bhagalpur, in which a woman hired a gang of dacoits to plunder her brother's house in satisfaction of a claim she had against him. This was carried out; but as the dacoits offered her Rs. 5 only, she applied to the police, who made several arrests and recovered some of the property, but could get only one person convicted.

In a case in Shahabad, a retired Deputy Magistrate returned his loss at Rs. 37,275. The police recovered property of the value of Rs. 4,018, and eight persons, two of them receivers, were convicted at the Sessions.

There were 177 cases of robbery against 155 in 1888. No explanation is given of the increase which occurs under the heading of "Highway robberies." Out of 231 persons brought to trial, only 91, or 39·3 per cent., were convicted. In the Chota Nagpur Division six convictions were obtained in eight cases. In a case of mail robbery in Hazaribagh the accused was, on conviction, sentenced to four years' imprisonment.

There were 501 cases of mischief by fire against 506 in 1888, but the judicial results were extremely bad, 30 persons being convicted against 211 discharged or acquitted. The worst districts were Dinajpur and Mymensingh. In the former district only two persons were convicted in 86 cases, and in the latter only one in 36 cases.

The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe that much attention is paid in Dinajpur to the prosecution of criminal gangs. Out of a total for Bengal of eight cases with 93 persons brought to trial, this district alone accounts for three cases and 53 persons. Results were no doubt very poor, only six persons having been convicted; but, as remarked by Mr. Veasey, the sections relating to the offence "have been so little worked that they are new to most judicial officers, and it is only by keeping on that we can succeed in obtaining an explicit ruling as to what the Courts consider necessary."

19. Class IV.—Minor offences against the person.—A decrease of 71 under this class calls for no notice. The following case is from the 24-Pergunnahs. A man, whose girl-wife had offended him by running away home, tied her by her hair to a rafter, and on her escaping rivetted a chain on to her legs and kept her thus for a fortnight. He was on conviction sentenced to six months' rigorous imprisonment.

20. Class V.—Minor offences against property.—Including burglaries, which, for purposes of comparison, are usually treated with offences under this class, as well as under Class III, the number of cases was 66,932 against 61,711 in 1888. The large increase of 5,221 cases is attributed to the failure of crops and the consequent impoverishment of the lowest classes. The variations were most marked under the heads of theft and burglary, which show an increase of 2,305 and 2,501 cases respectively. Under burglary the percentage of convictions in cases was 7·5 against 7·2 in 1888; but the percentage of persons convicted shows a slight improvement, being 55·5 against 53·7. This is said to be due to the fact "that in a considerable proportion of cases the men sent up have been caught red-handed, so that the police have had their work done for them." Patna is again the worst among the Divisions, the number of burglaries (7,654) being nearly 700 more than any total reached in the Division during the last eight years, and 1,529 more than the total for 1888. Chowkidari parades and an increased use of the power to refuse investigation under section 157 have undoubtedly contributed to this increase; but the danger of too free a use of this power is shown in the falling off of cases in Patna, where there was a high percentage (37·0) of refusals, and Mr. Veasey is probably right in thinking that with fewer refusals there would have been more crime reported. In this matter the Lieutenant-Governor considers that much discretion should be left to the District Superintendents and their station officers, subject to the control of the Magistrate, and His Honour would call attention here to the remarks made in paragraph 12 of the Resolution on the Report for 1887:—"The discretion is one which must be exercised. It requires to be carefully controlled, as it is liable to serious abuse, but its judicious exercise may relieve the police of much useless work. No general orders should be laid down in any district that particular classes of cases are not to be enquired into." The large increase of burglary in the Patna Division attracted the Lieutenant-Governor's notice last year when dealing with the statement of serious crime for the third quarter of that year. The attention of the Commissioner has since been drawn to the matter, and he has been asked to impress upon Magistrates and District Superintendents in the Division the absolute necessity for greater exertion on their part in the matter of checking and controlling this crime.

Amongst districts the worst was Monghyr with 1,945 cases against 1,890 in 1888. In the Bhagalpur district there was an increase of 329 cases owing, it is said, to better reporting and high prices. The results in Midnapur were good in comparison with the bad ones last year, and the remarks of Mr. Munro on the crime of this district, which have been quoted by Mr. Veasey, show an intelligent grasp of the wants of the district which is not always to be found elsewhere. In Dinajpur much good work is said to have been done of late years. This is indicated by the fact that there was a decrease in burglary both in 1889 and in the previous year, though the causes at work were much the same. Judicial results were, however, not satisfactory. In this connection the Magistrate remarks:—

"It is difficult to obtain a conviction from some Deputy Magistrates, and in a great many true cases the offenders go unpunished."

There is, however, nothing to prevent notable instances of failures of justice from being reported to Government with a view to an appeal being preferred against the order of acquittal.

In Darjiling the number of cases increased from 91 to 141, or more than 50 per cent., while Faridpur shows an increase of 125 cases, and results are said to be going from bad to worse. Separate reports will be called for regarding both these districts.

21. CLASS VI.—Other offences not specified above.—An increase of 3,791 cases under this class was due to prosecutions for nuisance, the number of which rose from 21,641 to 25,599 during the year.

Bad livelihood cases show an increase of 54, but, as remarked by Mr. Veasey, this is far from satisfactory, in view of the fact that there was such a considerable increase during the year in cases of dacoity and burglary. Two thousand and twenty-five cases were instituted on the report of the police and 82 by petition before the Magistrate. Of these 1,178 of the former and 49 of the latter ended in conviction. In paragraph 27 of the Resolution on last year's Report, a report was called for from the Inspector-General of Police on the subject of reckoning the time occupied in disposing of these cases. This report has since been received. Mr. Veasey recommends that the date of institution be reckoned from the date on which the report is made to the Magistrate. The Lieutenant-Governor has no objection to this recommendation being given effect to, but he desires at the same time that the procedure which has been followed in the present report may be continued, and that a separate column may in future be appended to statement J, showing the average duration of cases from the date on which the first process is issued. This will show at a glance at what stage the procedure in Court has been dilatory. The Lieutenant-Governor is disappointed to find that, though the importance of disposing of these cases as quickly as possible has repeatedly been insisted upon in previous Resolutions, the returns for the past year show no improvement in this respect. In 29 districts the average duration of cases exceeded 50 days from the date of first report to the Magistrate, while in two districts it was more than 100 days. In Durbhunga a case was no less than 717 days, or for nearly two years, under trial; while in one case in Dinajpur and in another in Midnapur so many as 442 and 404 days, respectively, were allowed to intervene between the date of report to the Magistrate and that of the issue of the process. Such delays as these are wholly inexcusable and completely stultify the whole proceedings. Again, there is apparently no reason why the average duration of a total of 31 cases in Dacca should be 148 days, when Sarun with 88 cases shows an average duration of only 4·6 days. As a means of effectually putting a stop to these delays, Mr. Veasey suggests that the cases should be entered in the Magistrate's case register. This matter will be dealt with separately. The number of cases tried in Court was 1,083, against 811 tried locally. The Lieutenant-Governor is of opinion that the increase in the number of cases tried in Courts is a move in the right direction, though he would not wish that the advantages of an efficient local enquiry should be forgotten. But the delays that are inseparable from an invariable determination to try these cases locally have very bad effects, and His Honour wishes to repeat here the remarks made in the Resolution on the Report for 1886, that "it is far better that a case should be taken up at once in Court than that men should have charges hanging over their heads for months and months because it is not found convenient to depute an officer to the spot. There are many cases in which it is no kindness to the suspected person to make the enquiry in his village, and in which no advantage can accrue from such a procedure." The number of bad characters under police surveillance rose from 41,561 to 42,812. The increasing number on the registers is, however, the chief obstacle to effective scrutiny, and the Lieutenant-Governor is therefore glad to observe that Mr. Veasey has introduced a system of classification which, by making the duty lighter, will enable the police to devote more attention to habitual criminals.

Offences against excise laws fell from 2,753 to 2,687. The decrease was chiefly under the head of illicit possession or sale of country spirit. Opium cases decreased from 30 to 16. There was only one important case, in which two Punjabis, who were found with 41 seers of Nepal opium concealed in under-jackets made with pockets fitting over their shoulders, were sentenced to a year's rigorous imprisonment each. An increase of 742 in offences against the salt laws was mainly due to Balasore, where the number of cases rose from 46 to 579. No explanation is given of this large increase.

22. Railway Police.—There was an increase of 314 in the number of cases reported. Out of 3,016 persons brought to trial 2,504 were convicted. Mr. Veasey remarks:—

"The police as a rule are very successful with pick-pocket cases, which are nearly always the work of habitual criminals; but in these days of light sentences the releases pretty well balance the convictions, and the thief on coming out returns to his old ways, only changing the scene of his operations. A case is mentioned in which an old offender sentenced to five years at the Sessions was released on appeal, as the money was found under the seat. He was sitting next the person robbed, who had his pocket slit open in the usual way, and the result may perhaps be considered unfortunate. In two cases railway thieves of this class, well-dressed men of respectable appearance, came under observation only owing to their travelling without tickets, and were then found to be old hands, who would of course have indignantly resented suspicion."

In the case of a dacoity at Paleza ghât the railway employés, who out-numbered the dacoits, excused themselves from assisting the police on the plea that they were not engaged to fight, and that if they did and got hurt they would probably be discharged. As an instance of the failure of railway cases when tried by inexperienced officers, the Assistant Inspector-General of Government Railway Police on the East Indian Railway mentions a case in which a pointsman, guard, and driver were prosecuted for gross negligence which might have been attended with the most disastrous results. The pointsman was convicted, but the driver and the guard were both acquitted, the former on the ground that it was a dark night and it was difficult for him to see, and the latter because he had "too much other work to look after between the stations." He suggests that it might be considered whether the more important cases should not be tried at the head-quarters of the district in which they occur by one of the senior officers. The Lieutenant-Governor does not see his way at present to issue a general order to this effect. The attention of the District Magistrates will, however, be called to the importance of taking up all such cases themselves, where possible, or at least of seeing that they are not tried by inexperienced officers.

One hundred and fifty-three persons were killed in 217 railway accidents, including 34 railway servants and 25 persons who committed suicide.

23. Non-cognizable crime.—Non-cognizable offences increased by 5,401, as will be seen from the subjoined table:—

	1888.	1889.
Class I	8,556	8,581
„ II	30	33
„ III	955	848
„ IV	56,689	56,535
„ V	9,110	9,730
„ VI	11,074	11,356
Special laws	25,592	30,324
Total ...	112,006	117,407

The increase was mainly in offences under "special laws," and was due to a larger number of prosecutions under the Municipal Act. In class VI cases under section 106 of the Criminal Procedure Code (security for keeping the peace on conviction) fell from 1,907 to 1,860. It is to be regretted that Magistrates make so little use of this important section, which, judiciously applied to a certain class of offenders, may be employed with the most salutary effect. The attention of district officers will be called to this matter Process was issued against 115,303 persons in 1889, of whom no fewer than 31,594 were acquitted. In many districts compliance with a summons appears to have been more or less a matter of choice, as remarked by Mr. Veasey, and the percentage of persons who appeared to persons summoned, which stands at the low figure of 78·7 for the whole province, is very low indeed in the districts of Dacca, Faridpur, Purneah, Noakhali, and Tipperah. The above figures combine to show, even when full allowance is made for compromises appearing as acquittals, that complaints are insufficiently tested before process is granted, and it will require the close and constant supervision of the Magistrate to check the failure in administration which these statistics disclose. There is perhaps some error of calculation in the case of those districts which show this percentage as over 100 per cent., and explanations will be called for from the officers concerned; it seems scarcely likely that so large a number of persons as those returns indicate would voluntarily appear before the Magistrates without the issue of process.

In last year's Resolution the Lieutenant-Governor approved a proposal made by the Inspector-General of Police that in reporting the number of cases of non-cognizable crime in which the police are employed, only such cases should be shown as are referred to them by the Magistrate for enquiry. Mr. Veasey now brings to notice that it frequently happens that in the same complaint charges, both cognizable and non-cognizable, are mixed up together, and suggests that Magistrates should, when ordering an enquiry, state whether it is to be treated as cognizable or non-cognizable in the first instance. There is no objection to the adoption of this suggestion, and instructions will be issued accordingly. The practice which obtains in the Noakhali and Tipperah districts of employing even apprentices to make preliminary local investigations under section 202, Criminal Procedure Code, is highly reprehensible, and should be at once discontinued.

24. Remands.—The number of A forms sent up rose from 35,716 to 38,605. They were disposed of as follows:—

At first hearing	34·6	37·3
Remanded once	20·6	20·1
Do. twice	13 9	13·4
Do. thrice	9·8	9·2
Do. four times	·2	6·1
Do. five do.	4·2	3·9
Do. six do.	2·7	2·6
Do. more than six times	5·1	5·1

There was a slight improvement in the percentage of cases decided on the first two hearings, but the percentage of cases remanded more than six times continued the same. Amongst districts it was only in Hughli, Howrah, the 24-Pergunnahs, Darjiling, the Chittagong Hill Tracts and the Gurjhats that more than two-thirds of the cases were decided in two hearings, while in Lohardugga, Faridpur, Jessore, Bogra, and Noakhali less than one-third were concluded in the same number of hearings. Mr. Veasey says:—

"A selection of cases made haphazard (in Lohardugga) brought to light one case remanded 20 times, another 10, another 9, and another 7. The Hazaribagh report mentions a case tried by a Munsif with magisterial powers which lasted for over two months, though the value of the property was only 2 annas. I have not seldom, however, seen as bad instances amongst Magistrates, and the knowledge that they are noticed soon works reform. Of the delays in Faridpur no notice is taken. In Noakhali the District Superintendent states that he finds nothing to note, and the subject is not referred to by the Magistrate, whilst the Commissioner says generally that officers were everywhere overworked. In Bogra the blame is laid on an officer who was at Dinajpur in 1888, and the Magistrate suggests that he must have been responsible for the delays noticed there in that year. There were 51 cases in this district remanded for more than six times, but it is not said how many of them were on his file. Seven cases were remanded 11 times and one 15 times."

There is no doubt in the Lieutenant-Governor's mind that these delays are to a great extent the result of a want of system and bad supervision. For instance in Purneah, where the number of cases remanded more than six times was 132 out of a total of 769 cases, a frequent excuse for the remand was, the Lieutenant-Governor learns, that the process had not been duly served, yet the late Commissioner found in the course of his inspection that no trouble was ever taken by the judicial officers to ascertain the cause of the failure; again in the sadr subdivision of the Dinajpur district, where no less than 198 cases were pending with the police and 55 with the Magistrates, the case registers, instead of being utilized, had been superseded by a special statement which must have given unnecessary trouble and have afforded insufficient information. This state of things is certainly not creditable to the officers concerned, and the Lieutenant-Governor must insist on the Magistrates exercising a closer supervision over these matters; a systematic and periodical examination of the registers, such as need occupy but little time, would, he is sure, produce a marked effect.

25. Reconvictions.—The number of persons reconvicted rose from 1,640 to 1,915. Mr. Veasey remarks that the increase—

"is considerably discounted by the proof it affords that the sentences passed cannot in many instances be really deterrent, and further, that we have a large criminal population who find so little to object to in a life in jail that they begin to qualify for re-admission almost as soon as the gates close behind them. On the other hand, the police generally understand now the importance of verifying the antecedents of accused persons, and much information is thus elicited which a few years ago would have remained neglected."

The Lieutenant-Governor believes that, though there has been some improvement in this matter, much remains yet to be done, both by the police in putting the information before the Courts, and by the Courts in attaching proper importance to previous convictions in awarding punishment. Several cases have recently come to His Honour's notice in which old offenders have been treated with most uncalled for leniency, on the ground that some of the previous convictions proved against them were of a date more than ten years back, and were consequently excluded from consideration. Sir Steuart Bayley is not prepared to accept the principle involved in this explanation, and regrets to think that these and other similar cases show that Mr. Veasey is justified in saying that "authorities who are practically irresponsible (to the Commissioner) are apt at times to ignore local requirements." Amongst districts, Patna and Monghyr take the lead with 123 and 106 reconvictions respectively. There were only four districts, viz., Bankura, Pubna, Bogra and Khulna, in which the number in each case did not exceed 10. In 199 cases, as against 142 in 1888, it was proved that the accused had been convicted three times or more.

26. Criminal Tribes.—Under the directions of the Government of India, the subject of the control and punishment of Criminal Tribes is now under special enquiry, and the Committee on Police Reform has been asked to take the subject up. The Mughya Domes still continue to give much trouble, and the scheme instituted some years ago for their reclamation does not appear to have had any lasting success. The question of the retention of the Dome colonies in Chumparun is now under consideration. It is, however, noteworthy that the Magistrate of that district, while he calls them 'pilferers by choice and burglars by necessity,' is of opinion at the same time "that they get credit for much crime which is in reality the work of Ahirs, well-to-do people who thrive by thieving, and with whom the chowkidars are hand-in-glove in consequence," and the Lieutenant-Governor believes that there is much justification for this view. The Rajshahye Division, and more especially the districts of Rungpur and Dinajpur, are still overrun by miscellaneous gangs of vagabonds whose movements it is very difficult to control.

27. Absconders.—The total number of names entered during the year was 2,610, of whom 804 were arrested and 531 surrendered themselves. This subject has not hitherto found a place in the annual report. The Lieutenant-Governor fully agrees with Mr. Veasey's comments on the unsatisfactory nature of the returns on this subject, and in his remarks as to the importance of giving special attention to it, and trusts that the Commissioners of Divisions will, in the course of their inspections, personally look into the matter and adopt such measures as may lead to the submission of accurate returns for the several districts under them.

28. In conclusion, the Lieutenant-Governor is constrained to express his opinion that a review of the results obtained by the police from their work in 1889 shows that they have obtained no marked success in dealing with crime, and that there has been a decided diminution of efficiency in the work done in Sessions cases—the most important class of cases with which they have to deal. A Commission has recently been appointed to investigate the causes of failure and, as far as may be possible, to suggest remedies. The fault does not entirely lie with the police, and it is admitted that they frequently have to contend with great difficulties. The Lieutenant-Governor is well aware that among the superior officers there are men who are devoted to their duties, and whose efforts are rewarded by a considerable measure of success; his acknowledgments are due to the District Superintendents and Assistant Superintendents whom the Inspector-General has selected for honourable mention. His Honour also recognises the zeal and ability of the Inspector-General himself.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the above Resolution be forwarded to the Inspector-General of Police and the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta.

Ordered also that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to all Commissioners of Divisions for information.

Ordered also that a copy of the Resolution and extract paragraph 49 from the Report be forwarded to the Appointment Department of this Office for information.

Ordered also that the Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. C. STEVENS,

Offg. Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

POLICE REFORM IN BENGAL.

RESOLUTION.

POLICE.

Calcutta, the 24th September 1890.

READ—

Letter No. 634, dated 22nd December 1888, from the Secretary to the Government of India, Home Department, to the Government of Bengal.

Letter No. P $\frac{P}{1}$ 2, dated 9th January 1890, from the Chief Secretary to this Government, to the Government of India, Home Department.

Letter No. 398, dated 28th May 1890, from the Secretary to the Government of India, Home Department, to the Government of Bengal.

Resolution of this Government, dated 3rd January 1890, appointing Colonel Ramsay, on special deputation, to enquire into certain matters connected with the chowkidari systems in force in Bengal.

Letter No. P $\frac{P}{1}$ 2, dated 7th July 1890, from the Chief Secretary, to certain selected officers.

The replies to the above letter received from Messrs. A. Smith, D. R. Lyall, C. F Worsley, R. C. Dutt, C. W. Bolton, H. Savage, W C. Macpherson, B. L. Gupta, A. W. Mackie, and J. Crawfurd.

Letter No. 208, dated 14th July, from the European and Anglo-Indian Defence Association, to this Government.

The reply to the above letter.

IN compliance with the instructions of the Government of India, the statistics of crime cognizable by the Police, reported and disposed of in Bengal during the 11 years 1878-88, have been scrutinized and compared and the results communicated to that Government.

Various circumstances were indicated which tended to affect those statistics and to prevent them from representing with perfect accuracy the number of cases which had really occurred; but, since no means existed of measuring these influences with precision, it was necessary to accept the figures shown in the statements as giving an approximately correct account of the fluctuations of crime during the series of years to which they referred.

The general inferences which have been drawn by the Lieutenant-Governor are (to use the words of the Government of India) "that although crime generally is not positively great in Bengal, and is decreasing relatively to the increase of population, certain offences show a tendency to increase; that an unduly large proportion of the crime actually occurring is not brought to the notice of the Police or of the Magistrates, and is therefore never enquired into; that the Police enquiry into a large number of the cases taken up is fruitless, and such cases never come before the Courts, and that a disproportionate number of the persons brought before the Courts are acquitted." The broad result is that upwards of 70 per cent. of serious crime goes unpunished, that at least 90 per cent. of the most dangerous offences against property remain undetected, and that in the 11 years under review the percentage of convictions among the total number of persons tried by the Courts and charged with offences included in classes I, II, III, and V never exceeded 56, and in one year fell to 52.

2. It is evidently necessary to enquire minutely into the causes of this highly unsatisfactory condition of affairs, and to ascertain by what means, whether legislative or executive, remedies capable of being made practically effective can be devised and applied. It is, perhaps, not difficult to suggest measures which would be generally useful, but the conditions under which the administration of different provinces is carried on vary so much that practical results are likely to be attained only by concentrating attention on local circumstances and requirements. For this reason the Governor-General in Council has thought it better not to appoint a general Commission to consider the question of Police reform throughout India, but has left it to the Lieutenant-Governor, if he should see fit, to convene a Provincial Committee.

3. Having regard to the magnitude and importance of the questions involved, to the necessity for bringing wide experience to bear upon them, and for looking at them from different points of view, Sir Steuart Bayley is satisfied that the work is not such as can be properly done without a special agency or by the deputation of a single officer. He has therefore determined to appoint a Committee.

4. The Lieutenant-Governor most fully recognises the necessity of obtaining from the public all the information as to facts, and all the advice for future action which can be made available for his assistance. It is for the advantage of the public and for the protection of their lives and property, it is to save them from oppression and needless harassment that the present enquiries are being undertaken; and the Lieutenant-Governor quite understands that they have opportunities of observing Police work from points of view which are not accessible to officials. Still he thinks that, in the beginning at all events, a small official Committee will be best adapted to direct enquiries and collect information. He desires that information should be collected from all sources, but there is in Police work very much that is technical and requires official experience to understand and appreciate its various relations. Many plausible suggestions are likely to be brought forward which may not be capable of introduction into any practical scheme; but the detection of the difficulties would be scarcely possible to persons who have not had the advantage of special experience. At a later stage His Honour will probably enlarge the Committee, so that the bearings of whatever proposals may be deemed by it worthy of consideration may be ascertained as accurately as possible.

In this way Sir Steuart Bayley hopes to derive the greatest profit from unofficial assistance, while shortening the enquiry and keeping its results within the limits of practicability.

5. The Committee as now to be constituted will consist of the following officers:—

Mr. John Beames, C.S., Commissioner of Bhagulpore ... President.
Mr. J. F. Stevens, C.S., Judge of Gya ... } Members.
Mr. J. C. Veasey, C.S., Inspector-General of Police ... }

Mr. Beames will be on special deputation from the date of his return from privilege leave. Mr. Stevens will serve on the Committee in addition to his own duties, until arrangements can be made for relieving him of the latter, when he will be on special deputation. Mr. Veasey will serve on the Committee in addition to his own duties, unless hereafter there should appear to be sufficient reason for making some other arrangement.

The Lieutenant-Governor has not thought it necessary to place on the Committee any Police officer in rank inferior to the Inspector-General, because he is aware that the help of the Deputy Inspectors-General will be available, and has no doubt that it will be freely given. His Honour also hopes that the Committee will receive the cordial co-operation both of other officers of Government and of unofficial gentlemen.

6. In the meantime the papers have, by direction of the Lieutenant-Governor, been circulated to certain experienced officers for the purpose of obtaining their general views. The reports have been nearly all received, and His Honour's acknowledgments are due to the writers. They contain much variety of opinion, and there is not a little in them which the Committee may find worthy of consideration. It is not necessary to discuss the different suggestions which have been made, but His Honour desires to record a few observations, arising partly out of these reports and partly out of the orders of the Government of India.

7. In reflecting upon the causes of the comparative failure of the Police in Bengal, it is necessary not to lose sight of the obstacles which the Police, as well as the Magistracy, have to surmount. Foremost among our difficulties is the character of the general mass of the population from which the Police are drawn. The Police are of, and from, the people; and as are the people so are the Police. To speak broadly, the people have but a faintly developed sense of public morality, of the far-reaching duties of the individual towards the public at large; they view without reprobation the giving and taking of bribes; they will not interest themselves, in matters outside their immediate personal concerns, to oppose oppression or blackmail or false evidence or other offences against the public. The Police, therefore, have not the sharp incentive of public opinion to keep them up to the mark, and the discipline to which they are subjected is not sufficient to raise their standard of public morality in any marked way above that of the class to which they belong. Mr. Macpherson describes the state of public feeling in this connection as follows:—"In Bengal" (he writes) "it is, I believe, much more difficult than in England to bring offenders to justice, because we have not here so high a standard of truth and so general sympathy with public justice. The public spirit which in England will prompt strangers and disinterested persons to give evidence for the Crown and for the defence, with no object but that truth may be established, is not often found in this country. The mass of the people have not the intelligence and sturdiness of character which should make them denounce the oppression of a neighbour by a zemindar, or refuse to pay blackmail to the cattle thief, or be ashamed to protect the house-breaker and receiver of stolen goods by professed ignorance of his guilt. Aggrieved persons and witnesses are often reluctant to go to the authorities, because the authorities are dilatory, troublesome and inefficient, and thus cause and result act and re-act on one another. The only remedy for this want of public spirit is to spread education among the masses." Another difficulty which Mr. Macpherson points out arises from the frequent connection of crime with complicated questions of title to, and possession in, land and of tenancy and rent. Other difficulties arise out of climate; houses are left open and property unprotected, while the rains supply facilities for burglary which amount almost to temptation.

But these conditions must for the present purpose be considered as unavoidable. "They justify" (as Mr. Macpherson says) "a demand for good officers. We want better Magistrates, better station police and better village police." The problem to be solved is how these are to be attained.

8. It is admitted universally that the state of the village police is far from being satisfactory under any of the systems which are in force, but there is much variety of opinion as to the remedy. While some would foster the village punchayet and enlarge its control over the village chowkidars, others would go so far as to abolish the village chowdidars entirely and supply their place by an army of constables. Others, again, think it possible to retain the local character of the chowkidar, while binding him more closely to the Police and subjecting him to more strict discipline than heretofore. This is, perhaps, the most difficult and important question which the Committee will have to consider; its solution is not now being attempted for the first time, and the previous essays, their results and their teachings will all have to be passed in review. The Committee will not be obliged to devise an absolutely uniform scheme to be applied to the whole province. They will, perhaps, find that different tracts require different treatment, and it will be open to them to diversify their suggestions accordingly.

9. Before the appointment of this Committee was contemplated, the Lieutenant-Governor deputed Colonel Ramsay, of the Bengal Police, who was known to have given great attention to the subject of chowkidars, to collect information on various points connected with the institution. His enquiries have now become merged in the more extended investigations of the Committee, and the information which he has obtained is available, and will, it is hoped, be found useful. Sir Steuart Bayley has not found it necessary to ask the Government of India to have the period of Colonel Ramsay's deputation extended, but, if requisite, arrangements can readily be made by which the Committee may obtain his assistance.

A question connected with the foregoing is how far the duty of reporting crime which the law imposes on landholders can be insisted on, and whether any village organization can be expected or relied on to act either co-ordinately or as an efficient substitute.

10. Very great importance must be attached to the improvement of the investigating officers. It is universally admitted that their present pay and prospects are insufficient to attract trustworthy and competent men. In the lower grades especially, it is plain that such a man can barely live on his pay; while, even in the higher, the pay is but an indequate remuneration for the high qualities and great responsibilities which are required of an officer in charge of a station. Neither the names nor the scale of pay suggested by the Government of India are to be taken as final, and it will be open to the Committee to make their own proposals. As at present advised, the Lieutenant-Governor is not inclined to think it altogether immaterial whether an officer employed in investigation is called a Head-constable or a Sub-Inspector. The higher title does, in practice, he believes, connote a higher standard. He would also invite the Committee to consider whether the scale of pay provides for sufficiently even and frequent promotion, or whether the increments proposed are not too large and sudden. Due regard is to be paid to financial considerations, but the Lieutenant-Governor would observe that the scheme to be submitted to the Government of India is one which is expected to "place the Police of Bengal upon a satisfactory basis as regards pay and promotion." He is, therefore, prepared to accept recommendations involving a moderate increase in expenditure.

11. The amelioration of the position of Inspectors is, perhaps, not so urgent as that of the lower grades, but it nevertheless demands the careful consideration of the Committee. A suggestion has been made that deserving Inspectors may be rewarded by being appointed Deputy Magistrates and Collectors. Independently of the fact that an additional difficulty would thus be introduced into the recruitment of the Subordinate Executive Service, it is, perhaps, open to question whether this measure is desirable in itself. The experiment, so far as it has been tried in Bengal, has not, it is believed, been attended with success, and several of the officers consulted object to it and think that it would be preferable to give higher promotion in the Police Service itself; doubtless the whole matter will receive due attention from the Committee.

12. The pay of constables is another topic for discussion, and in this case it will be well to see whether the same scale is appropriate to the whole Province.

13. The improvement of prosecutions is to be considered. Is this likely to be best attained by separating the appointment of Court Inspectors and other Court officers completely from the station police, so that they may be used only as prosecutors and for the Court clerical work, or by retaining the present connection and compelling the officers set apart for the Courts to pass certain examinations, or is there some other and better expedient?

14. The Committee is invited to deal with the question of recruitment of the Police of all grades below that of Assistant Superintendent. One proposal which has been made is that the Head-constables should be simply what their name implies, and that there should be a sharp line of demarcation between them and the Sub-Inspectors; further, that appointments should be made direct to Sub-Inspectorships, endeavours being made to attract well-educated men of respectable families. This would probably involve the creation of a small grade of probationers. The Committee will advise the Lieutenant-Governor whether any, and if so what, educational tests can be applied. He will also be obliged to them if they will consider whether anything reasonable and compatible with discipline can be done to render Police service more attractive than it now is.

15. The weakness of the Magistracy both in numbers and in individual power is brought prominently to notice in these papers. It is beyond question that the number of officers available both in the Civil Service and the Subordinate Executive Service is quite inadequate to the increasing requirements of the province. Apart from this general deficiency, it is to be observed that the exigencies of the Sonthal Pergunnahs and certain other special localities require that they should generally be officered by Europeans, and it will be necessary that arrangements should be made to recruit suitable persons. In this connection the suggestion that the junior European Police officers should undergo some magisterial training will, doubtless, receive attention.

16. The Lieutenant-Governor also desires the Committee to report on the best means of supervising the work of Subordinate Magistrates; the conviction is frequently forced upon him by his own observation that at present the supervision is not generally sufficiently systematic and persistent, and he is constrained to believe that very much depends upon the strictness of the individual Commissioner or Magistrate.

17. The Lieutenant-Governor is by no means disposed to sympathize with the sweeping denunciations of the Native Magistracy which he sometimes sees. He believes that the Magistrates are very often industrious and well-meaning men, but they receive very little education of a kind specially adapted to fit them for their duties on the Bench. A Munsif will have had the advantage of watching the procedure of the Courts for some years, and thus of learning by experience, not the mere letter of the law only, but the method in which the discretionary powres allowed by the law are exercised in practice. The Deputy Magistrate has no such advantage. Often the first case which he has seen tried is the first which he has tried himself; at any rate it may be so. Again, the legal practitioners who appear before the Deputy Magistrate are of an inferior class in respect of their knowledge, both technical and general, and far from affording him the assistance which a Munsif gets from a well-educated bar, they do more harm than good in influencing the general conduct of cases. To counteract these influences, Sir Steuart Bayley is sure that what is required is the kindly but firm and frequent interposition of the superior officers. He will be glad to learn from the Committee in what way they think this object can best be attained.

18. Sir Steuart Bayley would invite the attention of the Committee to the 10th paragraph of Mr. Lyall's letter of the 28th May, which has reference to the extended use of the provisions of the law for the prevention of offences. He wishes to know whether it is possible or advisable to make rules with this object, and if so, what form these rules should take, having regard on the one hand to the protection of the public from professional criminals, and on the other to the necessity for ensuring that the law may not be abused, so as to be a powerful engine of oppression.

19. The Lieutenant-Governor has purposely abstained from putting before the Committee any series of definite questions of a nature to hamper them in their deliberation. He has little doubt that as their labours progress points, at present unforeseen, will arise; and it is possible that new solutions of some of the difficult problems before them may suggest themselves. He is anxious, therefore, that members of the Committee should regard themselves as free to consider and report on any matter which they may regard as relevant to their enquiries. He expects their report to be submitted within six months from the date of the President's deputation.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. C. STEVENS,

Offg. Chief Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE COMMISSIONERS OF THE PORT OF CHITTAGONG FOR THE YEAR 1889-90.

No. 2683 Marine.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL—MARINE DEPARTMENT.

RESOLUTION.

Dated Calcutta, the 26th September 1890.

READ—

The Administration Report of the Commissioners of the Port of Chittagong for the year 1889-90.

The report, which is submitted by the Commissioners of the Port of Chittagong, is the first report of their administration of the Port. Although a Port Trust was constituted in 1887-88, the Chittagong Port Commissioners' Act, 1887, not having been brought into operation, the Trust had no legal status, and the appointments and elections were subsequently cancelled. The law came into force from the 25th April 1888, and in June of that year a Trust was lawfully established. The entire management of the Port and of the Port Fund was not, however, as stated in the Resolution on the Administration Report of the Port for 1888-89, made over to the Commissioners until the 1st April 1889, and the year under review is the first in which the Act has been in full operation.

2. The management of the Pilot Service at Chittagong was transferred to the Commissioners during the year with a contribution of Rs. 1,000 per annum to their revenues to meet the charges which will be incurred by them on clerical establishment, &c., in working the Pilot Service. Permission was given to the Commissioners to deal with moveable property up to the value of Rs. 1,000. Since the close of the year, rules have been made under sections 17 and 45 of Act IV (B.C.) of 1887 (the Chittagong Port Commissioners' Act), and the scale of charges prepared under section 33 and the bye-laws made under section 64 of the Act have been approved. New rules under section 6 of the Indian Ports Act, 1889, have also been made for the Port.

3. The purchase of a steam-tug for the Port, the necessity of supplying which had been urged upon the Government for some years past, was sanctioned during the year, and the Commissioners are now making arrangements for procuring the vessel. The cost of the tug will be advanced to the Commissioners by the Government.

4. The financial position of the Port Trust is satisfactory. The Port Fund opened on the 1st April 1889 with a credit balance of Rs. 67,958, being the sum made over to the Commissioners of the Port by the Accountant-General, Bengal, and it closed with a balance of Rs. 90,197 on the 31st March 1890. These figures are exclusive of a sum of Rs. 20,200 invested in Government securities. The receipts for the year amounted to Rs. 56,218, and the charges to Rs. 33,979.

5. The rice trade of the Port, a somewhat fluctuating one, again fell off during the year under review, owing, it is stated, to the exportation to Central Bengal of the rice produced in the northern districts of the Chittagong Division, but the loss was more than compensated by a considerable increase both in the quantity and the value of the jute exported, and the results of the year were, on the whole, satisfactory.

6. The following statement shows the number and tonnage of vessels which visited the Port during the year as compared with the figures of the preceding year:—

		1889-90.		1888-89.
		Number.	Tonnage.	Number.	Tonnage.
European vessels trading with Foreign ports.	Entered	39	60,701	41	55,774
	Cleared	37	59,355	44	59,655
Native craft trading with Foreign ports	Entered	4	808	4	814
	Cleared	4	701	6	949
Vessels trading with Home ports	Entered	982	176,550	845	165,318
	Cleared	983	180,053	836	165,495

7. The number of vessels engaged in the foreign trade fell off by 11, but their tonnage exceeded that of the previous year by 4,373 tons. The decline in the number of vessels is attributed to the decline in the grain exports, while the increase of tonnage is due to the employment of larger vessels in the jute trade.

8. Of the 41 sea-going vessels which cleared for foreign ports during the year, the destination of 25 was the United Kingdom, of 3 the Mauritius, of 4 the Maldives, of 8 the United States, and of 1 Trinidad. Those for the United Kingdom and the United States carried jute; the remaining 8 rice. The number of vessels that cleared with rice in the preceding year was 22.

9. The increase in the number and tonnage of vessels entering the Port from Home ports is due chiefly to Chittagong and other native vessels engaged in the jute trade making more frequent trips between Chittagong and Narainguge in tow of steamers belonging to the jute exporters. There was a decrease in the tonnage of steamers, although their number was in excess of that of the previous year. This was owing to the British India Steam Navigation Company having run bi-weekly steamers of small tonnage for several months of the year.

10. The subjoined table gives the statistics of the principal articles of export and import for the past eight years—

11. The report under review does not furnish statistics of the different articles exported to Home ports, nor does it supply information regarding the quantity of salt and oils imported during the year. The Lieutenant-Governor has in past years desired that the subject of trade should be dealt with in greater detail in the report, and he hopes that the Commissioners will not overlook this important point in future.

12. The importation of mineral oil, which, for the reasons explained in the Resolution on the Administration Report of the Port for 1888-89, fell off during that year, made a considerable advance during the year under review, and there was an increase of Rs. 1,84,007 in the value of the oil imported as compared with the figures of the previous year. The falling off of Rs. 1,32,693 in the value of salt imported during the year is attributed to the unusually large importation of the year before.

13. The jetty was kept in good order, and the depth of water at its head remained unchanged. The jetty opposite the double moorings, which was erected in 1888-89, has proved convenient to the public. The buoys and moorings, with the exception of the middle bar red buoy, the spire of which is broken off, were kept in efficient condition. On account of the extension of the Eastern Sand it has become necessary to move the moorings further west, and it is proposed to relay them next cold season. The Port boats were kept in good order.

14. The Commissioners are of opinion that a penalty on the officer in charge of a vessel, the lights of which have been allowed to get out of order, would be more effective than her detention, and they suggest that some punishment, either in the shape of a fee for the inspection of the lights or a fine, may be provided to meet such cases. Under section 30 of the English Merchant Shipping Act, 1873 (36 and 37 Vic., Cap. 85), a fee is leviable for each visit made to a ship on the application of the owner, and for each visit made when the lights are found defective. The Indian law does not provide for the levy of a fee for the inspection of lights, and the question does not appear to have been raised when the Act was passed. The detention of a ship which is not properly provided with lights and with the means of making fog signals is necessary for the protection of life and property. The proposal to levy a fee for the inspections, as is done in the United Kingdom, will receive the consideration of the Lieutenant-Governor.

* The figures are not given in the report.
† These figures represent the quantity exported to Foreign ports.

15. The health of the shipping in the port was not so good as in the year before. There were 73 admissions into the hospital against 28 in the preceding year, and the number of deaths was 6 against 2 in 1888-89. With a view to provide proper medical attendance and sufficient hospital accommodation for the shipping at the port, the levy of hospital port dues at the rate of one anna per ton on all ships manned by European crews has been sanctioned under section 49 of Act X of 1889 (the Indian Ports Act), with effect from the 1st April 1890.

16. There were four wrecks during the year against two in 1888-89. Three of these were brigs wrecked in the Megna river on the voyage from Naraingunge to Chittagong. Their jute cargoes were totally lost. The fourth wreck was that of a brig bound to Chittagong with a cargo of planks. It occurred to the south-west of Kutubdia. The vessel and her cargo were lost, but the crew was saved. Two fires occurred in the port on vessels laden with jute, one of which was totally lost.

17. The barque Grosvenor, which grounded on the D'Apres shoal near Chittagong, and was given up as lost, was, as stated in the Resolution on the Annual Report of the Port for 1888-89, found drifting about near the mouth of the Shabazpore river. The wreck has since been salved, the vessel and her cargo having suffered little damage.

18. The lights at Kutubdia and Norman's Point are both inefficient, and it is hoped that new lights will be provided at both places before the close of the current year.

19. The Pilotage Fund is in deficit. The year under review opened with a debit balance of Rs. 2,938, and it closed with a similar balance of Rs. 4,970. The receipts during the year amounted to Rs. 12,137, and the charges to Rs. 14,170.

20. The charges of the Port are now distributed between the Port and Pilotage Funds in accordance with the orders contained in the letter [No. 1202T.—M.] of the 28th June 1886; but having regard to the altered circumstances of the Port, the distribution of the charges will have to be examined. In order that this may be done, the Lieutenant-Governor desires that the Commissioners will furnish the details of the expenditure which was incurred in 1889-90 under the following heads and debited to the Pilotage Fund :—

Vessels and boat establishment.
Contingencies.
Stores and repairs.
Contingencies.
Petty construction and repairs.
Miscellaneous.

21. It is understood that the pay of the Harbour Master is at present charged to the Pilotage Fund. The Lieutenant-Governor desires that the Commissioners will report whether his salary should not in future be debited to the Port Fund.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

J. M. McNEILE, Col., R.E.,
Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

* Means of six days.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period for the last

The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed at percentage, saturated air being presented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The numbers are in numerical means or average of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisional station for the period in question during the past season in the district reading in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least hundredth of an inch fell.

for the week ending Friday, the 26th of September 1890.

CALCUTTA, the 30th September 1890.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 26TH OF SEPTEMBER 1890.

Weather conditions during the past week have been controlled by the depression which beginning to form on the second day of the week, moved slowly across the Circars Coast into Central India towards the end of the week. Though the influence of the depression has extended over almost the whole of India, still in the neighbourhood of the centre, when forming off the coast of the Circars between Gopalpur and Vizagapatam, weather was never seriously disturbed, wind velocity being very little above the average and squalls generally light. This was probably due to the depression being diffused and even from the first, covering a large area including the western half of the Bay and the land as far as the North-Western Provinces.

At the commencement of the week the pressure distribution was recovering from a shallow depression which had existed off the coast of the Circars for some days, but a trough of low pressure still remained, extending in a north-westerly direction as far as the Himalayas. This began to deepen on the 21st, and wind circulation again became cyclonic in the north-west corner of the Bay. On the 22nd there was a considerable intensification, as pressure fell briskly between Vizagapatam and Masulipatam, and rose briskly to rapidly in Central India and the northern districts. Defect was ·128 inch at Vizagapatam, and under a tenth of an inch at all other stations, but as there had been a rather large rise in the east of Assam the difference between pressure there and in the Circars was ·3 inch, which resulted in a regularly defined indraught over the whole of Bengal. During these two days rain had been falling in North and East Bengal, and had been scanty in the western districts, but after the 22nd it almost stopped in the former districts and became general elsewhere, especially in Orissa where some heavy falls were received. On the 23rd pressure rose everywhere rapidly in the east of Bengal and briskly elsewhere, except in Orissa and the Circars, where changes were about ·03 inch only. On the east of the depression, therefore, gradients again increased, and the area of lowest pressure was just on the point of crossing the coast. Fairly heavy general rain was falling in Lower Bengal and Orissa, but wind velocity increased very slightly, and easterly directions prevailed over the whole province. On the 24th the barometer continued rising in Bengal, and the depression was moving in a north-westerly direction into Central India, while rainfall in the north-west corner of the Bay had become heavier, and wind velocity was generally above the average. Up till the end of the week these conditions remained unchanged, as the depression moved slowly and kept, relatively to Bengal, almost the same position, but on the last day it began to recurve and take a northerly or north-easterly direction so as to bring the western districts of Bengal more within its influence.

Pressure changes have been rather large on several days of the week; but as the depression was chiefly due to differences of increasing pressure, means are nearly everywhere above the normal, the difference varying from ·075 inch below the normal at Gopalpur to about ·05 inch above in Assam, East and North Bengal and North Behar.

Temperature has been everywhere below the normal, defect in the weekly mean for Orissa and Chutia Nagpur being 2·5°, in South-West Bengal 2°, South Behar 1·4° and in the other districts about 1°. At the beginning of the week there was defect of between 3° and 5° in North Bengal and Assam, but elsewhere the difference from the normal was about 1°, except in the west of Behar where there was considerable excess. A rather rapid fall commenced in North Bengal and gradually extended over the province till the 24th, when there was defect over the whole province generally between 3° and 5°.

Rainfall has been very heavy in Orissa, moderately heavy in South-West Bengal and Chutia Nagpur and below the average elsewhere, slightly in Behar and considerably in East and North Bengal. The average excess fall in Orissa is 7·42 inches, in South-West Bengal ·9 inch, Chutia Nagpur ·75 inch; while defect varies from ·2 inch in Behar to 1·34 inches in North Bengal. At the beginning of the week only very scattered showers were falling in Lower Bengal and Behar, but after the formation of the depression on the 21st, general rain fell in Orissa and South-West Bengal till the end of the week, while in East Bengal, Chutia Nagpur, Behar and the southern districts of North Bengal showers were much more frequent, but in the north of North Bengal rainfall almost entirely ceased. The heaviest falls in Orissa were—Balasore 16·67, Cuttack and Jellasore over 14, and Pooree about 12 inches. In the Midnapore district falls were between 5 and 10 inches, and in Bankoora and Beerbhoom they were frequently over 5 inches, but elsewhere the falls at the various stations were very irregular owing to the local character of the showers.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 26th of September 1890 :—

MEMORANDUM.

Weekly review of births and deaths in twenty-seven of the principal towns of Bengal for the week ending with Saturday, the 13th September 1890.

Births.

The births registered during the week ending with Saturday, the 13th September 1890, in twenty-seven principal towns of Bengal correspond to an annual rate of 22· per 1,000 of the aggregate population of those towns, which is 1,061,574. This rate is ·9 lower than the average rate of the corresponding week of the past five years, and is higher than the rate of the corresponding week of any of the past five years except 1885 and 1889—vide the figures below—

	1885.	1886.	1887.	1888.	1889.	Weekly average of five years, 1885-89.	1890.

It will be seen that last week the highest birth-rate was returned from Hughli and Chinsurah (39·4), and the lowest from Mozufferpore (7·3). No births were registered during the week in Ranaghat town.

Deaths.

The deaths registered during the week under review correspond to an annual rate of 24·7 per 1,000 of the population. The rate of the week is 6· below the average rate of the corresponding week of the past five years, and also below the rate of the corresponding week of any of the past five years with which comparison is instituted—vide the figures below—

General remarks on the fluctuation of principal staples carried over the East Indian Railway during five weeks ended 30th August 1890.

INCREASES.

Coal and coke.—There was an increase in the weight of upwards traffic carried, attended with decreased earnings; and this was due to larger bookings of short distance coal for the Bengal and North-Western Railway; to increased despatches of short distance Umaria coal, and to a falling off of long distance traffic for the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway to Cawnpore, Agra and Delhi

The improvement in the downward traffic was from nearly all the colliery stations, and was due chiefly to demand for export to coast ports.

Turmeric.—Chiefly in despatches from Howrah to several stations on this line and the Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway.

Lac, shell and stick.—Due to a good demand for shell-lac for export to London There were also considerable despatches of stick-lac from stations on the Bengal-Nagpur Railway vid Asansol.

Oil.—Chiefly kerosine oil from Howrah to Patna.

Railway material, Foreign.—The increase under this head was chiefly in rails from Howrah to Benares, for the Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway

Other saline substances.—Chiefly hide salt from Patna to different stations on the Howrah and Sahebgunge districts.

Sugar (refined and unrefined)—There was a decrease in the weight of unrefined sugar, chiefly jaggree, from the Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway vid Aligarh to Agra and to stations on the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway passing Hathras; the slight increase in the earnings of refined sugar was in consignments booked from Howrah to the North-Western Provinces.

Bones—The increase in this commodity was principally in despatches from Mokameh Ghât, Digha Ghât, Agra and vid Mogulsarai to Bally and Sealdah.

DECREASES.

Cotton.—Due to exceptional despatches last year from Agra to some cotton mills near Calcutta, for manufacture.

Piece-goods, European.—The falling off was chiefly in despatches from Howrah owing to the condition of the import trade

Gunny.—Limited demand, owing to the dull state of the seeds and wheat markets, led to the falling off recorded under this head,

Wheat.—The falling off was chiefly in long distance despatches from the North-Western Railway and stations on the Tundla district to Howrah.

Gram and pulses.—Principally in gram and arhar from stations on the Tundla district, owing to the cold-weather crops having been injured by frosts; also in despatches from the Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway vid Moghalsarai to Howrah.

Rice (husked and unhusked).—The increase in the weight carried was chiefly in downwards despatches from stations on the Loop line to Howrah, to replenish stocks and for export. The decreased earnings were entirely in upwards consignments despatched last year from stations on the "A" district.

Government stores.—Chiefly in despatches from Howrah, Allahabad Fort, Agra and vid Delhi from stations on the Bombay, Baroda, and Central India Railway.

Brass and copper.—Principally in despatches from Howrah owing to limited demands.

Salt.—The falling off was chiefly in receipts of Kheura salt at Patna; of Sambhar salt at Hathras for stations on the Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway; and of Faraknagar salt at Delhi for stations on the North-Western Railway

Saltpetre.—From Patna and the Bengal and North-Western Railway principally to Howrah for export.

Seeds.—Chiefly in linseed to Howrah for export and in mustard-seed for local consumption in the Burdwan district.

Stone.—The falling off was principally in despatches of road metal from Pakur.

Tobacco.—Chiefly in despatches from the Tirhoot section of the Bengal and North-Western Railway to Cawnpore and Jubbulpore owing to roads in Tirhoot being impassable.

Floating Beacon, at entrance to north or Howe Channel, replaced.

THE Portmaster, Brisbane, has given notice (No. 25 of 1890) that the Floating Beacon has now been placed in the position of the Fairway Buoy which recently marked the entrance to the North or Howe Channel; and the Fairway Buoy, with staff and flag on it, has been moved to the position of the buoy which marked the western end of the East Bank; and the buoy which marked the latter has been taken away. The Floating Beacon is provided with a mast and black circular cage, the centre of the cage being about 22 feet above the water.

The Beacon is also provided with a bell.

Amended position and particulars of Quetta rock—Buoy marking wreck.

WITH reference to Notice to Mariners No. 79, dated the 10th June last, issued by this Office, the following further information has been received from the British Admiralty (No. 444 of 1890), relating to Quetta rock, the result of a recent examination:—

Quetta rock is a pinnacle, with a least depth of 2½ fathoms on it at low water, 5 fathoms close north-west, and 8 fathoms south-east, with 10 to 12 fathoms immediately around it elsewhere. From the pinnacle, the summit of Albany rock bears S. 3° E., distant $2\frac{9}{10}$ miles, and Sextant rock S. 68° W.

Position, lat. 10° 40′ 5″ S., long. 142° 38′ 5″ E.

Also a small red buoy has been placed N. 58° W. 5½ cables from Quetta rock to mark the wreck of the steamship Quetta which lies sunk in a depth of 11 fathoms.

Amended particulars of shoal ground eastward of Proudfoot shoal.

WITH reference to Notice to Mariners No. 107, dated the 29th July last, issued by this Office, the following amended particulars of shoal ground eastward of Proudfoot shoal have been received from the British Admiralty (No. 445 of 1890) :—

(1.) A pinnacle rock, composed of coral, about 50 yards in diameter, and with a depth of 4½ fathoms on it at low water, is situated with Booby island bearing S. 74° E., distant 17¾ miles.
Position, on Admiralty Chart, No. 2354, lat. 10° 30′ 15″ S., long. 141° 38′ 15″ E.

(2.) A small patch, with a depth of 6 fathoms on it at low water, is situated S.W. ½ S., nine-tenths of a mile from pinnacle rock (1).

(3.) A patch with a depth of 6½ fathoms on it was found S. by W. ½ W., 1½ miles from pinnacle rock (1).

(4.) A patch with a depth of 4 fathoms on it is situated S.W. by W. ½ W., $1\frac{8}{10}$ miles from pinnacle rock (1).

Around and between the above there is a level bottom, with depths of 8 to 9 fathoms.

Patch (4) with a depth of 4 fathoms on it is W. by N. ½ N. 3¾ miles from the rock, with about 18 feet on it, reported in Admiralty Notice to Mariners No. 243 of 1890, 15 miles W. by N. of Booby island, and it is not improbable that the two are identical, as H. M. S. Rambler was directed to verify the former report.

MUNICIPAL AND LOCAL.

NOTIFICATION.

The 29th September 1890.—It is hereby notified that, under section 25 of the Bengal Local Self-Government Act III (B.C.) of 1885, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to appoint Mr. Baroda Churun Mitter, Sub-divisional Officer, to be the Chairman of the Begusarai Local Board in the district of Monghyr.

H. J. S. COTTON,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

NOTIFICATION.

The 1st October 1890.—It is hereby notified that, under section 27, Act III (B.C.) of 1884, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to appoint Babu Bejoy Gobind Chowdhury and Mr. J. C. Mendes to be Commissioners of the Daltongunge Municipality, in the district of Lohardugga, vice Babus Khageudra Nath Sen and Gajadhur Sahu.

H. J. S. COTTON,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

NOTIFICATION.

The 1st October 1890.—It is hereby notified for general information that the Lieutenant-Governor intends, in the exercise of the power vested in him by section 86 of Act III (B.C.) of 1884, and in accordance with the recommendation of the Commissioners of the Chaibassa Municipality, in the district of Singbhoom, made at a meeting, to sanction the levy by the Commissioners of a fee on the registration, under section 142, of all carts which are kept or habitually used within the municipality, at rates not exceeding those mentioned in section 143 of the Act, unless good reasons are shown to the contrary within one month from the date of publication of this notification within the municipality.

H. J. S. COTTON,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

NOTIFICATION.

The 2nd October 1890.—It is hereby notified that the members of the Somastipore Local Board, in the district of Durbhunga, having at a meeting, under section 25 of Act III (B.C.) of 1885, requested the Lieutenant-Governor to appoint a Chairman, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased under the said section to appoint Mr. S. L. Maddox, Sub-divisional Officer, to be the Chairman of that Local Board.

H. J. S. COTTON,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

NOTIFICATION.

The 4th October 1890.—In exercise of the power conferred on the Local Government by section 414 of Act 11 (B.C.) of 1888, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to confirm the following bye-laws which have been made by the Municipal Commissioners of Calcutta under section 412, clauses (d), (e), (f), (g), (h), (i), (j), (k), (l), (m) and (n), and published in the manner prescribed in section 415 of the Act.

Section 412—(d), The conditions under which persons shall be permitted to drive registered carts.

7. He* shall give correct information about his own name, age and residence, the name and residence of the owner, the place where the cart is ordinarily kept, and such other particulars necessary to establish his own identity and that of the owner of the cart as he may be required by the Registering Officer to state at the time of each half-yearly registration.

8. He must carry with him, when plying for hire, the cart license for the then current half-year, and produce it whenever required for the inspection of all Municipal and Police Officers and the hirer of the cart.

Re-building of portion of old buildings.

1. Whenever any old masonry building has been taken down to an extent exceeding one-half of such building, such to be measured in cubic feet, the re-building of the portion thereof shall be deemed to be the erection of a new building, and such portion shall be subject to the regulations of the Act and to the bye-laws respecting new buildings.

Construction of outer walls and foundations.

2. Every masonry building shall have its outer walls constructed of brick or other hard and incombustible substance, and the foundation shall be the solid ground, or concrete, or other solid substructure on which the footings shall rest.

Footings to walls.

3. Every person who shall erect a new building shall construct every wall of such building so as to rest upon proper footings. He shall cause the projection at the widest part of the footings of every wall on each side of such wall to be at least equal to one-third of the thickness of such wall at its base, unless an adjoining wall interferes, in which case the projection may be omitted where that wall adjoins. All walls of houses intended to be used as dwelling houses shall have a damp proof course at or above the level of the ground floor.

He shall also cause the diminution of the footings to be in regular offsets, or in one offset at the top of the footings, and he shall cause the height from the bottom of the footings to the base of the wall to be at least equal to two-thirds of the thickness of the wall at its base.

All walls and return walls to be bonded together.

4. In the case of any building exceeding one storey in height, every wall shall be properly bonded and solidly put together with mortar, and no part of such wall shall overhang any part underneath it, and all return walls shall be properly bonded together.

This rule is not intended to apply to cornices or mouldings where otherwise admissible.

Thickness of walls.

5. Every wall and every return wall of such building shall be of such thickness as may be considered safe by the Commissioners having regard to the height of the buildings, the materials of which it is constructed, and the purposes to which it will be put; provided that is shall not be lawful for the Commissioners to require more than is required by Appendix I.

Support of beams and girders.

6. All beams and girders shall be supported by a sufficient breadth of brickwork, stone or other solid substance to secure the stability of such beam or girder.

Roofs, skylights, &c., to be of incombustible material

7. The roof of all buildings shall be externally covered with some incombustible material. Also every gutter shoot or trough in connection with the roof of such building shall also be constructed of incombustible materials.

8. Every person intending to construct an oil, flour or soorky mill or an iron foundry shall, at the time of applying for sanction to the erection thereof under section 236 or 247, distinctly state that the building or hut will be used for that purpose.

9. Any person obtaining approval to build under section 238 or section 247 shall construct the house or hut in accordance with the plan approved of by the Commissioners. No prosecution under this bye-law shall be commenced without the sanction of the Commissioners.

For new huts built in bustees under Section 247.

10. In any bustee when new huts are being added under section 247 to existing ranges or clusters of huts, they shall be so erected as to block up no existing roads or paths, and so as to keep as far as practicable in line with the existing main lines of huts which are to be taken as directing lines. In no case shall the roadway left between two new huts, or between a new hut and an existing hut, be less than nine feet in width.

11. If new ranges of huts are being erected they shall be built in regular lines with a road or path of a minimum breadth of nine feet between every two lines. The direction of the lines will be determined by the Commissioners in accordance with the position of the land, the preference being given to footpaths running due north and south.

12. Any road as above terminating in a cul de sac shall have a sufficient space at the end not less than 15 feet in width to enable a conservancy cart to turn round.

13. Such roads shall remain private property, but shall be kept open for the passage of conservancy carts, without thereby conveying any right of property in them to the Municipality.

* The two immediately preceding bye-laws which have already been confirmed are :—

5. When loading or unloading goods in streets which admit of the passage of two carts abreast, the carter shall rest his cart alongside of the footpath with one of its wheels touching the curb-stone.

6. He shall light his lamp as soon as it becomes dark and obey all reasonable orders of the Police on duty.

14. No new huts shall be erected at a greater distance than 100 feet from the nearest part of one of the above roads unless otherwise specially sanctioned by the Commissioners.

15. The space between the walls of any two new huts or of any new hut and any adjacent existing hut or building shall not be less than three feet for ventilation. But this rule will not apply to two or more huts built in continuation and composing one "bari."

16. Every new hut which may be built abutting on a road or footpath, whether public or private, shall be so built as not to project on the road or footpath, and also shall be so constructed as not to allow rain-water from its roof to fall upon or injure the same.

17. No new huts shall be erected unless sufficient privies have been provided to allow of at least one privy for common use to every 100 residents.

18. By section 247 every new hut must have a plinth at least two feet above the level of the centre of the nearest public road, but this will not suffice unless the ground on which it stands is also sufficiently raised to admit of surface drainage.

19. Such surface drains may be required by the Commissioners for the drainage of all new huts as the circumstances of the bustee and the position of the nearest sewer may render practicable.

20. When any new drain has to be constructed for the benefit of any hut or huts, the owners of which are tenants-at-will, notice will be served on the owner of the land, and if the drain is constructed by the Commissioners in default, he will be charged with the cost thereof, but if such drain fall into subsequent disrepair after construction, the owner of the hut or huts for whose benefit the drain was constructed shall be charged with the cost of its repair.

21. Every person who re-builds the sides and roof of any hut shall apply to the Commissioners for approval thereof under section 247.

(f). Regarding ventilation and the extent to which space must be left for the free circulation of air as required by the provisions of section 248 of Act II (B.C.) of 1888.

1. With respect to masonry buildings which are to be newly erected on any site previously unbuilt upon, the following provisions shall have effect, namely:—

The foundation of any such building shall not be constructed on any site which has been filled up with street or other refuse, unless such refuse is either properly removed or unless a period of 20 years has elapsed from the date when the refuse was deposited.

Provided that, with the consent of the General Committee, the period of 20 years may be reduced to not less than 10 years if the state of the soil after investigation is found to be such as to admit of it.

2. No new masonry building which abuts on a street of a less width than 40 feet shall be erected to a greater height than two storeys without the special consent of the Commissioners in meeting.

3. Every such building intended to be used as a dwelling shall be so constructed that the whole of at least one side of every room thereof shall either be an external wall or abut on an interior open space or on a verandah. Such interior open space shall have an area equal to not less than one-fourth of the aggregate floor area of all the rooms abutting thereon, and shall not be in any direction less than 6 feet across. Such external wall shall, where it faces a street of less than 16 feet in width, have between it and the boundary line of the owners' premises an open space of not less than 2 feet in width. At the sides it may be attached to the adjacent premises, but if not so attached at the sides and in every case at the back, it shall have a space of 4 feet along the whole side of the building between it and the boundary line of the owners' premises or between it and the inner edge of the boundary wall, if that boundary line is a wall. And every open space, whether exterior or interior, required by this clause, shall be and be kept free from any erection other than a boundary wall and shall be open to the sky, and shall be and be kept open to access from each end thereof.

4. Every open space or interior court-yard referred to in the above rule shall be raised at least one foot above the level of the nearest street, so as to admit of easy drainage into it.

5. Every room intended to be used as a dwelling room in any such building, except a room in the roof thereof, shall be in every part at least 10 feet in height from the floor to the ceiling.

6. Every such room shall have a clear superficial area of not less than 80 square feet.

7. Every such room shall be ventilated by means of doors or windows which open directly into the external air or into a verandah and have an aggregate opening equal to not less than one-fifth of the superficial area of the side of the room which faces an open space.

8. The Commissioners may exempt from the provisions of clauses (e) or (f) any particular building or class of buildings to which the rules or any particular rule may appear to them to be inapplicable.

(g). Drainage, cess-pools, privies, cow-houses and stables.

1. No privy connected or unconnected shall be constructed underneath a dwelling room.

2. All connected privies and urinals shall be constructed, so that one wall at least shall be an outer wall of the building.

3. All soil pipes shall be carried outside the building and ventilated by means of pipes leading the foul gases above the highest point of the building.

4. Separate cisterns shall be constructed for connected privies. No tap or draw-off shall be affixed to any pipe between the cisterns and the privy or urinal.

5. All waste pipes and overflow pipes of cisterns shall terminate in the open air, and be cut off from all direct communication with drains.

6. The privy room shall be thoroughly ventilated and well lighted by windows opening directly into the external air or into a verandah.

7. No person shall throw, deposit, or discharge any sewage into any river, tank, khal, watercourse, drain, or receptacle for water, or dispose of any offensive matter in any other way than as the Commissioners in meeting may from time to time direct.

8. In cases where for any special reason the Commissioners sanction the keeping of a licensed public latrine or depôt for the collection of sewage, every licensed keeper of such public latrine or depôt shall construct such public necessary or depôt in such manner and with such out-offices and appurtenances as the Commissioners shall from time to time determine No public latrine or depôt shall be closed without the sanction of the Commissioners in meeting.

9. Every keeper of a public latrine or depôt shall provide himself with such number of tubs and carts as the Commissioners may deem necessary for the stowage and removal of sewage, and such tubs and carts shall be supplied by the Commissioners at the charge of the said keepers, at such prices as the Commissioners shall from time to time fix.

10. Every keeper of a public latrine or depôt shall maintain the tubs and carts which may be supplied to him under the preceding bye-laws in good and proper order.

11. Every holder of a license for the keeping of a public latrine or depôt shall make floors, drains, and seats of his privy pucca, if required so to do by a written notice, and shall construct or provide such receptacles for the sewage as the Commissioners shall require, and shall provide a sufficient supply of water to keep the same in a cleanly state.

12. Every holder of a license for the keeping of a public latrine or depôt shall keep a register of all servants employed in the management of his latrine or depôt, and for the removal of sewage therefrom, in such form as the Commissioners shall direct, and shall produce the same when called upon, and shall supply such servants with such tickets or badges as the Commissioners shall from time to time direct.

13. Every servant so registered shall be bound to produce his ticket or badge at all times when called upon to do so by any Municipal or Police Officer duly empowered to demand the same.

14. The sewage shall be conveyed, as prescribed in bye-law 9, i.e., in tubs and by carts provided by the Commissioners, and in no other tubs and by no other carts.

15. The sewage shall be removed by such routes and through such streets only as the Commissioners may from time to time approve, and no person employed in such removal shall unnecessarily stop or delay on the said routes.

16. No night-man, sweeper, or other person carrying sewage through the streets shall loiter or deposit any vessel containing or intended to contain sewage on or by the side of any public road or street.

17. No person in charge of a cart, waggon, or carriage used for the purpose of receiving and removing sewage, shall suffer such cart, waggon, or carriage to stand, or remain in any public street, passage, highway or thoroughfare, for any longer time than shall be necessary for the loading thereof.

18. Every holder of a license for a public latrine or depôt shall convey his sewage daily to such places at such hours as the Commissioners shall decide, and shall there dispose of it in such manner as shall from time to time be directed.

19. No person shall drive any carts at night for the conveyance of sewage without a light. The driver shall be held responsible that the lamp attached shall be kept alight during the removal of the sewage until sunrise.

20. Every keeper of a licensed public latrine shall each day, after delivery at the sewage depôt, receive and convey back to his premises the tubs which may have been delivered by him on the previous day at the sewage depôt, and shall cause them to reach his premises before 8 A.M., and shall keep such tubs in such place and in such manner as the Commissioners may appoint, and in no other.

21. Every keeper of a licensed public latrine or depôt shall remove, between such hours of each day as the Commissioners may from time to time fix, the sewage which may have been collected at his public latrine or depôt during the previous twenty-four hours, to such sewage depôt as the Commissioners may from time to time notify by writing to be affixed to the said licensed public latrine or depôt, and shall there deposit the tubs as directed by the Overseer in charge of such sewage depôt.

REGULATION AND MANAGEMENT OF PRIVIES.

22. The sweepers of the Commissioners shall daily cleanse the unconnected privies of every house in Calcutta. They shall, in addition to the work of removing the sewage from the privies, daily wash the floors of the privies and otherwise clean them whenever required by the house-holder, provided that they are not to do this oftener than thrice a week, except under the special orders of the Inspector of the ward issued on the application of the house-holder.

23. Owners of connected privies may, on giving proper notice to the Inspector of his ward, have the free service of the Municipal sweepers, not oftener than once a fortnight, provided that the privy connection is not choked, in which case the owners shall be liable to pay the authorised fee.

24. Every sweeper whose business it is to remove the sewage or to perform the work aforesaid shall, for neglect or remissness in the discharge of his duties, be liable to punishment under the bye-laws.

25. Every occupier of a house, land or premises shall give free access to the servants of the Municipality to his privy for the removal of sewage within such hours as may have been fixed by the Commissioners in meeting.

26. Every person shall construct his privy at least 18 inches above the level of the centre of the nearest adjacent street, and shall provide his privy or premises with a suitable receptacle of metal or earthenware.

27. When any private privy or cess-pool is to be constructed for the first time, or any such privy or cess-pool previously constructed has to be re-constructed, a plan of the privy or cess-pool proposed to be constructed or re-constructed shall be submitted to the Commissioners, who shall signify their approval or disapproval within 30 days after receiving such plan. In cases in which no reply is given within that period, and the Commissioners require any alteration to be made, the Commissioners shall bear the actual loss incurred by the owner.

(h) The management, inspection and scale of fees to be charged for the use of places provided under the provisions of sections 341 and 345.

Applicable to all licensed Slaughter-houses.

1. Every owner, occupier or farmer of any slaughter-house within the said prescribed limits shall remove or cause to be removed, once in every twenty-four hours, any filth that may have accumulated within such period.

2. Every owner, occupier or keeper of a slaughter-house shall provide such means for the purpose of conveying away all sewage and offensive matter arising from the use of the place as a slaughter-house in such a manner, to such a place, at such interval of time, with such precautions and within such hours as may from time to time be fixed by the Commissioners.

3. No diseased animal shall be slaughtered in any such slaughter-house.

4. The owner, occupier or farmer of every registered slaughter-house shall cause the word "slaughter-house" in both English and vernacular, together with the number corresponding with the number under which the slaughter-house shall have been registered in the register kept for that purpose by the Commissioners, to be painted or otherwise inscribed to their satisfaction on, over, or at the door or entrance to such slaughter-house, and there kept and continued free from obliteration or defacement.

5. License fee for a slaughter-house Rs. 100 per annum.

Applicable to the Municipal Slaughter-houses at Tengrah.

6. All butchers and private persons shall have free access to the slaughter-houses for the purpose of slaughtering animals intended for public or private consumption, on the conditions hereinafter named.

7. Butchers or private persons intending to avail themselves of the slaughter-houses shall apply to the Commissioners for a license and a ticket for each of their assistants.

8. Licenses shall be granted on payment of Rs. 5 annually; assistant's tickets shall be granted free, and shall specify the name of the holder and of the portions of the slaughter-houses allotted to him. Such licenses or tickets are not to be transferable.

9. Every butcher and his assistant is bound to produce his license or ticket when called on by the Superintendent to do so.

10. None but the butchers, their assistants and the Municipal officers attached to the slaughter-houses shall be admitted within the premises during the process of slaughtering, skinning, or cutting up the carcasses.

11. Proper places for slaughtering animals shall be assigned by the Superintendent to the butchers or private individuals.

12. Butchers shall only be permitted to slaughter cattle at such hours as may from time to time be fixed by the Commissioners by a notification to be signed by the Superintendent, and fixed in some conspicuous place in the slaughter-house.

13. All animals shall be brought to the slaughter-houses twelve hours before the time fixed for slaughtering, and they shall be properly secured with ropes to prevent their escaping.

14. No diseased cattle shall be brought to the slaughter-houses.

15. Any cattle suspected of being diseased or presenting symptoms of disease, when brought to the slaughter-houses, shall be removed to a pen attached to the establishment, and kept under observation.

16. Animals affected with contagious diseases, when brought to the slaughter-houses, shall be seized and conducted to the Municipal Knackery or such other place as the Municipal Commissioners shall from time to time appoint, to be there destroyed and disposed of as the Commissioners shall think proper.

17. No dying or dead cattle shall be admitted into the slaughter-houses, and any such cattle brought to the slaughter-houses shall be seized and treated like animals affected with contagious diseases.

18. Cattle, which may have met with an accident rendering them unfit for further work, are excepted from the above bye-law, but they must be brought to the slaughter-house immediately after the accident.

19. All cattle being with young, or suspected to be so, shall be rejected as unfit for slaughtering purposes.

20. All surplus cattle shall be kept in the pens attached to the slaughter-houses until required for slaughtering, and no cattle shall be brought within the precincts of the slaughter-houses, except those intended for immediate slaughter.

21. All charges for the keeping of the cattle when in the pens shall be paid by the butchers, who will be allowed to feed their own cattle and to have their own servants for that purpose.

22. Butchers shall be allowed to construct sheds near the pens for the purpose of storing fodder for the cattle.

23. All carcasses shall be, after slaughtering, inspected carefully, and no carcass showing signs of contagious or other disease, shall be allowed to be removed from the slaughter-house, unless the Superintendent declares the said meat fit for food. Should a dispute arise, the matter shall be referred to the Health Officer for the Town of Calcutta whose decision shall be final.

24. No meat or offal of any animals which, after having been slaughtered, is found to be diseased or believed to be unfit for human consumption, shall be allowed to be removed. Such meat or offal shall be destroyed by order of the Superintendent of the Slaughter house, so as to prevent its introduction into the markets or bazars of Calcutta.

25. Except in cases of contagious diseases, the skin of the animal shall remain the property of the owner. After the inspection of the carcasses, if the meat is considered sound and fit food for man, such carcasses shall be stamped over the body, after the skinning process has been completed by the Superintendent, and before they are quartered or cut.

26. To avoid confusion and fraud in the quality of meat, carcasses shall be divided into three classes.

27. The stamps affixed to the meat shall be of different colours, and numbered 1, 2, 3.

28. The skins, entrails and offal of slaughtered cattle shall be collected in the offal room, there to be washed and cleaned before their removal.

29. All refuse or offal rejected by the butchers shall be deposited by them or their assistants in the offal trucks.

30. The solid contents of the entrails shall not be allowed to be washed into the sewers, but shall be removed by the butchers or their assistants into the offal truck.

31. Butchers using the slaughter-houses shall slaughter their cattle immediately over the saucers so as to prevent the blood of the animal from flowing upon the floor.

32. Each butcher shall cause the portion of the floor of the slaughter-house allotted to him to be carefully washed immediately after the slaughtering of each animal.

33. No skins, entrails or other offal shall be allowed to remain in the slaughter-houses after such hours as the Superintendent, with the sanction of the Commissioners, shall fix.

34. All the offal, entrails, &c., left at the slaughter-houses by the butchers or their assistants shall be disposed of as common offal.

35. Skins, offal, entrails, &c., left at the slaughter-houses after the hour fixed by the Superintendent without this officer's sanction shall be considered as abandoned, and shall become the property of the Commissioners, who may dispose of them as they shall think fit.

36. Butchers shall not be permitted to sell meat in the slaughter-house premises, but may sell the offal and skin within the yard, but no purchaser of the above material shall be on any account admitted within the building.

37. Meat, entrails, and offal shall be removed in covered carts or baskets; but the Superintendent of the slaughter-houses or his assistants shall be bound to inspect daily the said carts or baskets, and see that they are kept clean.

38. Butchers or private individuals using the slaughter-houses shall be responsible for any damage done to the slaughter-houses, either by their own act or the act of their servants, and any butcher or private person using the slaughter-houses refusing to pay for such damage done to the property of the Commissioners shall have his slaughtering license cancelled, and the amount of such damage shall be recoverable by suit.

39. The blowing of carcasses by means of insufflation by persons employed for that purpose, as it is at present practised in native slaughter-houses, is strictly forbidden.

40. No person affected with leprosy, sores or other diseases of the skin shall be permitted to enter the slaughter-houses.

41. No dogs shall be admitted into the slaughter houses. All dogs found there shall be made over to the Police to be dealt with as stray dogs.

42. Any person working in the slaughter-houses is forbidden to make any noise, to fight or quarrel, or to use insulting, abusive or obscene language, and any person contravening this bye-law shall be turned out of the slaughter-houses by the Superintendent or his assistants.

43. Servants employed by the Commissioners in the slaughter-houses are forbidden to ask or receive any gratuity in money or otherwise.

44. There shall be a sufficient number of mollahs and a rabbi entertained at a slaughter-house, who shall be under the immediate control of the Commissioners and the Health Officer of Calcutta, and no persons except such as are so entertained shall be permitted to perform their duties.

45. The fees payable for each animal slaughtered at the suburban slaughter-houses are detailed in the following Schedule:—

Schedule of fees payable for each animal slaughtered at the new public slaughter houses.

Cows ...	... 1st class at 4 annas.
Do ...	... 2nd „ at 2 „

APPLICABLE TO ALL REGISTERED AND LICENSED MARKETS.

Markets, bazars, and slaughter-houses to be kept clean.

1. No owner, occupier or farmer of any market for sale of butcher's meat, poultry, fish or vegetables or of any slaughter-house within the limits of Calcutta shall keep, or allow the same to be kept, in a filthy or unclean state.

Filth to be removed every twenty-four hours.

2. Every owner, occupier or farmer of any market within the said limits shall remove, or cause to be removed, once in every twenty-four hours, any filth, putrifying obnoxious matter that may have accumulated within such period.

Thoroughfares not to be obstructed.

3. No resident, owner, occupier or farmer of any market within the said limits, or of any portion thereof, shall in any way obstruct, or allow to be obstructed, any of the lanes, walks, gangways, or other thoroughfares within such market or bazar by exposing for sale or accumulating, or allowing to be exposed for sale or accumulated, in any such lane, walk, gangway, or thoroughfare, any package or any other materials whatever.

Bazar to be provided with proper conveniences.

4. Every owner, occupier or farmer of any market shall, within fourteen days after he shall have received notice from the Commissioners so to do, provide such urinal or latrine as in the opinion of the Commissioners may be necessary for the cleanliness and health of the said market, and the site and construction of which shall be approved by the Commissioners.

5. No owner, occupier or farmer of, or vendor in, any market or shop shall sell, or expose, or permit to be exposed for sale, or admit into, or permit to remain in, any such market or shop any noxious meat or fish or decomposed vegetable matter, but such owner, occupier or farmer shall, without any delay, cause such meat, fish or vegetable matter to be at once removed to a place to be notified to him by the Commissioners.

Prohibition against sale or exposure of offensive articles of food.

6. No owner, occupier or farmer of, or vendor in, any market or shop shall obstruct any person appointed by the Commissioners for that purpose from entering and inspecting any such premises at any time between sunrise and sunset.

Persons appointed by the Commissioners not to be obstructed from entering and inspecting markets or shops.

7. The proprietor of every licensed market shall construct and maintain such huts, sheds, stalls, pens or standings and other structures for the accommodation of the sheep, cattle and pigs offered for sale as he may be required to do in writing, and of which due notice shall have been given to him by the Commissioners.

Huts, shed, &c., to be constructed and maintained for the comfort and safety of sheep, &c.

7a. No person shall sell or expose for sale meat or fish in any place which is not a municipal, registered or licensed market, or a shop licensed under section 356, Act II (B. C.) of 1888, or a licensed hotel or eating house.

8. No tenant of a market and no person resorting to it shall satisfy a call of nature or commit any other nuisance within the limits of the market, in any other place within the market or its approaches, except in a urinal or latrine provided for that purpose.

Nuisance.

9. No person suffering from leprosy or other loathsome disease shall be allowed to keep a stall in any market, or be employed in any way in the preparation or sale of food in such market.

10. No person resorting to any market, or being in charge of any vehicle, waggon, cart or truck, or any horse or other beast of burden, shall cause or allow such vehicle or beast to stand in any avenue or passage in the market, or in any of the immediate approaches thereto, for any longer time than shall be reasonably necessary for getting in or out of such vehicle, or loading or unloading such waggon, cart or truck.

Obstruction of road way

SPECIALLY APPLICABLE TO THE MUNICIPAL MARKET.

11. With the exception specified below, no person shall work for hire as bazar cooly within the limits of the Municipal Market who is not duly licensed for this purpose by the Commissioners, or by such officers as they may authorize to grant licenses to bazar coolies.

12. A register of licensed coolies shall be kept up in the Office of the Market Superintendent, which shall be open to the inspection of any member of the Market Committee, during office hours on all days except Sundays and close holidays.

13. A licensed cooly shall wear a badge and such other distinctive dress as shall enable every person frequenting the market to know that he is licensed, and shall wear on his arm or in some other conspicuous place a number corresponding with his number in the register of licensed coolies.

14. No person other than a licensed cooly shall wear a badge, distinctive dress or number indicated in the preceding rule.

15. Licensed coolies shall be charged such sum for the badge and other distinctive dress referred to above as the Market Committee shall from time to time prescribe.

16. Sirdars shall be appointed to preserve order and discipline among the licensed coolies, and prevent their harassing the public, and shall be remunerated by salaries met by contributions to be paid by the coolies monthly as a condition of the continuance of their license. The contribution shall be such sum not exceeding six annas per mensem as may from time to time be fixed by the Market Committee. Provided that not more than one sirdar shall be appointed to 25 licensed coolies.

17. These rules shall not apply to prevent servants employed by persons frequenting the market to carry purchases made by them.

18. The Market Committee may, for special reasons to be recorded by them, refuse to allow any particular person to act as a private cooly if they think that the employment of such person within the limits of the market is inexpedient.

19. No person having large open and exposed sores, or who is afflicted with leprosy or other loathsome or contagious disease, shall enter the market, or touch any article for sale in the market, and any such person may be expelled from the market by the Superintendent or his assistant.

Leprosy and other contagious diseases.

20. No person shall bring a dog into the market.

Dogs.

21. No vendor in the market shall smoke in his stall, and no vendor or other person shall cook in the market without special permission.

Smoking and cooking.

22. No one shall create a disturbance in the market by singing or beating of tom-toms, or by other musical instruments, or by quarrelling, or by using abusive language.

Disturbance.

23. Every tenant or occupier, or servant of a tenant or occupier, of any building or stall in the market shall extinguish, or caused to be extinguished, every fire or light in such building or stall before leaving it, and no fire or light shall be permitted which is dangerous to the safety of the building or stall.

Fire and lights.

24. Every tenant or occupier of any building or stall in the market shall cause such building or stall to be properly cleansed between the hours of 4 and 5 P.M., and no refuse shall be thrown out at any other time, but shall be placed in baskets or such other receptacles convenient for removal by the market sweepers.

Cleaning of shops and stalls.

25. A tenant or occupier of any building or stall in the market shall not cause or allow any goods, provisions or articles to be deposited or exposed for sale in or upon such building or stall, so that such goods, provisions, or articles, or any part thereof, shall project beyond the line of such building or stall.

Expulsion.

26. The Superintendent and his subordinates may expel from the market premises any person who is found drunk or begging or loitering, or who misconducts himself, or is a lunatic, and if such person is a tenant or his servant may (subject to the approval of the Chairman) prevent him from further carrying on any trade or business in the market or occupying any shop or stall therein.

A vendor guilty of assault may be expelled from the market and prevented from further carrying on any trade or business or occupying any shop or stall in the market.

27. All vendors or their servants or agents shall obey all reasonable orders of the Superintendent, but shall have the right of appealing against such order to the Market Committee.

Market limits.

28. The Municipal Market for the purposes of these rules shall include all the land, together with the buildings thereon, belonging to the Commissioners, which has been or may hereafter be assigned by them for the purposes of the Municipal Market; also all roads and vacant land which are included within these limits.

(j). The inspection of places used for any of the purposes mentioned in section 846, and the management and conduct of business in the same.

1. Every blood boiler, bone boiler, manure manufacturer, soap boiler or tallow melter shall cause every boiler, mixer, or other vessel from which any offensive or noxious vapour or gas may be evolved in any operation or process of his business to be properly covered, and in all other respects to be so constructed and used as to cause all such vapour or gas to be effectually conveyed into or through a furnace-fire or otherwise, before passing into the external atmosphere.

2. Every blood boiler, bone boiler, manure manufacturer, soap boiler, or tallow melter shall cause every room, chamber, or other place which may be used for the purpose of receiving or storing any manufactured product, residue, or other matter, from which any offensive vapour or gas may be evolved, to be furnished with suitable appliances, so constructed and used as to effectually prevent the escape of such vapour or gas into the external atmosphere. He shall at all times adopt such precautions, and employ such means as may be necessary to cause all such vapour or gas to be conveyed into or through a furnace-fire, or to be so condensed as to be effectually destroyed or rendered harmless and inoffensive.

3. Every blood boiler, bone boiler, manure manufacturer, soap boiler, or tallow melter shall cause all materials, manufactured product, residue, refuse, or other matter used on or in connection with the premises where his business is carried on, from which any offensive vapour or gas may be evolved, to be received or stored in rooms, chambers, or other places so constructed that there may be no opening from such rooms, chambers, or other places into the external atmosphere.

4. Every blood boiler, bone boiler, manure manufacturer, soap boiler, or tallow melter shall afford free access to every part of the premises where his business is carried on to every Commissioner or to any servant of the Corporation duly authorized by writing under the hand of the Secretary of the said Commissioners, at any reasonable time during the hours within which such business may be in operation.

(k). Theatres and other places of public resort, recreation and amusement.

THEATRES.

1. No theatre or other building erected as a place of public amusement shall be constructed more than two tiers or storeys in height, that is, with a ground and upper floor, without the express permission of the Commissioners in meeting.

2. Such buildings shall have such direct means of ingress and egress as the Commissioners may, from time to time, require, and if the Commissioners consider at any time that the means of ingress or egress are insufficient, such additional means shall be provided as the Commissioners may direct.

3. A plan of every such theatre or other place of public amusement, showing clearly all ordinary means of ingress and egress as well as any additional means reserved for an emergency, shall be deposited in the office of the Commissioners, and may be inspected by any person desirous to see the same on payment of Re 1.

4. In submitting for sanction a proposal to erect any theatre or place of public amusement, it shall be necessary to state the nature of the water-supply available in case of fire, and the distance from the nearest hydrant.

5. Every theatre or other place of public resort shall have such latrine accommodation as the Commissioners may from time to time require.

MUNICIPAL SQUARES.

6. No person shall enter a Municipal square after the gates are closed for the night or before they are opened in the morning, or at any other time when the square may be closed to the public.

7. No person using any Municipal square shall commit a disturbance there or behave so as to annoy other persons lawfully using the square.

8. The Municipal squares are open to the public generally during the hours of daylight and until the gates are closed for the night, subject to the condition of good behaviour and conformity to the rules.

9. No person using any Municipal square with a tank in it may bathe in such tank or do any other act tending to foul the water thereof.

10. No person using any Municipal square shall commit any nuisance therein.

11. No person using any Municipal square shall pluck plants or flowers without the leave of the Commissioners, or do any injury to the trees and shrubs in the square.

12. No person using any Municipal square shall bring a dog into it, or shall drink any wine or intoxicating drink within the limits of the square.

18. No person shall fish in any public square without a permit from the Commissioners or from their lessee.

N.B.—The mallees or custodians of any Municipal square are authorised to expel therefrom any person violating any of the above bye-laws.

N. B.—These bye-laws are to be printed in large letters in English and in the vernacular, and posted in a conspicuous part of every square.

(1) LODGING-HOUSES.

1. All common lodging-houses shall require to be licensed before being used as such. No lodging-house shall be licensed unless it conforms to the rules and regulations as regards cubic space, light, ventilation, cleansing and other sanitary conditions hereinafter mentioned.

2. All common lodging-houses shall be subject to inspection during the night or day by Police Inspectors and Inspectors of the Sanitary Department specially deputed for that purpose.

3. The cubic space of every sleeping room shall be at least 800 cubic feet for each inmate.

4. Every room shall have hung on its wall a printed ticket stating the number of persons allotted to the room. Any overcrowding or excess of the number allotted shall be an infringement of the bye-laws.

5. There shall be a proper supply of filtered water in the house.

6. There shall be proper accommodation for bath-room purposes.

7. There shall be one privy for every 10 inmates

8. No privy shall be allowed under any dwelling room, or so situated as to be near the windows of any dwelling room. The privy shall be lighted, ventilated, constructed and cleansed to the satisfaction of the Sanitary Inspectors.

9. All the rooms shall be thoroughly cleansed once a day before 11 A M. Every room, bath-room and privy shall be thoroughly white-washed twice in a year—(1) on the 1st of March, (2) on the 1st of October of each year, and more frequently if the person responsible for its management be called upon to do so by the Superintendent of the Sanitary Department.

10. The light, ventilation, and other sanitary arrangement of every room shall be to the satisfaction of the Superintendent of the Sanitary Department.

11. After two convictions for infringement of rules and regulations, the license shall be withdrawn and the lodging-house closed.

(2) PUBLIC LAUNDRIES.

1. The owner or occupier of every public laundry shall keep and maintain the premises used by him for any of the purposes of his business in proper repair and condition; and all buildings and huts used by him therefor shall be paved, drained, lighted and ventilated to the satisfaction of the Commissioners.

2. The owner or occupier of every public laundry shall keep a register, which shall be open to the inspection of the Health Officer, or Medical Inspector, of the names and addresses of all his constituents and of all persons engaged in the conduct of his business, and he shall prohibit any person suffering from any infectious, contagious, loathsome or epidemic disease from entering the laundry, or any part thereof, or from taking part in the business carried on thereat.

3. It shall be lawful for the Commissioners from time to time to enter into and upon any laundry in order to view the condition thereof, and whenever they see occasion for it, they shall cause all clothing and other articles found in any laundry, or in any part thereof, to be thoroughly and efficiently disinfected.

4. Any laundry or part thereof which is certified by the Health Officer to be unfit for the purposes of the business carried on thereat, or to be a nuisance within the meaning of this Act, shall, on the expiration of one month from the service by the Commissioners of a notice in writing in that behalf, cease to be used as a laundry, and any person who, after the expiration of such month, shall continue to use the premises as a laundry, or shall suffer them to be so used, shall be liable to a penalty which shall not be less than ten rupees and not to exceed one hundred rupees.

(3) LICENSED COW-HOUSES, &c.

1. Every new cow-house, cattle-shed and stable shall be a detached building and not within 15 feet of any other inhabited building, and shall be provided with a paved passage behind the manger at least 3 feet in width.

2. Before beginning to build, the sanction of the Commissioners shall be obtained, and with the application a plan of the premises and sections of the building in which it is proposed to carry on the business shall be sent in for approval, and the plan shall show the provision made or proposed to be made for the drainage, lighting, ventilation and water-supply of the same, and shall also furnish a site plan of the locality showing the buildings and streets within 50 feet of the premises.

3. Every cowhouse, cattle-shed and stable or building in which an animal is kept shall be, subject to section 335, properly lighted and ven ilated by the owner to the satisfaction of the Commissioners.

4 Every cow-house, cattle-shed, stable or building, &c., shall be well paved by the owner with asphalte, iron stone, bricks, flag stones set in cement, or other suitable impermeable material, and shall have a channel or gutter sloping towards a gully or cess-pool which shall be situated outside the shed.

5. Every cow-shed, &c., shall be provided by the owner with an adequate supply of water. If a cistern is used, it shall be situated outside the shed, and its waste pipe shall terminate in the open air and be cut off from all direct communication with the drains.

6. No wells shall be allowed on the cow-shed premises except with the permission of the Commissioners.

7. Every shed shall be provided on the outside, but protected from the rain, with an iron bin or receptacle for the reception of dung or other refuse. All cowdung retained for the preparation of cakes shall be kept in this bin, and not allowed to accumulate on the ground.

8. Every person occupying a cow-shed shall keep in it only such number of cows as shall be specified in his license. The space for each cow shall not be less than 800 cubic feet; no height of the shed in excess of 15 feet shall be taken into account in estimating the cubic space. The stalls for single cows shall not be less than 4 feet in width and a double stall for cows shall not be less than 7 feet 6 inches in width. The stall partitions if any shall not extend in front line of the manger, and shall leave a clear open space above the manger.

9. Every shed shall be kept clean to the satisfaction of the Commissioners.

10. Every cow-shed, &c., shall be thoroughly flushed and cleansed twice a day; the first time before 7 A.M., each day.

11. Every person occupying a cow-shed shall cause all dung manure to be removed daily in a properly constructed vehicle before 7 A.M.

N.B.—A person who has paid his trade refuse fees shall be held to have discharged his liability under this bye-law.

12. No person occupying a cow-shed shall allow it to be used for any purpose other than that for which it is licensed, or shall keep or permit to be kept therein any fowl or any pig.

13. Every person occupying a cow-shed shall give notice in writing within 24 hours to the Inspector of the Ward in which the cow-house, &c., is situated of the existence of any contagious or infectious or dangerous disease amongst his cows.

14. These bye-laws shall not, without the express order of the Commissioners in meeting, apply to any cow-house in which less than 5 cows are kept.

(4) LICENSED STABLES.

15. Everything hereinbefore contained relating to the lighting, drainage, ventilation, cleansing, paving and water-supply of cow-sheds and dairies shall apply to stables in which more than six horses or draught cattle or any buffaloes are stalled, and the owners and occupiers of such stables shall be liable to the penalties hereinbefore provided for breaches of the provisions of this Act by the owners and occupiers of cow-sheds and dairies.

(m). Securing the cleanliness of milk-stores, milk-shops and milk-vessels used for keeping or conveying milk.

1. Every cow-keeper selling milk shall keep the milk in a separate dairy or milk-house, and such dairy or milk-house shall be used for no other purpose and shall be properly lighted, ventilated and paved to the satisfaction of the Commissioners, and shall not communicate directly with any drain or be so placed that the effluvia from any manure heaps or the like can penetrate into it.

2. The walls, shelves and flooring of every dairy shall be kept constantly clean, and all vessels in such dairy shall be properly washed and kept in a state of complete cleanliness.

3. No occupation productive of dust or smell of any kind shall be carried on in any such room used for the sale or storage of milk.

4. No person suffering from any loathsome, contagious, or infectious disease shall engage in keeping or conveying milk for sale, or shall enter any dairy or milk-store.

5. Every person occupying a milk store shall provide for use therein a sufficient number of receptacles made of non-absorbent material for the reception, storage and delivery of milk, and shall cause them to be at all times kept thoroughly cleansed and purified, and shall cause all milk to be removed without delay from the cowshed to a properly paved, lighted and ventilated dairy room.

(n). The inspection and management of burial and burning grounds.

1. All graves must be at least six feet in depth, but no masonry grave constructed after the 1st of September 1886 shall be used for a second interment unless there is space for five feet of earth between the top of the second coffin and the surface of the ground. For masonry graves constructed before that date, three feet of earth shall suffice as heretofore.

2. No person shall build or dig, or cause to be built or dug, a grave in any burial-ground at a less distance than two feet from any other existing grave.

3. No person shall build or dig, or cause to be built or dug, a grave in any burial place in any other line than that specially marked out by the Superintendent to the Burial Board for the purpose; or, in the case of cemeteries not under any Burial Board, by the Commissioners.

4. No grave other than a masonry grave shall be opened for a second interment within a period of ten years, without the special permission of the Burial Board, or, in the case of cemeteries not under the Board, by the Commissioners.

5. No one shall carry a corpse, or part of a corpse, through any highway unless it be decently covered and concealed from public view.

6. The Commissioner of Police shall have power to order the exhumation of bodies whenever such exhumation is deemed necessary by him for police purposes, informing the Burial Board when the disinterment is in any cemetery under their control. In all other cases, the sanction shall be given by the Burial Board, or in the case of cemeteries not under any Burial Board, by the Commissioners.

7. No person, while carrying any corpse, or part of a corpse, through the precincts falling within municipal limits, shall deposit it on or near any public highway except for the purpose of ordinary relief.

8. No person shall cause to be removed any corpse, or part of a corpse, that has been kept or used for purposes of dissection, otherwise than in a close vehicle, and in such manner as may prevent any offensive odour, and at such hours as may be fixed by the Commissioners in meeting.

N B.—Rules 1, 2 and 4 shall not apply to the interment of Mohamedans or Hindus unless specially made applicable to them by the Mohamedan Burial Board.

FOR BURNING CORPSES AT THE BURNING GHATS.

1. The Sub-Registrar of every municipal burning-ghât shall live in the immediate vicinity of the ghât, and shall cause a board, containing his name and official designation, to be placed in some conspicuous portion of his dwelling house.

2. Every corpse brought to a burning-ghât, without being accompanied by a certificate in the form prescribed in section 190, Act II (B.C.) of 1888, shall we examined forthwith by the Sub-Registrar, without touching the corpse, who, upon being satisfied that death has resulted from natural causes, shall enter, without fee, in the register kept for the purpose, the particulars specified in the abovementioned form, every such entry being made in order from the beginning to the end of the book. When a corpse is accompanied by a certificate from a Register or Medical Officer, the Sub-Registrar shall file such certificate, and then permit the corpse to be burnt.

3. If the Sub-Registrar has any reason to suspect that death has not resulted from natural causes, he shall send immediate intimation thereof to the nearest police-station, and in the meantime withhold permission to have the corpse burnt. Where there is no reason for such suspicion, the corpse shall be burnt within four hours after its arrival.

4. The Sub-Registrar shall see that no corpse, or portion of a corpse, shall on any account be allowed to be thrown into the river. He shall take particular care that no corpse, or portion of a corpse, except the navel, shall remain without being completely reduced to ashes, or be removed in any other condition. The charge to be made for the burning of a body will be on a scale laid down by the Commissioners.

5. The Sub-Registrar shall submit to the Health Officer a weekly return every Monday of all deaths registered at the ghât. This return shall contain the particulars specified in schedule 11 of Act II (B.C.) of 1888, and shall be accompanied by the certificates granted by the several Registrars or medical men during the week separately arranged in different bundles according to the several wards to which they relate.

6. The Sub-Registrar shall be very careful to see that all the belongings of a corpse, such as clothes, mats, bed and bedding, &c, brought with the corpse, are burnt, and none of the aforesaid things shall on any account be allowed to be removed from the ghât by the Domes or any other person. This prohibition shall not apply to any shawl or other valuable apparel brought with dead bodies.

7. Corpses may be burnt both during the day and night, but the Sub-Registrar in charge of the ghât shall see that the ashes and sweepings are removed daily, and that the burning-ghât is always kept clean.

8. The Sub-Registrar shall allow persons to burn the corpses of their friends and relatives, each according to the rites of his religion, without any interference.

9. No child or fœtus is allowed to be buried on the riverside.

10. The Domes in charge are strictly prohibited to drink spirituous liquors within the burning-ground enclosure, or to be in a drunken state when on duty. The Sub-Registrar shall see that this rule is strictly enforced. He shall also remove from the burning-ghât all persons who are drunk or disorderly.

11. All persons connected with the burning-ghât must be civil and attentive to those who come there to have dead bodies burnt.

12. All remains of corpses, which have been dissected, as also those upon which a Coroner's inquest has been held, shall be brought to the ghât in a closed vehicle and burnt at night.

13. The contractor, who supplies the necessaries for burning corpses, shall not be allowed to charge more than the rates specified below.

14. The Brahmin shall not demand any fee, gratuity or reward other than that authorized by the Commissioners for the performance of the necessary religious rites, and it shall be his duty to attend immediately on being sent for at all hours of the day or night, and to officiate as priest and cause the performance of the ceremony, and he shall be considered to be a servant of the Commissioners for the purpose of this rule.

15. The Brahmin shall on no pretence enter within the walled enclosure of the burning-ground, except when called by the relatives of deceased persons to officiate as priest, nor shall he remain therein after his services are completed.

16. Should the Brahmin demand any fee, reward or gratuity of any kind whatever in excess of the fee fixed in the tariff, or enter the enclosure except when sent for, or remain therein after his services have been completed, or after he has been required by the Sub-Registrar or other officer of the Municipality to quit the same, or fail to attend when sent for, he shall be liable to dismissal at the discretion of the Commissioners and to be ejected from the burning-ground. Provided always that no person coming to burn a corpse will be prevented from bringing with him his family priest should he prefer to have the cremation ceremony performed by him. In such a case, however, the party who brings his own priest to the burning-ground shall be bound to allow the Brahmin his usual fee.

17. The contractor shall at all times keep on hand a sufficient supply of fuel and the other necessary articles named in the tariff; should he fail to do so, or neglect, or refuse to supply the same at any hour of day or night, or fail to keep his shop open at all times for the purpose of supplying the same, or use false or short weights, or supply inferior or unsuitable articles or create any disturbance within the limits of the Commissioners' lands, his license shall be cancelled, and he shall be summarily ejected from the land and be further liable to criminal prosecution as a trespasser.

18. Persons coming to the ghât for burning dead bodies shall be bound to purchase all the articles named, and the quantities specified in the tariff, from the contractor. But they will be at liberty to provide themselves with whatever else they may require for cremation, as also all the articles therein named but in excess of the quantities specified in the tariff, or, when the contractor fails to supply them, from wheresoever they like; and the contractor shall not on any account interfere with persons bringing articles for burning dead bodies from outside.

19. The schedule of rates fixed by the Commissioners is given below:—

20. The Sub-Registrar shall be held responsible that the above rules are strictly carried into effect at the ghât.

N. B.—A copy of these bye-laws in the Bengali, Hindi, Uriya and English languages shall be hung up on a board in a conspicuous place by the side of the entrance to the burning-ghât.

FOR PAUPER CREMATION.

1. When the Sub-Registrar at Shanugger or Kassy Mitter's Burning-ghat shall be satisfied after due enquiry that the deceased died without any means of subsistence, he shall allow the corpse to be burnt at the cost of the Corporation.

2. During the dissecting season the Sub-Registrar shall, if directed by the Health Officer, send such corpse to the Medical College for dissection.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT,—BENGAL.

DISTRICT ROAD FUND.

NOTIFICATION No. 854.

Dated Calcutta, the 7th October 1890.

THE subjoined Annual Report and Accounts of the District Road Committee of the district of Darjeeling for the year 1889-90, are published for general information.

W. B. BESTIC,
Under-Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 49, dated Darjeeling, the 30th June 1890.

From—J. G. RITCHIE, Esq., Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee, and Deputy Commissioner of Darjeeling,

To—The Commissioner of the Rajshahye Division.

UNDER section 179 of Act IX (B. C.) of 1880 I have the honour to submit in duplicate the following Report on the Administration of the Road Fund of this district during the cess year ending 31st March 1890, together with detailed accounts of income and expenditure for that period duly examined by the Sub-Committee of Audit and passed by the District Road Committee at a special meeting held on the 28th June 1890.

2. The balance at credit of the fund on 1st April 1889 was Rs. 10,411-11-2, and the receipts under the several heads during the year under review made up a grand total of Rs. 86,579 5-5 including the balance The total expenditure during that period was Rs. 81,124-1-7, leaving a closing balance of Rs. 5,455-3-10.

3. Assessment and collection.—During the year under report, out of the current demand of Rs. 16,631, Rs. 1,077 had been realised in advance during the previous year, and Rs. 15,554 collected during the year, leaving nothing unrealized at the close of the year. A further sum of Rs. 930, collected in advance for following years, made up a total collection of Rs. 16,484.

4. Working of the Committee.—The number of meetings of the District Road Committee held during the year was four. The average attendance was 3 25 out of 8 official and 5 25 out of 17 non-official members. The Terai Branch Committee met six times during the above period, and the average attendance, as reported by the Vice-Chairman, was two out of five official and five out of 15 non-official members. The average percentage of attendance was 34 for the District Committee and 35 for the Branch Committee.

5. List of roads.—During the year under report two new roads, numbered as 13A and 14A, and named Nagri to Sukiapokri and Gumtee to Mamring, respectively, were taken over by the Committee and added to the list of roads, and Government has been asked to revise the printed schedule accordingly.

6. Public works.—(a) Original.—Construction of a steel-wire suspension bridge on the river Little Rungeet at Pulbazar, at the site of the old bridge washed away by the flood of 1887, which had been taken in hand in the previous year and completed during the year under report, at a cost of Rs. 13,112-4-7, was the only work under this head that was carried on by the Committee. The amount originally estimated and sanctioned by the Local Government was Rs. 6,236. The actual cost having exceeded the estimated amount by about Rs. 6,000, and the Committee being without funds to pay off the excess, Government has been asked to make a grant of Rs. 6,000 to enable the Committee to discharge their liabilities. An explanation of this excess expenditure has already been submitted in this office No. 6, dated 10th April 1890.

(b) Repairs.—Rupees 2,471-15-2 were spent on hill roads and Rs. 2 770-5 on Terai roads, making a total expenditure of Rs. 5,242-4-2. Besides the above, a further sum of Rs. 1,052-4-1 was spent on village roads (surface tracks, class V of the printed list of roads) in the Terai, and Rs. 1-5-9-7 in repairing three bridges in the Hills. The repairs to the Hill roads were executed by the planter members of the Committee.

Out of the hill and Terai roads none was under the charge of the late District Engineer, who confined his whole attention to erecting the bridge at Pulbazar. The Terai roads, like the hill ones, were apportioned to the several members of the sub-committee, the Vice-Chairman of the Terai Branch Committee exercising, as usual, supervision over the expenditure on their maintenance

7. Arboriculture.—The whole of the work under this head was undertaken by the Darjeeling Improvement Fund, there being no expenditure whatever incurred by the Committee.

8. Working of the Cess Act.—The cess was levied as last year, at the maximum rate, and the results of the year were very satisfactory, the percentage of collections having amounted to 100 per cent. on the demands.

9. Establishment.—Owing to the very reduced state of the income of the Committee and the excessive expenditure incurred on account of the Pulbazar bridge, the Committee could no longer pay the District Engineer. His services were therefore, as proposed in Resolution 6 of the members at their meeting held on the 30th December 1889, and sanctioned under Bengal Government letter No. 1326E., dated 27th March 1890, dispensed with after 31st March 1890.

10. Inspection of accounts.—The accounts of the Committee were inspected by the Local Auditor on the 1st instant His notes on the inspection have not been received yet.

EXPLANATORY MEMORANDUM ACCOMPANYING THE ANNUAL ACCOUNTS.

RECEIPTS.

Provincial Rates.

THE decrease in the collection of "cess on lands" and "cess on mines" is due to the revaluation of certain estates in the district.

The small increase in income under the head "contribution to communications out of 10 per cent. collections from Government and other estates" calls for no explanation.

EXPENDITURE.

Administration.

(a) A sum of Rs. 30 had been provided for office rent in the original budget estimate, as had hitherto been done, at the rate of Rs. 2-8 per mensem. The rent was being paid at the above rate up to November 1889, when a letter from the Executive Engineer, Darjeeling Division, re-assessing the two rooms occupied by the Chairman and the Cess Collection Office at Rs. 40 per mensem, and a bill for the amount calculated at the above rate, were received in this office. The letter being laid before the meeting held on the 18th of January 1890, it was ordered that a reference on the subject be made to Government, the Committee at the same time providing a further sum of Rs. 410 out of reserve in case of refusal and remission, and obtaining sanction of the Commissioner to this under his letter No. 128P.Wct., dated 15th March 1890.

The excess of Rs. 77-14-10 over the estimated figures on account of percentage cost of office of account and control is owing to its having been levied on the income of the fund for the preceding year, which has this year been reduced by about Rs. 5,000 in consequence of Darjeeling-Himalayan Railway having been exempted from the payment of cesses by Government Notification dated 22nd January 1889.

Public Works.

(b) Original.—Rs. 5,622 have been provided during the current year out of the total estimated amount for construction of the Pulbazar bridge, the balance Rs. 500 having been expended during the previous year. Babu Gopal Lal Banerjee, the late District Engineer, who was in charge of the work, submitted his completion report in December last, from which it was seen that the work cost the Committee more than double the amount originally estimated for it. The responsibility for this excess expenditure lay entirely with the District Engineer, who made no report to the Committee when he found the work would cost more than the estimate. He was censured by the Committee at their meeting held on the 30th December 1889. An explanation for this excess was immediately called for from him, and the Committee were compelled to allot the whole balance of the reserve to the payments due on account of this work; but as the reserve was insufficient to pay off the whole of their liabilities, they asked Government for a grant-in-aid to enable them to pay off their debts (vide Commissioner's No 108P.Wct., dated 15th March 1890, and this office Nos. 180 and 22, dated 17th January and 13th June 1890, respectively.)

(c) Repairs.—The repairs to the newly-acquired road Goomtee to Mamring having become necessary, the Committee provided out of reserve Rs. 50 for it, which was sanctioned under Commissioner's No 108P.Wct., dated 15th March 1890.

(d) The expenditures on these heads were provided for with the approval of the Committee from the Terai reserve, and sanction to them was accorded by Commissioner's No. 66P.W., dated 26th May 1890.

As reported last year, the advances which were then made, but which remained outstanding, were adjusted this year, with the single exception of Rs. 500 advanced to Mr. F. B. Baker by the Terai Branch Committee. The Vice-Chairman of the Terai Branch Committee has been asked to call for an explanation from Mr. Baker.

The construction of the bridge at Pulbazar left the Committee without funds, and the Committee were unable to make the usual grant to the Terai until very late in the year, consequently a number of allotments for Terai roads remained out-standing on the books of the Committee. The Committee will adjust them during the current year.

A. WERNICKE,
Vice-Chairman.

No. 55P.Wct., dated Camp Rampore Bauleah, the 2nd August 1890.

From—E. E. LOWIS, ESQ., C.S., Commissioner of the Rajshahye Division,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department.

I HAVE the honour to forward herewith, in original, the report and account of the Road Cess Committee of the Darjeeling district for the financial year 1889-90.

Chittagong Collectorate, the 20th August 1890. C. G. H. ALLEN, Covtd. Dy. Collr. in charge.

NOTICE is hereby given that the undermentioned plots of lands, no longer required by Government, situated along the Western or Bettiah Extension of the Tirhoot State Railway, in the district of Chumparun, will be sold as follows :—

Plots 51 to 54 inclusive at Bara on the 8th October 1890; plots 55 to 58 inclusive at Turkaulia on the 9th October 1890; plots 59 and 60 at Simra on the 10th October 1890; and plots 61 to 71 inclusive at Majhowlia on the 11th October 1890. The purchasers of the plots will be subject to the following conditions :—

1*st*.—The purchasers will have no power to make any excavation on the land nearer than fifteen feet from the Railway fencing, or plough it closer than three feet from its foundation.

2*nd*.—If the amount of purchase-money does not exceed Rs. 100 (hundred), the whole amount to be paid down at once.

3*rd*.—If the amount of purchase-money exceed Rs. 100, one-fourth of the amount bid to be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by the 15th day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or if that day be a close holiday, then by noon of the first succeeding office day, the sale to be cancelled, the sum deposited being forfeited to Government, and the land to be again put up for sale at the risk of the defaulting purchaser after issue of advertisement, as in the case of original sale.

4*th*.—The plots will be sold revenue-free to the highest bidder.

5*th*.—The purchasers shall be put in possession on receipt of the orders of the Board approving of the sales; but such possession shall be liable to be disturbed in case the final confirmation of the Board of Revenue should not be accorded to the proceedings.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E,
Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses, both chemical and industrial; trade statistics; markets, &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributions have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names; so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal pages; Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891; but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary; and this as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs. 30 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole sets.

 No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete, and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs. 45 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.

The Shargi Architecture of Jaunpur, with Notes on Zafarabad, Sahet-Mahet, and other places in the N.W P. and Oudh. By A. FUHRER, Ph. D., with drawings and architectural descriptions. Super royal 4to., cloth bound. Rs. 16 (Rs. 1.)

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE EXCISE DEPARTMENT FOR 1889-90.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT—EXCISE.

Darjeeling, the 3rd October 1890.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Report of the Commissioner of Excise on the Administration of the Excise Department for the year 1889-90, with the observations of the Board of Revenue thereon.

In accordance with the orders of the Government of India, an account of the various systems of excise in force in Bengal has been prefixed to this report.

Appointment of Excise Commissioner.

2. Mr. Westmacott took charge of his appointment as Commissioner of Excise on the 4th April 1889, and has worked in direct communication with district officers under the general supervision and direction of the Board. During the past year seven additional Deputy Collectors have been sanctioned for the better administration of excise work. There were previously 14 special Deputy Collectors employed on excise duty, and the total number sanctioned is therefore now 21. With reference to financial considerations, however, only four out of the seven new appointments have been filled up, and the remaining three appointments are in abeyance. There are at present 17* districts in which the excise control is placed in the hands of a special Deputy Collector, who is also made responsible for the administration of the income-tax, but who is, as a general rule, not entrusted with other revenue or any magisterial functions. Mr. Westmacott speaks very favourably of this arrangement, and observes that with few exceptions the excise administration in the 26 districts in which it has been entrusted to officers who have much other work to do has been greatly inferior to that in districts where there are special officers, and he would be glad if Government could place more special officers at his disposal. This view is not altogether accepted by the Board, who are not satisfied that the appointment of a special officer has always resulted in better work, and also point out that the deputation of an officer to excise duties alone is only beneficial when the excise work of the district is such as to occupy the whole of his time during the whole of the year; and add that it has come to their knowledge that in several districts in which these special officers are employed, the Collectors do not think that they have work enough to occupy the whole of their time, and wish to employ them on other duties. The question is one of considerable practical difficulty, and it is not easy to reconcile the conflicting claims of the head of a department, who naturally contends that the whole of the services of a staff of officers whose salaries are entirely defrayed from his own budget should be placed exclusively at his disposal, with those of district officers who are more interested in the efficiency of their general administration than in that of any particular department, and would gladly utilise the excise officer on general duties whenever necessity arises for doing so. It appears to the Lieutenant Governor that the solution of this difficulty can only depend on the actual facts in each case. It is not desirable that these Deputy Collectors should be employed on judicial duties: so far His Honour accepts Mr. Westmacott's position: but if in point of fact a special excise officer's time is not fully employed on excise in any district, it is the duty of the Excise Commissioner to raise no objection to his being employed on general miscellaneous and revenue work so long as excise is not neglected. The pressure of the general administration in all districts is now so great that it is imperatively necessary to insist on the utilisation of all Deputy Collectors and Magistrates to the utmost of their power. Where the whole time of an Excise Deputy Collector is employed for the whole year on excise work, there is nothing left to be said; but where he is not so employed, his services must be fully utilised in the district where he serves. The Lieutenant-Governor is confident that the highest consideration will always be given by the Board to the views of the Excise Commissioner in regard to the requirements of particular districts; but at the same time the Board, who are responsible for the administration of the revenue in all departments, are obviously in a better position than the Excise Commissioner can be to decide when there is any difference of opinion with the local authorities on questions of fact, and it must be left therefore for the Board to advise the Government in all cases in which they consider that the present practice of the exclusive employment of the Special Deputy Collectors on special work should be relaxed. The question of budget provision appears to be sufficiently met by the reply that, although the whole salary of these Special Deputy Collectors is met from Excise, it is also true that the whole salary of Deputy Collectors whose time is only partially devoted to excise duties is wholly paid from General Revenues.

* One Special Deputy Collector is employed as Personal Assistant to the Excise Commissioner.

3. In other respects the Department of Excise has been materially strengthened during the year. The Board observe:—

Subordinate establishment.

"The dual appointments of Assessor-Inspectors employed partly on excise and partly on income-tax work have now been abolished, and, as regard excise, a Sub-Inspector has been appointed in the room of each. As vacancies occur in the ranks of Inspectors of Excise, or as these officers are otherwise provided for, they are being replaced by Sub-Inspectors receiving from Rs. 50 to Rs. 70 per mensem. By these means a larger number of Sub-Inspectors can be employed, while at the same time it is found that the duties of detection, prevention, and inspection of retail shops and outstills can be as well performed by Sub-Inspectors as by Inspectors."

The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to notice that Mr. Westmacott writes in very satisfactory terms of the improvement in the work done by the new class of officers (who are men of some education and of better position than the old officials) in comparison with the darogahs and excise mohurirs whom they have replaced.

Financial results.

4. The financial results of the administration of the department during the year show a decrease in the revenue of Rs. 4,15,547 and an increase in the charges of Rs. 44,974, leaving a decrease of Rs. 4,60,521 in the net revenue. The statement of charges wrongly omits the salary of the Excise Commissioner and his establishment. If these are added, the increase, as the Board point out, becomes Rs. 85,000 in round numbers, and the percentage of charges on revenue is raised to five per cent. The decrease in revenue occurred in all divisions except Rajshahye and Chota Nagpore. The figures for each division compared with those of 1888-89 are shown below :—

The population being taken at 66,700,000, the total excise revenue, exclusive of the customs duty on imported liquors, was at the rate of 2¼ annas per head.

6. The statement of charges in the Excise Department amounts to Rs. 4,77,739 (excluding the cost of the Excise Commissioner and his establishment) against Rs. 4,32,765 in the previous year. The increase occurred chiefly under the heads of establishment and petty constructions connected with the gradual re-introduction of the distillery system.

Current settlements

7. The settlements for the current year show a decrease of Rs. 1,32,270 as compared with those of the year under review. This result is attributable in the Burdwan and Dacca Divisions to the abolition of outstills, and the loss will be recouped in a large measure in stillhead duty. Elsewhere it is due to combination among the abkars and to the prevailing scarcity and high price of food.

8. The figures given in the margin show in an abstract form the results of the working of the outstill and sudder distilleries during the past two years. In 1887-88 the revenue was Rs. 52,05,042, in 1888-89 it was Rs. 50,90,315: it has now fallen in the past year to Rs. 47,07,132. There is a large decrease, therefore, of Rs. 3,83,183, of which Rs. 2,19,603 occurred in the Patna Division alone. The Board observe: "Generally speaking the decrease in revenue under this head may be attributed partly to the reduction in the number of outstills, partly to resistance on the part of the abkars to the excise policy of increasing taxation, partly to the falling off in advance collections owing to the introduction of the distillery system, and in no small degree to agricultural scarcity."

Re-introduction of central distilleries.

9. The year was an eventful one in the history of Bengal excise. Upon the 1st April 1889 outstills were abolished throughout the whole of the district of the 24-Pergunnahs, as well as in Howrah and the Serampore sub-division of Hooghly. This change has resulted in a decrease of revenue, and, what is more important to observe, a decrease in consumption also. The revenue from country spirits throughout the whole of the metropolitan area affected, including Calcutta, fell from Rs. 14,19,384 to Rs. 13,32,888. The consumption of liquor throughout the same area decreased from 275,842 to 228,925 gallons. In the area previously supplied from outstills the consumption fell from 50,913 gallons, as shown in the outstill accounts, to 13,079 gallons issued from the central distilleries. These calculations are in gross gallons in each case, and although the central distillery liquor in Calcutta is of high alcoholic strength, while the outstill spirit was exceedingly weak, there can be no doubt that there has been in this area a satisfactory reduction in the consumption of country spirits. The retail price was more than doubled. Per contra there was an increase in the consumption of country rum.

10. From the 1st April 1890 outstills have been abolished throughout the whole of the Burdwan, Presidency, Dacca, and Orissa Divisions. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to acknowledge the loyal co-operation of Mr. Westmacott in giving effect to the wishes of Government for the re-introduction of the distillery system in this large area. It is unfortunate that both this reform and that of raising the price of outstill liquor in order to equalise the estimated duty on it with that of distillery liquor, should have had to be introduced in a season of general high prices, which form a disturbing element and obscure for the present the real effects of the measure. How important the effect of high prices has been may be gathered from the falling off of consumption in distillery liquor in Patna, where there has been no other cause to account for the diminution. Both the Board and Mr. Westmacott are of opinion that in certain parts of Western Bengal, where these reforms have been introduced, the facilities for obtaining a cheap illicit supply of liquor are so great that it would have been advisable to retain outstills at least for the present, and in the same connection the Board record the significant observation that they "trust that the measures already adopted for re-introducing the central distillery system may be regarded as an experiment which requires watching before it is extended." Upon this question the Lieutenant-Governor can say little more than emphatically repeat what he has already declared on more than one occasion, that "it must be distinctly understood by the Excise Commissioner, and by all officers concerned with the administration of excise in Bengal, that the policy which has received the approval of the Secretary of State and of Government is that the outstill system should be replaced by a central distillery system whenever circumstances render it expedient; and, speaking generally, the only circumstances which render the change inexpedient are sparse population, difficulties of supervision, proximity to alien territory, and a liquor which will bear neither transportation nor keeping." This enunciation of policy has been approved by the Secretary of State. On the other hand, it has been declared under equal authority that "it is not intended that outstills should be suppressed in localities where experience shows that distilleries cannot be advantageously introduced." It is on these lines that the action of Government has been based. The Secretary of State expressed a hope, in his despatch dated 18th July 1889, to the Government of India, that the rates of excise revenue raised under the outstill system in Bengal might be reduced from 61 per cent. to some such rate as that which obtained in Madras and the North-West Provinces at any rate, if not to that obtaining in Bombay. The percentage of outstill revenue to total revenue from country spirits in the several provinces mentioned during the year 1887-88, which is the period referred to by the Secretary of State, is given in the margin. During the year under review the proportion in Bengal had slightly decreased to 58 per cent., and during the current year there will be a considerable further reduction. But it will not be possible in Bengal to work up to the low percentage attained in other provinces. One-half of the Bengal revenue from country spirits is derived from the Patna, Bhagulpore, and Chota Nagpore Divisions, where the principal material used for the manufacture is the flower of the mohwa tree, and the spirit so made, as is well known, will not bear transport, and rapidly deteriorates when kept. It is of the weakest possible description, being 80 or 90 per cent. below London-proof. Such spirit must be manufactured near the place where it is consumed; and this, if there were no other objection, is a conclusive reason why a central distillery system cannot be successfully introduced into such tracts of country as the rural parts of Behar and Chota Nagpore. The people are accustomed to this weak liquor, and will only drink it when it is fresh. The number of central distilleries must everywhere be limited. The failure of the old system of distilleries was largely due to their excessive number and to the consequent impossibility of exercising proper supervision over them. It has now been deemed advisable to have central distilleries only at the head-quarters of districts where they can be thoroughly watched by responsible officers. At the same time arrangements have been made for the establishment of depôts or warehouses at all sub-divisional head-quarters, from which shops remote from the distilleries can be supplied with liquor. This system, as Mr. Westmacott points out, adds greatly in cost of carriage to the price of liquor before it reaches the retail vendors. But it appears to be the only way in which a central distillery system can be worked in Bengal without risk of fraud. It cannot be worked in Behar because, as already explained, the liquor will not keep or bear the transit. The depôts are kept under the eyes of the Assistant or Deputy Collectors in charge of sub-divisions.

11. The total revenue realized under the central distillery system during the past year was Rs. 19,32,207 against Rs. 19,55,754 in the previous year. There was thus a small falling off notwithstanding the extension of the distillery area. The statistics of consumption show, however, a large decline from 10,57,119 gallons in 1888-89 to 8,53,259 gallons in 1889-90. The decrease was almost entirely in the Patna Division, of which the figures, district by district, are given in the margin. As both the system and the distillery area in these districts remained unchanged, there can be no explanation of this decrease other than that the year was one of general depression and bad trade. The figures are unaffected by any action of the Excise Department.

Outstills.

12. The total revenue derived from outstill license fees decreased from Rs. 31,34,561 to Rs. 27,74,925. Great attention has been paid to limitation of capacity of stills and fermenting vessels. In the districts of the Chittagong Division the capacity of stills has, with regard to local considerations, not been reduced. For the rest of the province in which outstills still exist, that is to say, in the Patna, Bhagulpore, Chota Nagpore and Rajshahye Divisions, the following figures will show the number and aggregate capacity of the outstills allowed during the past five years:—

	Number of outstills allowed.	Liquid capacity of outstills in gallons.

Sanctioned for 1890-91	1,798	30,492

13. The number of outstills is being reduced wherever they appear to be more numerous than is necessary to satisfy the local demand for liquor; and as the fees are being gradually raised so as to force the retail price up to the price fixed by the distillery rate of duty for each district, the abkars in many cases refuse to accept settlement. The changes involve an increase in the retail price of liquor which is stubbornly resisted. In the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion, Mr. Westmacott deserves credit for the firm attitude he has maintained in adhering to the high fees fixed for outstills, and he entirely approves of the action of the Board in supporting this policy. The experiment must be allowed a full and fair trial: it was always anticipated that it would entail an immediate loss of revenue, and the deliberate intention throughout has been to force the abkars to increase their retail prices and so reduce consumption. If this result is attained, a temporary loss of revenue is comparatively a small matter, and unless the demand for liquor has been artificially stimulated by an undue cheapening of outstill liquor (as compared with the price maintained by distillery spirit), it is certain that the normal demand will re-assert itself and the revenues will recover. Sir Steuart Bayley has no doubt that the policy is a sound one. It must be introduced gradually and with discretion, and there should, in his opinion, be no going back from it, though the effects of bad seasons render its influence on the revenue more conspicuous than it would otherwise have been. The consumption of outstill liquor has materially decreased in the 16 districts of Bengal where what is known as the Patna system prevails, and outstills and central distilleries are allowed in the same district. The figures are obtained by the district officers from the abkars, and cannot be altogether relied on as accurate; but the errors of a particular year are balanced by the errors of another, and for purposes of comparison the result is one which may be generally accepted. The figures are in London-proof gallons, and show a decreasing consumption during the past three years as follows:—

	Gallons.
1887-88	1,396,537
1888-89	1,188,123
1889-90	755,553

1887-88	... 18,64,727
1888-89	... 18,06,366
1889-90	... 15,91,178

The outstill revenue from these districts also shows a decrease as noted in the margin, but the proportion of the decrease in revenue is much less than that of the decrease in consumption.

Selection of sites for outstill shops.

14. During the course of the year special rules were issued by Government and published for general guidance on the subject of the selection of sites for excise shops. Distinct instructions have been given to the licensing officers to ascertain and consider local opinion, and it has been ordered that where municipalities exist the Municipal Commissioners should be consulted in determining the location of shops. The procedure prescribed is one of old standing in these provinces; but it has now for the first time been promulgated in the form of rules. It is reported that there has been some loss of trade and consequent loss of revenue from fees on account of the more careful observance of the principles now enforced. The question of the location of shops in the vicinity of tea-gardens is one of special difficulty and importance. Under the orders of the Secretary of State a most careful and exhaustive enquiry was made into the facts connected with the excise administration in the tea districts in Bengal. The papers then submitted afford conclusive evidence of conscientious and successful endeavours to organize the department in accordance with the recognized principles on which a proper excise policy must rest. It was shown that the coolie population had enormously increased owing to the establishment of new gardens, that the coolies all belonged to tribes who habitually consume spirituous liquor, and that the increase in drinking was certainly not more than commensurate with the increase in number of the drinking classes. The tea districts are surrounded by foreign territory, and foreign outstills pour their contraband liquor across the British frontier at half or even a quarter the price at which it is obtainable from the licensed shops. In such cases it is probably true that from want of licensed facilities for obtaining liquor there has been a great deal of illicit manufacture and smuggling. At the same time it is obvious that unnecessary shops must not be retained. It is drunkenness which the Government desires to put down rather than the moderate use of liquor. If shops are too far off from a tea garden, it is probable that the coolies will get drunk on every occasion of a visit. The problem is to place them not too near and not too far off, and especially (as Mr. Westmacott has pointed out) not in such a position as to suggest drinking to anybody. In deference to the objection of certain tea associations, the selection of sites recommended by the local authorities has in some cases been abandoned, and special arrangements have been sanctioned to prevent the importation of smuggled liquor.

Country rum, &c.

15. The revenue from country rum has fluctuated in recent years, as the following figures will show:—

	Rs.
1885-86	77,091
1886-87	1,08,111
1887-88	88,885
1888-89	72,851
1889-90	1,00,675

The increase in the past year is principally due to the reduction in the rate of duty from Rs. 5 to Rs. 4 per gallon London-proof. At first this led to a falling off in the receipts, but afterwards it resulted in a largely increased consumption which, with a diminished duty, gave an increased revenue. The consumption increased from 24,318 gallons to 44,535 gallons, entirely in the metropolitan area. Of this increase no less than 13,620 gallons is due to rum consigned from Shahjehanpore. The total of Shahjehanpore rum consumed in Bengal during the year is 28,770 gallons, and the duty on this being credited locally is not shown in the Bengal excise accounts. The revenue derived from license fees for selling imported spirits and wines has again fallen from Rs. 2,21,453 to Rs. 2,14,090. Under tari the revenue has risen from Rs. 7,88,901 to Rs. 8,26,314. The revenue derived from licenses for the sale of pachwai increased from Rs. 2,15,191 to Rs. 2,32,682.

Ganja.

16. The statistics of ganja during the past three years are as follows:—

	Number of shops.	Consumption.	Revenue.
		Mds.	Rs.
1887-88 ...	... 2,949	6,550	22,45,020
1888-89 ...	... 2,922	6,413	23,18,353
1889-90 ...	... 2,819	6,101	22,59,690

The decrease in consumption is satisfactory, and although there is during the past year a small decrease also in revenue, it is to be observed that the receipts are greater than those of 1887-88 and of all previous years. The report on the subject of Gurjat ganja, to which allusion is made by the Board and the Excise Commissioner, is awaited by Government.

Opium.

17. The consumption of abkari opium decreased from 1,925 to 1,905 maunds, and the revenue from Rs. 20,08,134 to Rs. 19,59,486. The largest decrease occurred in the Chittagong district, and is attributed to the more successful prevention of smuggling into Arracan. The Excise Commissioner enumerates several important cases of opium-smuggling detected during the year.

Offences against the excise laws.

18. The number of arrests for offences against the excise laws was 4,441 against 3,879 in the previous year, and the number of convictions 3,747 against 3,324. There was a decided improvement in the work of the excise officers, but a falling off in the number of convictions obtained by the police.

19. The acknowledgments of the Lieutenant-Governor are due to Mr. Westmacott for the zeal with which he has administered this important department, and the thoroughly loyal manner in which he has given effect to the policy of Government. His administration has been successful in reducing the consumption of spirits and drugs, and there can be no doubt that the results would have been more favourable from a revenue point of view if they had not been affected by the prevailing agricultural depression. The names of the officers selected by him for special mention for the excellence of their excise administration will be communicated to the Appointment Department.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. J. S. COTTON,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT FROM THE BOARD OF REVENUE ON THE ROAD AND PUBLIC WORKS CESS OPERATIONS FOR THE CESS YEAR 1889-90.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT—ROAD CESS.

Darjeeling the 29th September 1890.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Report from the Board of Revenue on the Road and Public Works cess operations for the cess year 1889-90.

During the year under review the cesses continued to be levied at the maximum rates in all the districts in which Act IX (B.C.) of 1880 is in force, except Backergunge, where the Public Works cess was levied at full rates and the Road cess at half rates The current demand for the year amounted to—

	Rs.
Road Cess	37,81,538
Public Works Cess	38,79,001
Total ...	76,60,539

2. In the subjoined table the figures for the past year are compared with those of the two preceding years:—

	Demand.			Collections.	Remissions.	Balances.	Percentage of balance on gross demand.
	Current.	Arrear	Total.
	Rs	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1887-88 ...	76,13,146	16,61,553	92,74,699	75,35,113	16,498	16,98,479	18·3
1888-89 ...	76,19,896	17,20,662	93,40,558	74,86,777	20,925	17,98,912	19·2
1889-90 ...	76,60,539	18,04,134	94,64,673	77,54,684	76,885	16,58,728	17·5

The percentage of arrear collections on arrear demand was 76·8, that of current collections on current demand was 82·2, and that of total collections on current demand was 101·2. With a larger demand the collections have been larger, and the balances have been reduced. The item of remissions, however shows a large increase, which is due to a sum of Rs. 65,896 having been written off in Burdwan as irrecoverable arrears of petty rent-free holdings.

3. In the following districts the arrear collections fell short of 90 per cent. :—

	Percentage of arrear collections on arrear demand.	Percentage of current collections on current demand.
Shahabad	40·7	85·9
Burdwan	43·4	83·7
Furreedpore	46·6	66·4
Bankoora	47·2	81·
Khoolna	65·	81·2
Moorshedabad ...	71·8	92·5
Gya	73·8	74·1
Mozufferpore	74·6	61·7
Jessore ...	75·4	74·9
Hooghly	77·1	66·3
Bhagulpore	80·	88 4
Cuttack	80·5	90·
24-Pergunnahs ...	82·8	80·4
Durbhunga	83·4	86·
Pooree ...	86·	97·6
Sarun	86·7	72·8
Patna	89·3	75·7

The districts of Furreedpore, Gya, Mozufferpore, Jessore, and Hooghly show short collections of both current and arrear demands. The indifferent results in Furreedpore are primarily attributable to the confused state of the revenue-roll which facilitated the frauds noticed in last year's report. In Gya the short collections are said to be due to the postponement of the date of new assessment from the 1st April 1889 to the 1st April 1890, and to the adoption of the tehsildari system under section 99 of Act IX (B.C.) of 1880 in preference to the certificate procedure. The unfavourable results in Shahabad are ascribed to the lax system of realizing arrears. The Collector should adopt, as suggested by the Board, stringent measures to reduce the increasing balance. A large arrear balance has become chronic in Burdwan since the assessment of its rent-free tenures. Measures have not been adopted to remedy the defective system of keeping accounts which hitherto retarded the collections, and the realizations during 1889-90, though far from satisfactory, show an improvement on the percentage of previous years. In Bankoora heavy defaults were made as usual by the sardar ghatwals, and to prevent this the assessment of the ghatwali lands is being revised. The short percentage of arrear collections in Khoolna and Moorshedabad is attributed to the accumulation of the arrears of three years to be recovered from rent-free holdings under section 70 of the Cess Act.

4. In the following districts, though the arrear collections were not less than 90 per cent., the current collections fell below that amount:—

	Percentage of current collections on current demand.	Percentage of arrear collections on arrear demand.
Chumparun	68·	99·8
Lohardugga	72·2	96·9
Monghyr	73 9	90 5
Dacca	78·3	90·
Midnapore	79 1	90·
Pubna	80·8	93 5
Rajshahye	81·8	98·5
Dinagepore	81·9	99·8
Backergunge	82·	94·3
Maldah	87·3	99·8
Balasore	88·1	95·
Tipperah	89·3	95·9
Manbhoom	89·8	99·6

In Chumparun, Lohardugga, and Monghyr the short current collections are ascribed to the 15 days' grace allowed for payments, and in Dacca to the difficulty of realizing the dues from holders of petty estates. In Midnapore the cesses due from some large zemindaries were not paid until the last coercive measures under the Public Demands Recovery Act had been resorted to.

5. Arrears to the extent of Rs. 1,06,435 have become barred by limitation. The total amount barred in Burdwan was calculated to be Rs. 1,63,267, out of which Rs. 65,896 were remitted during the year, and there still remain

Rs. 97,371 which will be written off as soon as pending objections to the original assessment have been disposed of.

6. The collections on both the current and arrear demand exceeded 90 per cent. in 11 districts—

	Percentage of arrear collections on arrear demand.	Percentage of current collections on current demand.
Hazaribagh	100·	97·1
Singbhoom	100·	99·9
Bogra	99·8	93·5
Purneah	99·2	95·6
Nuddea	98·2	92·1
Noakhally	98·	94·
Beerbhoom	97·5	91·3
Julpigoree	95·7	93·2
Mymensingh ...	94·7	92·5
Rungpore	93·9	90·6
Chittagong	92·3	92·9

Darjeeling had no arrears to collect, and realized its current demand in full. In these 12 districts the results are satisfactory and reflect credit on the officers concerned.

7. The number of certificates filed for the recovery of arrears was 71,076, which, with the 35,260 pending on the 31st March 1889, gave a total of 106,336 for disposal. Of these, 73,115 were disposed of, leaving 33,221 pending at the end of March 1890. The outturn of work compares favourably with that of the previous year. Sales actually took place in only 583 cases, of which 54 were subsequently cancelled. The number of institutions was smallest (428) in the Chota Nagpore Division and largest in the Burdwan, Patna, and Presidency Divisions—20,018, 14,560, and 10,921 respectively. In Gya and Mozufferpore the certificate procedure was set aside in favour of the tehsildari system under section 99 of the Cess Act, with the result that collections fell off. As remarked by the Commissioner, more active measures should have been taken, or certificates should have been filed to realize the Government dues.

8. Complete revaluations of the district of Shahabad, resulting in an increase of Rs. 1,05,477 in the annual demand, and of Gya, resulting in an increase of Rs. 50,423, were brought to a close during the year. Partial valuations and revaluations were completed in the Khulna, Backergunge, Mymensingh, Maldah, Bogra and Tipperah districts.

9. The names of the Deputy Collectors who have been favourably noticed by the Board will be communicated to the Appointment Department.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the Resolution and of the Board's report be submitted to the Government of India, Finance and Commerce Department, for information.

Ordered also that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to the Board of Revenue, and that copies of the Resolution, and of the Board's report, be forwarded to the Appointment and Revenue Departments for information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. J. S. COTTON,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE CUSTOMS DEPARTMENT FOR THE YEAR 1889-90.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT—CUSTOMS.

Darjeeling, the 29th September 1890.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Report on the Administration of the Customs Department for the year 1889-90.

Customs receipts.

The following statement shows the gross and net customs duty, inclusive of the duty on imported salt, collected in Bengal during the last five years :—

	1885-86.	1886-87.	1887-88.	1888-89.	1889-90.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.

Total gross duty ...	2,12,45,167	2,25,71,206	2,21,54,260	2,65,99,335	2,66,37,955
Refunds and drawbacks—
Imports ..	2,29,064	2,48,992	2,46,759	2,81,544	3,12,697
Exports ...	62,202	40,363	81,742	84,930	31,606
Total ...	2,91,266	2,89,355	3,28,501	3,66,474	3,44,303
Total net duty ..	2,09,53,901	2,22,81,851	2,18,25,759	2,62,32,861	2,62,93,652

Since the year 1882-83, when the reduction of salt duty and the remission of all import duties, except those leviable on arms, ammunition, liquors and opium, came into operation, there have been considerable fluctuations in the revenue, but the increase in 1888-89 was maintained in the year under review. This is entirely due to the levy of a duty of 6 pies per gallon on mineral oil, the importation of which continues to expand in a remarkable manner, thus amply justifying its selection as a suitable article for taxation. Import duties levied on other articles than petroleum, such as wine and spirits, show a general falling off. The decrease in export duty is due to a falling off in the rice trade.

Value of trade.

2. There was a fall in the value of imports (exclusive of Government transactions) from Rs. 32,51,37,468 to Rs. 31,56,52,561, principally in piece-goods. The export foreign trade, exclusive of treasure, shows an advance from Rs. 37,82,25,789 to Rs. 39,67,26,895, which is due chiefly to the high prices obtained for rice, jute, linseed, and raw silk. Taking exports and imports together, the total value of the trade of the Province increased by nearly a crore of rupees, or from Rs. 78,17,13,654 to Rs. 79,12,31,540.

3. The value of imports on Government account declined from 100 lakhs to 97¼ lakhs, and was noticeable under almost every head. There was, however, a marked increase of 17½ lakhs in the value of materials required for State Railways. The exports made on Government account amounted to only 2¾ lakhs, against 4 lakhs in the preceding year, and consisted mostly of copper coin for Ceylon and the Straits Settlements.

4. As usual, the bulk of the trade is carried on by the United Kingdom, the proportion of the trade absorbed by that country being no less than 61·71 per cent. of the whole trade of Bengal. This percentage is, however, less than that of the preceding ten years. The second place is occupied by China, due to opium transactions (10·1 per cent.), and next stands the United States (6·47 per cent.). The trade with Germany continues to show a considerable increase.

Calcutta.
Foreign trade.

5. The proportion of the foreign trade of Calcutta carried through the Suez Canal to the total foreign trade of Calcutta declined from 65·8 per cent. in 1888-89 to 63·7 per cent. in the year under review. The decrease is attributed to the falling off in the value of cotton manufactures imported from the United Kingdom. The following statement compares the imports and exports through the Canal during the last five years :—

	Imports.	Exports.	Total.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1885-86 ...	18,25,69,465	16,02,59,864	34,28,29,329
1886-87 ...	21,49,95,033	17,28,69,556	38,78,64,589
1887-88 ...	20,52,71,237	18,17,29,261	38,70,00,498
1888-89 ...	23,45,06,444	18,51,90,952	41,96,97,396
1889-90 ...	21,80,03,096	19,24,35,956	41,04,39,052

6. The number of steam vessels which passed through the Suez Canal on their way to and from Calcutta without touching at another British Indian port decreased from 305 to 294, and the tonnage from 604,094 to 586,199 tons. The total number of arrivals and departures from foreign countries is given in the following statement:—

	1888-89.		1889-90.
	No.	Tonnage.	No.	Tonnage.
Steam vessels ...	489	899,667	521	961,104
Sailing „ ...	603	877,853	554	824,724
Native craft ..	49	6,045	42	6,111

It must be understood that these figures do not include all vessels engaged in the Foreign trade of Calcutta, but only those which arrive here and leave the port without touching at any other Indian port.

Imports.

The total value of imports shows a decrease of Rs. 59,34,038 as compared with that of the previous year. The value of cotton manufactures declined by Rs. 142 lakhs, machinery 12⅛ lakhs, silk 9½ lakhs, umbrellas 8⅓ lakhs, horses 4¾ lakhs, liquors 3⅓ lakhs, drugs 2¾ lakhs, fruits and unrefined sugar each 2 lakhs. On the other hand, the import of metals shows an advance of 81 lakhs, oils 34¾ lakhs, refined sugar 13⅓ lakhs, spices and railway plant and rolling-stock each 7⅓ lakhs, woollen manufactures 3⅔ lakhs, and matches 3½ lakhs.

7. The statement below shows the values of the principal articles imported into Calcutta during the last two years:—

	1888-89.	1889-90.
	Rs.	Rs.
Cotton goods	14,54,76,859	13,12,43,435
Metals	1,65,31,166	2,46,68,410
Oils	85,07,955	1,18,08,390
Machinery	86,30,301	74,07,618
Salt	76,35,910	73,38,054
Woollen goods	66,41,405	70,11,664
Liquors	52,39,340	49,00,323
Apparel	40,35,825	41,33,901

The trade in cotton piece-goods was not remunerative: large stocks were in hand, while at the close of the year money was scarce and the Bank rate of interest very high. It is reported that the trade of native houses continues to expand, and was larger than in any previous year. The very large increase in the import of metals is due to the trade righting itself after the collapse of the Copper Syndicate. The increase in petroleum oil is entirely from the United States, and there was a decrease both from the United Kingdom and from Russia. Although there is a decrease in machinery, the figures of the year are far in excess of those in any year previous to 1888-89. Under the head of Liquors there is an increase in ale, beer and porter, a large decrease under Spirits, and a very small decrease under Wines and Liqueurs. Regarding the importation of spirits, Mr. Scobell Armstrong, the Collector of Customs, observes:—

"Brandy has declined by 13¼ per cent., which, considering the nature of much of the liquor imported under this name, is not surprising. A considerable portion of it has very little resemblance to brandy, except perhaps in colour. It is the commonest German spirit got up to look like brandy and comes chiefly from Humburg and Antwerp, and the average declared value is from Rs. 2-8 to Rs. 3 per imperial gallon. The best brandies come in bottle through the United Kingdom.

"Gin has again declined, and the taste for it seems to be steadily falling off.

"The imports of whisky show a very slight advance in quantity with a considerable decline in value, and there was no accumulation of stocks in bond. The quality of the established marks and brands continues the same, for it would not pay to tamper with them, and so risk the loss of the trade; but with the commonest sorts of whisky, as of brandy, the tendency in quality is downwards. A quantity of it is inferior German spirit made from anything but malt, I believe principally from rice, and coloured and flavoured to represent whisky. Nearly the whole of the whisky imported came from or through the United Kingdom, but there have been some importations of high class whisky from Australia.

"Rum, which was formerly an item of importance, has fallen away to insignificant figures, being only 910 gallons in the past year, against 9,047 gallons in 1888-89. China formerly sent the largest quantity of this spirit to Calcutta, but last year none at all was received from that country. The cheap common spirit from Germany has apparently killed this trade."

Among minor items it may be observed that the trade in umbrellas has declined owing to accumulation of stock. The value of matches imported now amounts to Rs. 7,39,000, and the quantity is estimated by Mr. Armstrong to be about 152 millions of boxes. Most of these are manufactured in Sweden and Norway, and the wholesale value is about Rs. 35 per case of 50 gross. With this low price the matches of Bryant and May, which are of a more substantial nature, cannot compete.

8. The following statement gives the value of the principal articles of Indian produce and manufacture exported in 1888-89 and 1889-90:—

Exports.

	1888-89.	1889-90.
	Rs.	Rs.
Raw jute	6,94,28,984	7,26,67,026
Opium	6,41,48,256	6,37,25,170
Tea	5,16,52,620	5,12,39,079
Oilseeds	3,57,89,078	4,13,04,984
Indigo	2,73,46,873	2,49,05,266
Gunny-bags	2,33,35,337	2,31,92,559
Rice	2,07,02,266	2,48,74,668
Hides and skins	1,90 82,457	1,84,21,934
Wheat	1,08,24,635	60,11,810

There was a slight falling off in the export of jute, although prices ruled higher than in the previous year, but the deficiency of Calcutta was more than supplied by the shipments from Chittagong, which increased to the extent of 222,846 cwts. The export of tea declined slightly in value, but advanced in quantity, being 101,750,725lbs. in 1889-90, against 95,749,163lbs. in 1888-89. The cost per pound last year was 8 annas 1 pie, against 8 annas 6 pies in the previous year. The following table shows the production of tea in the different districts during the last two years:—

	lbs.	lbs.
Assam ...	41,865,499	42,030,564
Cachar and Sylhet ...	27,343,505	29,750,054
Darjeeling, Terai, and Dooars ...	18,950,822	20,497,857
Chittagong and Chota Nagpore ...	1,148,458	1,378,920
Dehra Dun, Kumaon, and Kangra ...	4,000,000	4,500,000
Private and native gardens ...	3,000,000	4,500,000
Total ...	96,308,284	102,657,395

The estimated outturn for the current year is no less than 115,000,000lbs.

The importations of tea into the United Kingdom during the last two years are—1888.	1889.

	lbs.	lbs.
Indian	92,387,000	96,693,000
Ceylon	20,325,000	31,191,000
China, &c.	109,285,000	93,208,000

It cannot be said that any material progress has been made in opening out new markets for Indian tea. Australia is the only country where Indian tea is being rapidly taken; the increase last year was over half a million pounds, or 18½ per cent. In America the export is falling off, and China tea still finds favour in Russia. In India itself the efforts to popularise tea have hitherto failed.

Although the value of rice exported last year shows an increase, the quantity was less owing to a shorter crop. Ceylon continues to hold its first place as the consumer of Bengal rice, and the United Kingdom stands next.

There was a further large fall in the export of wheat, from nearly 3 million cwt. to a little over 1½ millions. The continent of Europe has received nearly the whole of its Indian wheat from the Western side of India. The total quantity of Indian wheat sent to the United Kingdom was 9,217,332 cwt., while Russia exported 21,321,628 cwt. and the United States 17,061,250 cwt.

There was a small increase in the quantity of indigo exported, but the average declared value was the lowest ever recorded in the Custom House.

The trade in raw cotton, which had declined in 1888, showed an improvement of about 20½ per cent. The increase was entirely in the export to continental countries.

Treasure.

9. The import of treasure during the last year decreased by Rs. 31,38,497, but while silver declined by nearly 50 lakhs, the import of gold advanced by 18½ lakhs.

Coasting trade.

10. The value of the coasting or interportal trade with Calcutta declined in 1889-90 by about 52 lakhs, and is observable both in the export and import of Indian produce and of foreign merchandise.

Chittagong port.

11. The value of the trade of Chittagong, which had fallen off during 1888-89, greatly augmented during the year under review, and amounted to Rs. 3,16,96,703, which is the highest on record. The enormous expansion of the trade in raw jute has materially contributed to the prosperity of this port.

The Orissa ports.

12. The following table shows the trade of the Orissa ports for the past year as compared with that of the previous year :—

	Balasore.		Cuttack.		Pooree.
	1888-89.	1889-90.	1888-89.	1889-90.	1888-89.	1889-90.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Foreign	1,32,209	4,37,513	8,23,691	13,15,803	39,386	39,842
Coasting	95,35,286	93,03,035	1,68,554	4,39,940	20,426	1,76,934

It will be seen that there has been a considerable increase in the trade of Cuttack and Pooree.

Naraingunge.

13. Naraingunge was in November 1889 declared to be a Customs port for the shipment and landing of goods and a warehousing port. The year was a prosperous one, and the total value of trade was Rs. 1,14,90,150, consisting principally of jute consigned to Chittagong

14. The Lieutenant-Governor's thanks are due to the Board of Revenue for their supervision of the Customs Department during the year, and in particular to Mr. Armstrong for his full and interesting report and for his efficient administration of the Calcutta Customs Office. The services of the following officers are favourably noticed by the Board :—Messrs. Kilby, Amos, Bonnaud, Bradbury, and Burrup of the Calcutta office, and Mr. Warden, Collector of Customs at Chittagong. Their names, with the remarks recorded, will be communicated to the Appointment Department.

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE INCOME-TAX IN BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1889-90.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT.—INCOME-TAX.

Darjeeling, the 30th September 1890.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Report of the Board of Revenue on the financial results of the Income-tax Administration for the year 1889-90.

Previous annual reports have shown collections up to the end of the year, and all other operations up to the 30th June. The present report deals only with operations up to the end of March, a change which has enabled the report to be submitted at a much earlier date than was formerly possible. The scheme of amalgamating the posts of Excise Inspector or Sub-Inspector and Excise Assessor continued in operation in 20 districts during the year under review, but has since been discontinued. Service in the Income-tax Department was during the year declared permanent and pensionable, and this step, together with the separation of excise and income-tax establishments, has led to a complete revision of the assessing agency.

Results of the tax.

2. The total demand for the year under all parts of the Act stood at Rs. 44,89,476 against Rs. 42,41,806 in the previous year, while the total collections, exclusive of advance payments and excess collections, were Rs. 41,44,257 against Rs. 38,88,388. The receipts, charges, and net revenue are compared as follows:—

	Receipts.	Charges.	Percentage of charges.	Net revenue.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1888-89	39,11,616	1,56,470	4	37,55,146
1889-90	41,66,798	1,66,778	4	40,00,020
Increase ...	2,55,182	10,308	...	2,44,874

The net revenue shows an increase of 6·1 per cent. against 5 per cent. in the previous year.

Demand, collections and balances.

3. The amount originally assessed was Rs. 39,38,829, which was reduced to a final demand of Rs. 37,12,130 against Rs. 35,53,678 in 1888-89. By far the larger portion of the increase was as usual contributed by Calcutta, but it was shared by every division except Chittagong and Bhagulpore. The percentage of collection on the final demand was the same as in the previous year, viz., 92·5. In six districts the entire demand was collected within the financial year. The outstanding balance on account of the tax, with penalties and costs, amounts to Rs. 3,45,219, of which Rs. 1,46,143 are reported to be good, Rs. 1,31,162 doubtful, and Rs. 67,914 irrecoverable.

Assessments.

4. There was a falling off of 6,893 in the number of villages visited by the Assessors, the decrease being attributed in many cases to their desire to concentrate their attention on towns and marts, which offer a more fruitful field for enquiry. In Calcutta a marked improvement appears in the number of streets visited by the assessors. The number of persons finally assessed was 102,265 against 102,407, the percentage of exemption on revision being 3·1 against 4·01 in 1888-89.

Objections.

5. The petitions of objection numbered 15,027 against 16,770 in the previous year. The number of successful objections was 6,361 against 6,934, or 42·3 per cent. against 41·3 per cent. in 1888-89. The percentage was highest in Maldah (60·8), Chittagong (55·2), Calcutta (54·6), Patna (53·7) and Tipperah (52·1).

Incidence of tax.

6. The average incidence of the tax on the whole population of the province (excluding the assessments on salaries of Government servants and on Government securities) was Re. 1 to every 17·9 persons, and excluding Calcutta the average incidence in the districts was Re. 1 to every 36 inhabitants. The proportion of the number of persons assessed to the whole population was 1 to 650. The Board have furnished in their present report some interesting statistics illustrating the proportion of the tax contributed by Calcutta and the whole of the province under the present Act and under former Income-tax and License-tax Acts. Of the entire amount of the present tax nearly one-half is paid in the metropolis alone. The productiveness of the tax bears a larger proportion in Calcutta under the present Income-tax Act because agricultural incomes are exempted under it and the great bulk of large incomes due to other sources than agriculture is to be found in Calcutta.

Coercive measures

7. There has been a steady decline in the number of cases in which coercive measures were necessary for the recovery of the tax. In only 267 cases out of 102,265 assessments was actual sale resorted to. The number of sales was comparatively large in Rungpore (51), Purneah (24) and Singbhoom (21). The percentage of warrants issued has declined from 11·9 in 1886-87 and 6·3 in 1888-89 to 4·6 in 1889-90. In Calcutta distress warrants were issued in only 112 cases against 1,243 in the previous year.

Expenditure.

8. The expenditure of the year amounted to Rs. 1,66,778 against Rs. 1,56,470 in the previous year, while the percentage of the cost on the net collections stood at the same figure as in 1888-89, viz., 4·02.

Classification of income.

9. The largest share of tax paid (Rs. 5,73,728) was, as usual, from assessees under class I (incomes from Rs. 500 to Rs. 750); Rs. 5,19,082 were paid by assessees in class XV (Rs. 1,00,000), Rs. 4,84,807 were paid by assessees in class VIII (Rs. 2,500 to Rs. 5,000), and Rs. 4,00,999 by assessees in class IX (Rs. 5,000 to Rs. 10,000). The lowest contribution was from class XIII (Rs. 40,000 to Rs. 50,000). Classified according to trades and professions, the largest contributions to the tax were the following :—

			Rs.	Percentage of total collection.
Class	44.	Money-lending and changing ...	5,72,092	14·6
„	1.	Salaries paid by Government	3,93,059	10
„	45.	General merchants	3,63,550	9·3
„	69.	Dealers in other articles ...	1,96,671	5
„	46.	Piece-goods merchants ...	1,59,973	4·1
„	9.	Clerks paid by companies, &c. ...	1,52,828	3 9
„	85.	Taxable estate-holders ...	1,28,081	3·2
„	35.	Barristers, &c	1,23,254	3·1
„	82.	House proprietors	1,16,050	2·9
„	7.	Managers, &c.	1,06,135	2·7
„	22.	Jute and hemp	1,05,606	2·7
„	47.	Grain merchants	1,04,677	2·6

10. The Board have little to add to what has been said in previous reports on the subject of popular feeling in regard to the tax. That the tax continues to be unpopular is notorious; but they observe that a larger revenue is annually obtained with less friction and less necessity for having recourse to coercive measures.

11. The names of the Deputy Collectors specially reported by the Board as having done good service will be communicated to the Appointment Department. Mr. Kilby, the Collector of Income-tax in Calcutta, administered the tax with marked vigour and success. The careful supervision exercised over this Department by the Board merits the acknowledgments of Government.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution, together with a copy of the Board's Report, be submitted to the Government of India, Finance and Commerce Department, for information, and that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to the Board of Revenue.

Ordered also that extract paragraph 11 of the Resolution and extract paragraph 57 of the Report be forwarded to the Appointment Department for information.

RESOLUTION ON THE ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE CHITTAGONG HILL TRACTS FRONTIER FOR THE YEAR 1889-90.

POLITICAL.

Darjeeling, the 29th September 1890.

READ—

Letter from the Commissioner of Chittagong, No. $\frac{855 H.T.}{VI-12}$, dated the 15th July 1890, forwarding the Report on the Administration of the Chittagong Hill Tracts Frontier for the year 1889-90.

The operations of the Chin-Lushai Expeditionary Force have been brought to a successful termination. Of the captives taken away in the Chengri Valley and Chima Valley raids, 7 escaped from the hands of the raiders and 75 were recovered by ransom or otherwise. But the expedition dealt with the northern tribes and had no effect on the Shendoos living to the south of Fort Lungleh. Two of their parties entered our territory during the past year while the expedition was in progress. On receipt of information patrols were immediately despatched in search of them. The first party could not be found, but traces of a large encampment said to have been occupied by them were visible in the neighbourhood of the Chanda village. The second party was discovered within 2½ miles of the Pyramid Hill post, but they beat a precipitate retreat as soon as they found themselves pursued. There is little doubt that they crossed the border for raiding purposes, which they would have carried out had circumstances favoured them. The complicity of these tribes in some of the raids of previous years, the necessity of securing the release of the persons then taken prisoners by them and still held in captivity, and their general raiding propensities, render it imperative to adopt measures for exercising control over the villages inhabited by them. This question forms the subject of a separate correspondence.

There was also a scare in the Upper Chengri Valley in the month of August, due to a rumour that Lienpunga was preparing for another raid. The Joormorong outpost was re-occupied by the frontier police in consequence, and confidence was soon restored among the villagers.

2. The military expedition prevented the holding of the annual durbar, but Captain Shakespear, the Assistant Political Officer, held a meeting of the Mulienpui Chiefs after the close of the year.

3. There was a considerable falling off in the export and import of almost all kinds of articles of trade on the frontier, but this is attributable to the unsettled condition of the country due to the expedition, and the figures of the past year do not, as observed by the Commissioner, afford an indication of the future progress of trade. The trade in salt is already more extensive than before, and the further improvement effected in the communication with the Demagri Bazar will facilitate the sale of other commodities in much larger quantities in future. It is satisfactory to note that during the past year 3,663 persons belonging to the trans-frontier tribes resorted to the Demagri Bazar, against 2,949 in the preceding year. From April to August the attendance was very small as compared with that of the corresponding period in previous years, the hillmen being then in a state of doubt and uncertainty as to the consequence of the expedition of 1888-89; but through the exertions of Mr. Murray, the Assistant Political Officer at Lungleh, for which he deserves credit, that feeling gave way to one of security long before the commencement of the second expedition.

4. Besides the permanent posts at Demagri, Burkal, Ruma, and the newly-established one at Lungleh, three temporary posts at Pyramid Hill, Joormorong and Kookradong were occupied during the year. The frontier force performed their very arduous duties in connection with the expedition cheerfully and well. General Tregear, who commanded the Chittagong column of the expedition, was fully satisfied with their work, and recorded the following remarks in the report submitted by him:—

"During the last expedition I was able to make very favourable mention of the men composing the Chittagong Frontier Police Battalion under the command of Mr. C. S. Murray, District Superintendent of Police. During this expedition 50 men accompanied the Northern column, and 100 under Mr. S. V. Tayler, Assistant Superintendent of Police, were employed with the advanced party and did excellent work. They are the most useful and willing men I should ever care to serve with. Besides being keen soldiers, they can build huts, thatch roofs, construct rafts, and, in fact, put their hands to anything, and are accustomed to carry all their own kits." It is, however, to be regretted that the severe and fatiguing duties and exposure to which they were subjected increased the number of casualties from 16 to 51 under the heads of discharge, retirement, and resignation. A considerable number of men appear to have resigned in consequence of an order prohibiting the grant of leave except on medical certificate, but this restriction has since been withdrawn and leave is now freely granted. The question of the reorganization of the frontier force is now under consideration. The expenditure incurred in provisioning the force amounted to Rs. 52,614, against Rs. 33,051 in the previous year. The increase is due to the fact that the men garrisoning distant outposts were not, as usual, brought in to Rangamati during the rainy season of the past year.

5. The coolie corps, mainly composed of recruits from the Sonthal Pergunnahs, was of great service during the expedition. The men were first employed in improving a portion of the road from Rangamati to Peskisurra, but the work had to be stopped before much progress had been made, as they were required to work on the Burkal tramway in consequence of the desertion of the local coolies owing to an outbreak of cholera.

6. The Commissioner's remarks on the character of officers will be noted in the Appointment Department.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to the Commissioner of Chittagong for information and for communication to the Deputy Commissioner of the Chittagong Hill Tracts.

Ordered also that a copy of the Resolution and a copy of the Report be submitted to the Government of India in the Foreign Department.

Ordered also that the Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

RESOLUTION ON THE ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE TRIBUTARY AND POLITICAL STATES OF THE CHOTA NAGPUR DIVISION FOR THE YEAR 1889-90.

POLITICAL.

Dated Calcutta, the 1st October 1890.

READ—

The Report on the Administration of the Tributary and Political States of the Chota Nagpur Division for the year 1889-90.

Read also—

The Reports for 1887-88 and 1888-89 and the Resolutions recorded thereon.

The present report is submitted by Mr. W. H. Grimley, who was in charge of the Chota Nagpur Division throughout the year, except from the 1st to the 27th April 1889. The Commissioner's tour in the Tributary States was unavoidably of short duration. It being the first year of his office, the district headquarters claimed prior attention, and at the same time the Kol agitation prevented his moving far from head-quarters. But although the Commissioner was only able to visit the States of Udaipur, Sirguja and Jashpur during the year under review, he had an opportunity of seeing the Chief of Bonai in Ranchi in May and June, and the Raja of Seraikela and the Thakur of Khursawan were met both at Chyebassa and Ranchi; while during the course of the tour Mr. Grimley was able to inspect the scene of some recent troubles with the Kurwas and to give some valuable advice for the future prevention of raids on civilised villages.

2. The rainfall was sufficient and the crops generally good, but the influx of workmen employed in the Bengal-Nagpur Railway caused an unusual demand for all articles of food, and prices ruled high in consequence.

3. The general health of the people was good in all the States, except Sirguja and Gangpur. Small-pox carried off 1,144 persons in Sirguja, and cholera was fatal in 101 cases in Gangpur and 85 cases in Sirguja. There was a slight falling off in the number of vaccinations, and some of the Chiefs still repeated in the past year the old established objections to this operation, but their prejudices are said to have been overcome, and vaccinators will probably be less hindered in their work in future. The statistics of cattle disease are not very trustworthy, but the report of its general prevalence is undoubtedly true. With a view to diminish the mortality, instructions have been issued by the Maharaja for the segregation of the stricken animals, and by the Commissioner for the prompt burial of cattle that die of the disease and for the destruction of their hides. It is hoped that the measures proposed to be taken during the ensuing grazing season will have the desired effect.

4. The Lieutenant-Governor regrets to observe that education, which has always been backward, has further retrograded during the year under review. Although six additional schools were established, the number of pupils in the majority of the States was smaller than in the previous year. The total number in all the States was 1,219 against 1,329 in 1888-89. His Honour would be glad to see other Chiefs following the excellent example of the Raja of Udaipur in this respect. It is not clear why the schools in Khursawan and Seraikela should receive assistance from the primary school grant of a British district.

5. No new roads were constructed during the year, but the existing lines of communication were kept in repair. The territories of many Chiefs are now being rapidly brought into communication with other parts of India by the construction of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway, and the efforts that are being made to open out the mineral wealth of the country will soon make the question of road construction one of paramount importance. Sir Steuart Bayley hopes that the Commissioner will lose no opportunity of impressing on the Chiefs the importance of improving existing means of communication within their States, and will endeavour to obtain for them any assistance which they may require in the selection of suitable lines of road.

6. There is but little to remark in the figures of Sessions trials, and most of the important cases have come before the Lieutenant-Governor either for confirmation of the sentences passed or in appeal. The fines imposed rose from

Rs. 2,874 to Rs. 3,043, and Rs. 2,522 were realized against Rs. 2,161 the year before. Any tendency to impose fines as a source of revenue rather than as punishments must be watched and checked. The number of escapes from custody is very large, and His Honour hopes that the Commissioner will continue his enquiries into the cause of them, and take such measures as he may find practicable for minimising the chance of their recurrence in the future. The mortality in the Sirguja Jail was heavy and calls for some explanation.

7. The statistics of crime are given in the appendices to the report, which show also the averages of the preceding five years. The number of offences against the person increased in Gangpur and Khursawan, and there was a larger number of theft cases in the former State and in Changbhakar than in 1888-89. House-breaking cases rose from 6 to 14 in Udaipur.

8. In paragraphs 34 to 40 an account is given of the principal matters which engaged the Commissioner's attention in connection with the Native States during the year under review. Most of these have been the subject of special reports to Government in the course of the year, and have been already reviewed by the Lieutenant-Governor; but His Honour would be glad to hear further on the subject of the establishment of a mission station at Ghoghor in Gangpur where the Raja is said to have stopped the building of the station, although he had himself given land as a site for it. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to record his high appreciation of the prudence and tact displayed by Mr. Grimley in bringing to a satisfactory termination the long-standing and complicated disputes between the Raja of Bonai and the Gond Chiefs, and in dealing with the Gohandals of Khursawan. Great credit is also due to Mr. Grimley for the measures taken by him to quell the disturbance made by the Jashpur Kurwas.

9. The State of Khursawan, which has been successfully managed by Government during the minority of the Thakur, has now passed into the hands of its Chief, and Sir Steuart Bayley has much reason to hope that this young ruler will prove a successful and prudent administrator.

10. Sir Steuart Bayley has read with pleasure the Commissioner's favourable comments on the Chiefs, the majority of whom have maintained their reputation as judicious and wise rulers, and all of whom have generally followed the advice given to them by the Commissioner on difficult questions. Special credit is due to the Maharaja of Sirguja and his Dewan, Maulvi Jaffir Ali Khan, and to the Rajas of Udaipur and Jashpur.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to the Commissioner of Chota Nagpur for information and guidance, and that a copy of the Resolution, together with a copy of the Report, be submitted to the Government of India, in the Foreign Department, for information.

Ordered also that the Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. C. STEVENS.

Offg. Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

CALCUTTA, the 7th October 1890.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 3RD OF OCTOBER 1890.

At the end of the previous week the depression which had commenced off the Circars was in the Central Provinces, but had ceased to move in a westerly direction, and at the beginning of the present one was moving to the east-north-east. Its influence in Bengal, even when furthest west, was apparent in the easterly winds and general rainfall, but, as from its commencement, wind velocity was generally low. On Saturday the 27th the area of lowest pressure was partly over Chutia Nagpur where pressure was falling briskly, and as there was a general rise elsewhere, the depression diminished very little in intensity. Winds were south-west or south in Lower Bengal, and were beginning to get stronger at the head of the Bay and at some of the stations in South-West Bengal. Moderately heavy rain fall over the whole province on this day, but in the south-east as well as in Orissa weather was improving, and very little rain fell after the first day of the week. On Sunday the 28th, pressure had risen rapidly at the western stations, and the depression was rapidly filling up, but being now well over Bengal, weather was more unsettled, especially in Behar and North Bengal, where very heavy rain was falling. Lowest pressure from being between 29·6 and 29·65 was over 29·75 inches, and moderate southerly winds were blowing in all districts except North Bengal and Behar, where north-east winds of considerable strength continued. As the depression was filling up, thunderstorms with heavy local falls of rain became general over almost the whole province, especially in the north-east corner. One of these gave stormy winds at Mymensingh, and seems to have been somewhat of the nature of a tornado. On the 29th lowest pressure was again over the Circars, but the distribution was rapidly changing, and by the end of the month became very uniform with a diffused low-pressure area covering the whole of the Bay, with a faint indraught across the coast. Light scattered showers fell in Orissa and Chutia Nagpur on the 30th, but elsewhere rain had almost entirely ceased. The tendency to greater uniformity continued on the 1st of October, and the light winds changed from east to west except in Assam, one apparent result of which was the commencement of rainfall in North Bengal, brought by local storms due to the interaction of these opposing currents Up to the end of the week these showers were confined to North Bengal and were generally light, rarely exceeding one inch.

Pressure was about ·2 inch below the normal at Hazaribagh and Dehree at the beginning of the week, when there was considerable increase in steepness of the gradients over Bengal owing to a brisk fall in Chutia Nagpur and a brisk rise in the eastern districts, the relative change being about ·15 inch. A rapid rise occurred in Chutia Nagpur and South Behar on the 28th, exceeding ·22 inch at Dehree, and though rising over the whole province, the rate diminished rapidly towards the east. The rapid rise continued in the central districts on the 29th, and the area of lowest pressure was forced southwards as far as the Circars, after which pressure rose slowly until the distribution was very uniform over Bengal and the Bay. Mean pressure for the week differs very little from the normal, and is generally above by varying amounts under ·02 inch.

Temperature was very low while the disturbed conditions lasted, and it recovered rapidly after the skies cleared during the latter half of the week. The means are all below the normal, defect being 5·5° in South Behar, 4·9° in North Behar, 3·8° in Chutia Nagpur, 3·5° in North, Bengal, 1·8° in South-West Bengal, 1·2° in Orissa, and ·4° in East Bengal, the southern part of which was but slightly affected by the depression. Some very low minimum temperatures were recorded during the week, the lowest being 64·8° in Chutia Nagpur, 65·6° in North Bengal, 66·5° in Behar, and between 71° and 72° in Lower Bengal. On the 27th defect was between 6° and 7° in Behar, but by the following day it had increased to between 10° and 12° at the more western stations, and on the 29th in the whole of Behar and North Bengal. After the filling up of the depression there was a rapid rise in these districts, and a steady rise continuing, defect by the end of the week was replaced by an excess of about 3° in the lower districts and 1° in Behar and North Bengal.

Rainfall was general and rather heavy in Behar, Chutia Nagpur, and South-West Bengal on the 27th. On the 28th it was much heavier in the northern districts and lighter in Chutia Nagpur and South-West Bengal, many of the falls in Behar and North Bengal being over 5 inches. The area of heavy rainfall was transferred gradually to the east, and on the 29th only a few heavy showers fell in the contiguous parts of East and North Bengal, after which rain almost entirely ceased except in the south west corner, where fairly general light showers fell. The mean falls for the week are all largely above the normal except in Orissa where there is a small excess, and in East Bengal where there is defect of ·7 inch. The very heavy rainfall of the first three days of the week in North Bengal is shown by the weekly mean for the whole district being 11·1 inches, or 9·36 inches in excess of the normal. In North Behar excess is 2·78, in South Behar 2·49, in South-West Bengal 2·77, and in Chutia Nagpur 1·13 inches In East Bengal falls were generally below 1 inch except in the Mymensingh district, where they varied between 1 and 10 inches, in South-West Bengal and Orissa they ranged up to 7 inches, in North Bengal they were generally between 5 and 10 inches, the heaviest being Panchbibi 24·49, Ulipore 17·40, and Mohadebpore 16·6, Baloorghat and Rungpore over 15 inches, and in Behar and Chutia Nagpur they were nearly all between 2 and 4 inches.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 3rd of October 1890 :—

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park Street Observatory). The barometer is about 8 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently equal; and finally, the thermometer which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during 20 years and upwards is found to read 0·6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

MEMORANDUM.

Weekly review of births and deaths in twenty-seven of the principal towns of Bengal for the week ending with Saturday, the 20th September 1890.

Births.

The births registered during the week ending with Saturday, the 20th September 1890, in twenty-seven principal towns of Bengal correspond to an annual rate of 26·6 per 1,000 of the aggregate population of those towns, which is 1,061,574. This rate is 2·5 higher than the average rate of the corresponding week of the past five years, and is also higher than the rate of the corresponding week of any of the past five years except 1885 and 1889—vide the figures below—

	1885.	1886.	1887.	1888.	1889.	Weekly average of five years, 1885–89.	1890.
Ratio of births per 1,000 of the population per annum	27·5	23·4	18·4	22·1	28·9	24·1	26·6

The births registered in each of the last four weeks in each of the twenty-seven principal towns correspond to the following rates per 1,000 of the population :—

Towns.	Weeks ending— 30th August 1890.	6th Sept. 1890.	13th Sept. 1890.	20th Sept. 1890.	Towns.	Weeks ending— 30th August 1890.	6th Sept. 1890.	13th Sept. 1890.	20th Sept. 1890.

It will be seen that last week the highest birth-rate was returned from Rampore Beauleah (57·8), and the lowest from Chittagong (4·7). No births were registered during the week in Jessore town.

Deaths.

The deaths registered during the week under review correspond to an annual rate of 23·4 per 1,000 of the population. The rate of the week is 7·4 below the average rate of the corresponding week of the past five years, and also below the rate of the corresponding week of any of the past five years except 1887—vide the figures below—

Comparative Statement of the principal commodities carried over the Bengal Central Railway during the month of July 1890.

DECREASES.	Tons.
Coal	277
Sufficiency of stock for railway and flotilla purposes.
Unscrewed jute	761
Due to dulness of the Calcutta market. The decrease was almost exclusively in despatches from Khoolna.
Sugar	187
Due to the successful competition of raw sugar from Java.

INCREASES.
Betel-nuts	485
From the Bengal Central Flotilla station exclusively.

F. P. QUINLAN,
Joint Auditor and Examiner of Accounts.

NOTIFICATION.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT.

Bombay Castle, 3rd October 1890.

No. 3990.—In exercise of the power conferred by Act I of 1870, the following rules for quarantine against cholera have been made by the Government of Bombay with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council: they have effect from the 16th ultimo in the ports of Aden, Perim, and the Somali coast as a temporary measure :—

I.—The commander of every vessel, including buggalows or other native craft, arriving from ports between the 19° north latitude and Ras Sijan (Siyan) on the African coast shall, before entering the harbour, indicate by signal the port from which such vessel has come.

II.—Such commander shall not, except as hereinafter provided, allow any communication, either with the pilot boat, except orally, or with the shore, or with any other vessel or boat in the harbour.

III.—Immediately on arrival the commander shall cause the letter R of the Commercial Signal Code to be hoisted, and shall keep the said flag flying during his stay in port or until authorised by the Health Officer to haul it down. If communication with the shore is not desired, the vessel shall anchor at such place as may be pointed out by the Port authorities, having regard to the season of the year. If communication with the shore is desired, the Health Officer shall go alongside the vessel, and, after all necessary enquiries, shall direct the commander to take the vessel to the quarantine anchorage duly appointed and notified in that behalf by the Resident, there to remain for a period of seven days from the date of arrival, or for the shorter period prescribed in rule IV, and undergo disinfection, which should apply as well to crew, passengers, effects, and suspectible goods.

IV.—If the Health Officer of the Port has sufficient evidence that no cases of a suspicious nature have taken place on board during the voyage, and if the vessel is besides in good hygienic condition, the duration of the quarantine will be diminished according to the following scale:—

After	eight days	of voyage	...	...	Six days of quarantine.
Do.	nine	ditto	...	...	Five ditto.
Do.	ten	ditto	...	...	Four ditto.
Do.	eleven	ditto	...	...	Three ditto.
Do.	twelve	ditto	...	...	Two ditto.
Do.	thirteen	ditto	and upwards	...	Twenty-four hours of quarantine.

V.—If during the period a vessel is at the quarantine anchorage aforesaid any case or cases of cholera should occur on board, the said vessel shall remain in quarantine for a period of seven days from the date of the last case occurring, and be subject to all the prohibitions provided for in rule III.

VI.—When any vessel has been placed in quarantine as aforesaid, the Health Officer may direct the removal of so many of the passengers and crew as may not be suffering from illness, and whose services may not be required on board the vessel, to such particular spots as may from time to time be selected by the Resident as places of quarantine, there to remain for a period of seven days. If a case of cholera occurs among such passengers and crew during any such period, they shall remain in a place of quarantine for a period of fifteen days from the date of the occurrence of the last case of such illness.

VII.—Any mails or cargo which may be brought by any vessel so arriving shall be landed under such precautions as the Health Officer may deem necessary to prevent the spread of the disease.

VIII.—It will be the duty of the Port Officer to facilitate the conveyance to all vessels in quarantine of such supplies of provisions, stores, and other articles as may be required by those on board. Such supplies will be placed on the boats of the vessels in quarantine, to be subsequently removed by members of their crews.

IX.—All vessels arriving at Aden, Perim, and the Somali coast, which may have communicated with vessels coming from ports between the 19° north latitude and Ras Sijan (Siyan) on the African coast, shall be subjected to the same quarantine as vessels arriving at Aden, Perim, and the Somali coast from the said ports.

X.—All vessels which have undergone quarantine in the manner above prescribed should have the fact clearly stated on their bills of health.

By order of His Excellency the Right Honourable the Governor in Council,

J. NUGENT,
Chief Secretary to Government.

No. 25.

Commissariat Advertisement for tea for the Madras Presidency, 1891-92.

SEALED tenders in the form used in the Commissariat Department (blank forms whereof can be had on application at the Commissariat Storekeeper-General's Office, Madras,) will be received by the Commissariat Storekeeper-General, Madras, until 1 o'clock on Friday, the 5th December 1890 (and opened by him at the same time and place in the presence of those interested), for the supply by contract of Indian black tea, not exceeding in quantity 116,625 lbs., to be delivered at the Commissariat Stores at Madras to the Commissariat Storekeeper-General, Madras, on or before the 30th day of April 1891, free of all charges whatsoever. No payment will be made on account of such supply prior to the 1st April 1891. The above quantity is subject to a possible deduction of 109,355lbs. or less, if favourable tenders for out-stations (as per paragraph 3) are received.

2. Earnest deposits.—Each tender must be accompanied by a receipt from the Secretary of the Bank of Madras acknowledging the payment of earnest money equal to the amount shown in the table in paragraph 3, according to the number of stations tendered for, or by Government promissory notes to the same amount. If such earnest money is not lodged, the tender will be rejected. Tenders to be sealed and superscribed "Tender for Tea."

3. Tenderers have the option of tendering for the supply of the whole quantity of tea at Madras, as mentioned in paragraph 1, or of supplying at the following stations separately the respective quantities given opposite each station. In the latter case the amount inserted opposite each station is the earnest money to accompany such tenders in the manner set forth in the preceding paragraph:—

Stations.	Tea lbs.	Earnest money. Rs.
Bangalore	26,7[illegible]4	350
Belgaum	18,695	250
Bellary	7,196	100
Madras	7,270	100
Secunderabad	37,758	500
Wellington	19,002	250
Total ...	116,625	1,550

4. Security deposits.—The earnest moneys of successful competitors will be retained until they lodge with the Commissariat Storekeeper-General at Madras (or with the Executive Commissariat Officers in case separate tenders are accepted for each station) a security deposit at 10 per cent. on the value of the quantity or quantities of tea tendered by them. The security deposit may be lodged either in cash or in Government promissory notes. If the contractor desires to lodge the deposit in cash, he should pay the same to the Secretary of the Bank of Madras, or to the nearest Government Treasury, and forward to the Storekeeper-General the Bank or Treasury receipt for the same. If Government promissory notes are deposited, they are not to be endorsed over to the Commissariat Storekeeper-General, Madras, for the time being as security for the due fulfilment of the contract. The earnest moneys deposited with the successful tenders will be returned to the tenderers.

5. The earnest moneys of all unsuccessful competitors will be returned on the decision of Government as to the acceptance of any tender being received.

6. Contract deed.—The successful competitors will be required to sign contracts on the basis of their tenders containing the usual provisions in the form used in the Commissariat Department (form whereof can be seen on application to the Commissariat Storekeeper-General at Madras), and to furnish the requisite security deposit within eight days from the date on which the acceptance of their tenders is notified to them. Should the successful competitors fail to sign the contracts or to furnish the security deposits within the time specified, so much of their earnest moneys will be forfeited as will reasonably compensate Government for such breach of contract, and their tenders will be considered as having been rejected. It is, however, to be clearly understood that the forfeiture of the total amount (if necessary) of such earnest moneys for such defaults shall in no way preclude Government from recovering from the defaulting competitors all such damages as Government may sustain by reason of such defaults, and that the amount of such earnest moneys is not to be taken as the total amount of compensation payable to Government for such defaults.

7. Size and weight of chests.—The chests containing the tea must be of suitable material, lined with lead, and the lead-lining thereof must be sound and strong. Each chest must measure 27 inches long by 16 inches wide and 12½ inches deep (outside measurement) and must weigh as per margin. Each chest must be bound completely round with hoop iron at both ends, the nails being driven so as not to injure the lead-lining. The case should be packed in good strong gunny. No chests of other dimensions than those specified above will be received. No broken or damaged chests will be received.

Weight of wooden chest	19
,, of lead-lining	4
,, of tea in chest	50
,, of gunny-packing	2
Gross weight ...	75

7a. Each chest should contain 50lbs. of Indian tea and should be marked "50lbs. net." A certain number of the chests will be opened and examined by a Committee to ascertain that they contain not less than the weight represented, dependent on which examination the remainder will be taken to contain the net weight marked thereon.

8. Quality of Tea.—The quality of tea will be subject to the approval of, or rejection by, the Storekeeper-General assisted by an Expert if deemed advisable by the Commissary-General or a Committee to be appointed at the request of the Commissary-General by the Officer Commanding the District, and payment will be made for such quantity of tea only as may be approved by the said Committee or Storekeeper-General assisted by an Expert.

9. Samples.—Samples of tea can be had free of charge on application at the Commissariat Storekeeper-General's Office at Madras.

10. Each tender must be accompanied by a sample chest containing 50lbs. of the tea it is proposed to supply, which will be paid for at the rates tendered if of good quality.

11. Defaults.—If the contractors make default in delivering the whole or any part of the tea on or before the 30th April 1891, so much of the security deposited by them as will reasonably compensate Government for such breach of contract will be liable to be realized by Government, and should such security be sufficient to compensate Government for such breach of contract, the contractors will be liable to pay to Government the difference between the amount of such security and such compensation, and any such compensation may, at the option of Government, be deducted either from the moneys payable to the contractors for the tea delivered by them or from the securities deposited by them.

General Stipulations.

12. All further information may be had on application at the Commissariat Storekeeper-General's Office at Madras.

13. Every tender not made in the required form will be rejected. The form of tender should be signed as well as the schedule of rates, without which the tender is invalid.

14. The Government reserves to itself the right of rejecting any tender without assigning any reason for so doing.

15. No person making a tender shall be allowed to withdraw his tender for the space of ninety days from the date thereof, and in the event of his doing so, his earnest money shall be forfeited to Government.

16. No offers by telegram will be accepted.

The Indian Law Reports.

Published under Authority.

THE Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor-General in Council appear in monthly parts, published as soon as possible after the first of each month at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, and comprise four series—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court. The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the Series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are eported in the Calcutta Series

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat, and the Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad respectively.

In supersession of the previous advertisements, on and from the 1st January 1889 the terms of subscription and sale will be as follows for current issues as well as for back numbers of the Reports from 1876:—

Terms of subscription payable annually in advance.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E,
Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses, both chemical and industrial; trade statistics; markets, &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributions have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names; so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal pages; Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891; but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary; and this as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs. 30 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole sets.

 No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete, and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs. 45 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.

Bills introduced into the Council of the Governor General for making Laws and Regulations, or published under Rule 22.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 2nd October 1890

NO. 17 OF 1890.

A Bill to amend the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882; It is hereby enacted as follows.

of 1882.

Repeal of section 250, Act X, 1882.

1. Section 250 of the said Code is hereby repealed.

Enactment of new section in place of repealed section 250, Act X, 1882.

2. To the said Code the following shall be added, namely:

"360. (1) If, in any case instituted by complaint or upon information, a person is accused before any Magistrate of any of the offences specified or referred to in clauses (a) to (k) of section 260, and the Magistrate discharges or acquits the accused and is satisfied that the accusation against him was frivolous or vexatious, the Magistrate may, in his discretion, by his order of discharge or acquittal, direct the person upon whose complaint or information the accusation was made to pay to the accused, or to each of the accused where there are more than one, such compensation, not exceeding fifty rupees, as the Magistrate thinks fit

Frivolous or vexatious complaints.

Provided that, before making any such direction, the Magistrate shall—

(a) call upon the complainant or informant to show cause why the compensation which ought, in the opinion of the Magistrate, to be awarded should not be directed to be paid,

(b) record any objection which the complainant or informant may urge against the making of the direction, and,

(c) if the Magistrate directs any compensation to be paid, state in writing, in his order of discharge or acquittal, his reasons for awarding the compensation.

(2) Compensation of which a Magistrate has ordered payment under sub-section (1) shall be recoverable as if it were a fine:

Provided that, if it cannot be recovered, the imprisonment to be awarded shall be simple, and for such term, not exceeding thirty days, as the Magistrate directs.

(3) A complainant or informant who has been ordered under sub-section (1) by a Magistrate of the second or third class to pay compensation to an accused person may appeal from the order, in so far as the order relates to the payment of the compensation, as if such complainant or informant had been convicted on a trial held by such Magistrate.

(4) Where an order for payment of compensation to an accused person is made in a case which is subject to appeal under sub-section (3), the compensation shall not be paid to him before the period allowed for the presentation of the appeal has elapsed, or, if an appeal is presented, before the appeal has been decided.

(5) At the time of awarding compensation in any subsequent civil suit relating to the same matter, the Court shall take into account any compensation paid or recovered under this section."

Repeal of part of section 552, Act X, 1882.

3. The words "or complained against" in the second paragraph of section 552 of the said Code are hereby repealed.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE principal object of this Bill is to apply provisions similar to those in section 250 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882, to certain cases instituted otherwise than by complaint. It is proposed by the Bill, in accordance with a suggestion originally made by the Hon'ble Judges of the High Court of Judicature for the North-Western Provinces, to authorise any Magistrate, in any case in which a person accused before him of any offence triable summarily under Chapter XXII of the Code is discharged or acquitted, to direct the payment by the accuser to the accused of compensation not exceeding fifty rupees, if the Magistrate is satisfied that the accusation was frivolous or vexatious. Before directing the payment the Magistrate is to hear and record anything which the accuser may have to say against the direction being made; and, if the direction is made by a Magistrate of the second or third class, an appeal is to lie therefrom to the District Magistrate or such competent subordinate Magistrate of the first class as is referred to in section 407 of the Code.

The 1st October, 1890.

ANDREW R. SCOBLE.

S. HARVEY JAMES,
Secretary to the Government of India.

The Annual Report for 1886 and the Resolution recorded thereon.

Dr. Hilson's triennial report on the working of the charitable dispensaries under the Government of Bengal is a satisfactory document, which records much progress in the popularity and usefulness of these institutions throughout the province, and reflects much credit on the Inspector-General himself, to whose administrative energy and perseverance a large proportion of this encouraging result is due.

The post of Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals was held, during the past three years, by Dr. A. J. Cowie, from January 1887 to April 1888, and again from November 1888 to April 1889, and by Dr. A. H. Hilson in the intervening months, and from May 1889 to the end of the year. Dr. Hilson has brought to bear upon his work a large experience of other provinces, which has been of great service to him in reorganizing the medical institutions of Bengal, and his present report, which is full of interest and yet not too long shows that, while much has been done to improve the facilities for the introduction of medical skill and science in the mofussil, much yet remains to be done before this province, which is in many respects one of the most unhealthy in India, can rival the more northern provinces in the management and efficiency of its charitable dispensaries.

2. The total number of dispensaries in Bengal has increased from 234 in 1886 to 261 in 1889; of this last number 125 are in class II and are under the management of local bodies, and the Inspector-General brings to notice the fact that there are several other institutions which might well be made over to the management of local Municipalities or District Boards. The Lieutenant-Governor is prepared to consider any recommendations which Dr. Hilson may wish to make in specific instances.

3. The interest taken by Municipalities and District Boards in the charitable medical institutions placed in their charge is favourably noticed by the Inspector-General, who at the same time comments on the indifference shown by many local Committees in the control of their dispensaries. His Honour is of opinion that the individuality of the medical officers attached to the various dispensaries has much to do with this, but would at the same time impress on the Chairmen and members of local bodies the importance of supervision and encouragement in the case of institutions of such practical usefulness as these, and would remind them that the remarks recorded by unofficial visitors in the inspection-books provided for the purpose are often of the greatest service to the authorities in remedying defects and detecting abuses. Sir Steuart Bayley regrets to notice that although there was an improvement in the figures of the number of inspections made by Civil Surgeons, there are still a large number of dispensaries which are only visited once instead of twice in the year.

4. The figures of attendance, both out-door and in-door, have steadily increased in the past three years, as is shown in the following table:—

Year.		Divisions.									Grand Total.
		Burdwan.	Presidency.	Rajshahye.	Orissa.	Dacca.	Chittagong.	Patna.	Bhagulpur.	Chota Nagpur.
1887	In-door	3,528	2,581	2,429	1,938	3,791	625	6,630	1,998	963	24,474
	Out-door	149,217	138,298	138,703	62,680	106,327	31,059	316,513	86,214	28,464	1,055,485
1888	In-door	3,590	2,812	2,494	1,950	3,745	781	6,842	2,435	1,109	26,731
	Out-door	141,372	142,342	154,840	65,242	65,242	33,918	34,082	91,661	27,899	1,106,740
1889	In-door	3,920	2,970	2,858	2,770	4 135	851	7,098	2,648	1,761	29,961
	Out-door	152,313	159,873	153,270	74,766	113,333	35,193	364,544	94,361	30,190	1,179,843

The proportion of persons treated, both indoors and out of doors, to population is very low, and it is only in a few exceptional areas that it touches 3 per cent., the total for the province being in 1889 1,208,824 persons treated out of a population of 69,536,861, or 1·73 per cent. But, on the other hand, it may be added that the returns from dispensaries are becoming more accurate year by year, and the steady increase in numbers, in spite of the elimination of many fictitious returns of large attendance, is clearly a matter for congratulation.

5. On the subject of in-door patients, Dr. Hilson remarks:—

"The native of India, when sick, prefers to be treated at his own house, and at such a time will not leave his family if it can possibly be avoided—a characteristic which seems to be more strongly marked in Bengal than elsewhere. The desire is only natural, and he cannot be blamed for it; but it seems to me that one cause of it is to be found in the very limited provision of separate accommodation for the families of patients at dispensaries, and this is a point well worth the attention of Municipal Committees and others interested in these institutions. In the Punjab and North-Western Provinces many of the dispensaries have a few rooms apart from the main building, which are reserved for the accommodation of well-to-do patients and those who bring relatives with them, and they are largely taken advantage of."

Sir Steuart Bayley would be glad to see the above proposal carried out, as he has no doubt that the defect pointed out by the Inspector-General is a serious one. Dr. Hilson records many valuable remarks on the subject of various dispensaries at which the mortality among in-door patients was high, and it is worthy of notice that it is at the various shrines to which pilgrims resort that the mortality is found to be highest, the fatigue and poverty of the pilgrims rendering them an easy prey to attacks of cholera and dysentery. The mortality among in-door patients was 12·71 per cent. in 1887, 12·77 per cent. in 1888, and 13·9 per cent. in 1889.

6. The increase in the number of out-door patients is very satisfactory, and speaks well for the improved management and popularity of the charitable dispensaries in the mofussil. The Lieutenant-Governor has no doubt that, as remarked by Dr. Hilson, the professional qualifications of the officer in charge of a dispensary greatly affect its popularity, and local Municipalities and others who have the management of these institutions would do well to bear in mind his warning that an excellent building and a full stock of medicines and medical comforts will not be of much service if the officer in charge is not a skilled practitioner, who is earnest and devoted to his work.

7. Very few cases of small-pox are treated in dispensaries, although the disease continues to be prevalent in several districts. Cholera is dealt with in almost all such institutions, but they are not sufficiently large or adequately equipped to deal with anything approaching to an epidemic of this disease. The number of cases of malarial fever increased from 202,933 in 1887 to 232,582 in 1889, and in the latter year formed a percentage of 19·24 of the total number of cases treated. This disease is most prevalent in the Burdwan, Presidency and Rajshahye Divisions. The proportion of cases of malarial fever in the Presidency Division has increased from 26·68 per cent. in 1887 to 30·28 per cent. in 1889. On this subject Dr. Hilson remarks—

"Malarial fevers are not more common in Bengal than in other Indian provinces, but they have this peculiarity that they are usually of a more severe and fatal type, which is probably due to the damp, relaxing nature of the climate. They leave their traces behind in the form of anæmia, enlarged spleen, diarrhœa, and dysentery, and it has truly been said that if the prevalence of malarial fever could be abolished one-half the diseases of the country would disappear with them."

The Inspector-General shows that very few lepers resort to charitable dispensaries for relief, the average number treated in these institutions in the past three years being only 2,525. His general remarks on the nature of the disease and its contagious and non-contagious properties are of great value as showing how much remains to be done before it can be asserted with any confidence that the disease is understood, or that it can be effectively dealt with by segregation even of the strictest kind.

8. The increase in the number of surgical operations is very satisfactory, and the Lieutenant-Governor agrees with Dr. Hilson in thinking that successful operative surgery is greatly appreciated by the poorer classes, and that the performance of major operations by qualified Assistant Surgeons adds much to the popularity of mofussil dispensaries. The very large attendance at the Chupra and Monghyr dispensaries, where the Assistant Surgeons, the late Babu Aghore Nath Bose and Babu Upendro Nath Sen, especially distinguished themselves by their success in surgical work, tends to support this view, and His Honour hopes that every encouragement will be given to such medical subordinates as may show good results in the exercise of this branch of their profession. These remarks more especially apply to cases of cataract, and there can be no doubt that success in restoring failing sight has great influence on the popular mind.

9. The following statement, which shows at a glance the financial position of the charitable medical institutions of Bengal for the past three years, is reproduced in extenso from the Inspector-General's report:—

Cash balance on 31st December	33,756	7	1	38,927	1	11	36,237	11	4

The variations in the figures shown as closing balance on 31st December and opening balance on 1st January are fully explained by Dr. Hilson, and are due to the correction of the accounts of various dispensaries at the close of the year. The figures are very satisfactory, and show that these medical charities are well and liberally supported and are in a flourishing financial position. The total amount of the subscriptions, both from Europeans and Natives, has largely increased, and municipal and local bodies deserve the Inspector-General's congratulations on the co-operation of the general public that these figures disclose.

The increase in expenditure is inevitable in the face of the extension of medical aid to the poorer classes, and Dr. Hilson notices with regret that in many cases a laudable desire for economy has led to restriction of the pay of the officers employed to that of the lowest grade of Assistant Surgeons—a form of economy which is open to criticism. It is, however, not improbable that in some cases not more than this scale of pay can really be afforded, and that an effort is made in order to obtain the services of an officer of qualifications superior to those of a Hospital Assistant. The whole question of the appointment of officers to the control of dispensaries has lately been again brought under the consideration of Government, and it will be separately dealt with by the Lieutenant-Governor after consulting the Municipal Department and the Commissioners of Divisions; it is therefore unnecessary to make further comment on the remarks on this subject contained in the Inspector-General's present report.

10. The notes and statistical tables which are appended to the report are full of interesting detail and form a record of much good work. Sir Steuart Bayley agrees with the Inspector-General in his commendation of certain Assistant Surgeons who have shown exceptional ability in various branches of their profession, and their names will be noted for future guidance.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the Resolution, together with a copy of the Report, be submitted to the Government of India, Home Department, for information.

Ordered also that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, to the Municipal Department of this Government, and to all Commissioners of Divisions for information, and that the Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. C. STEVENS,

Offg. Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT OF THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE STAMP DEPARTMENT DURING THE THREE YEARS ENDING 31ST MARCH 1890.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT—STAMPS

Darjeeling, the 7th October 1890.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Report of the Board of Revenue on the Administration of the Stamp Department during the three years ending 31st March 1890.

The present report is the first which has been submitted under the triennial system introduced by the orders of the Government of India, No. 4417 of 23rd August 1887, statistical information only with brief explanatory notes having been supplied in the two previous years. The Acts under which the stamp revenue was collected during the period under review were the Indian Stamp Act I of 1879 and the Court-fees Act VII of 1870 as modified by subsequent enactments. Under the orders of the Government of India, the copying fee has been reduced from four to three annas per folio from 1st April 1890. From 1st April 1888 the rate of discount on the sale of court-fee stamps of all values above one rupee has been reduced from 3 pies to 1½ pie per rupee. The other changes in the law and rules issued by Government are not of sufficient importance to call for special notice.

Stamp revenue

2. The financial results of the administration of the Stamp Department during the past four years, according to the returns furnished by the Accountant-General, are shown in the following table:—

Year	Stamps under Act I of 1879.			Court Fees under Act VII of 1870.			Total
	Receipts	Refunds and other charges	Net revenue.	Receipts.	Refunds and other charges.	Net revenue	Receipts.	Charges	Net revenue.

Average of 1887-88 to 1889-90 ...	37,30,356	2,78,194	34,57,032	1,01,33,907	3,46,684	98,87,223	1,39,64 263	6,20,008	1,33,44,256

The gross average annual revenue collected under both the Acts during the three years under review was Rs. 1,39,64,263 against Rs. 1,34,62,561 in 1886-87. Both judicial and non-judicial stamps contributed to the increase; the total realizations during 1889-90 exceeded those of any previous year. The average receipts were highest in Calcutta (Rs. 19,51.882) and lowest in Singbhoom (Rs. 10,833). The incidence is highest throughout East and Central Bengal, where trade is brisk and the population most prosperous. The general incidence of stamp revenue on the population of Bengal, estimated at 66 millions, is 3 annas 4¼ pies per head.

Stamp sales.

3. Another table which has been compiled in the office of the Superintendent of Stamps shows the receipts from sales of the different descriptions of stamps during the same period. The figures will differ from those given in the previous statement, inasmuch as they do not include miscellaneous receipts or receipts from the sale of plain paper prescribed by the High Court for use with court-fee stamps. They show stamp sales only, but apart from these differences there is a small discrepancy with the Accountant-General's figures which is under adjustment:—

Year.	Sales of Non-judicial Stamps used under the Indian Stamp Act										Sales of Judicial Stamps or Stamps used under the Court-fees Act.			Total of both kinds of stamps.
	Impressed sheets, including certificate stamps, bill-bond, P. W. D. forms, bills-of-lading and kabuliyat form stamps.	Impressed labels.	Receipt or one-anna revenue stamps.	Share transfer stamps. Non-judicial stamps.

There has been a steady increase in non-judicial samp stales, which was shared by almost all classes of stamps. The average yearly receipts of impressed sheets, which are the most important of non-judicial stamps, show an increase of Rs. 1,86,573, or 7·8 per cent., as compared with the receipts in 1886-87. The increase was contributed by 39 districts, notably Mymensingh, and is ascribed to the normal growth of business and a growing tendency to substitute written agreements for verbal contracts. Impressed labels, which are available only in Calcutta, show an increase of Rs. 31,387, or 5·3 per cent. The sale of one-anna revenue stamps, commonly known as receipt stamps, shows a falling off of Rs. 2,003, or 8 per cent., as compared with 1886-87, but an increase of Rs. 11,963 in 1889-90 as compared with the preceding year. The other classes of non-judicial stamps, which are of minor importance, show increases of Rs. 16,943 under share transfer stamps, Rs. 9,278 under foreign bill stamps, and Rs. 22,236 under hundi or bills-of-exchange stamps, and a decrease of Rs. 1,424 under notarial stamps.

Judicial stamps.

4. The average income of the past three years from the sales of judicial stamps is Rs. 91,67,320 under court-fee stamps, Rs. 2,333 under High Court service stamps, Rs. 3,05,415 under Calcutta Small Cause Court stamps, and Rs. 5,66,883 under stamps for copies, making a total of Rs. 1,00,41,951, an increase of Rs. 2,28,823, or 2·3 per cent., over the income from the same sources in 1886-87. The largest increases were in Midnapore (Rs. 52,511), Tipperah (Rs. 46,256) Monghyr (Rs. 40,500), Rungpore (Rs. 29,054), Calcutta (Rs. 23,996) Mozufferpore (Rs. 23,037), Mymensingh (Rs. 20,608), Khoolna (Rs. 15,693); and the largest decreases were in Pubna (Rs. 33,635), 24-Pergunnahs (Rs. 28,990), Nuddea (Rs. 12,753), Bhagulpore (Rs. 11,592), and Gya (Rs. 10,069). Taking each denomination of court-fee stamps sold during the period under review, there was an increase of nearly 3 lakhs in the sale of one-anna stamps, 2½ lakhs in that of ½-anna stamps, 2¼ lakhs in that of 12-annas stamps, and 2½ lakhs in that of 1-rupee stamps, and a decrease of a lakh under 6-annas, Rs. 49,579 under 2-rupees, and Rs. 16,123 under 4-rupees stamps. The decrease in the sales of stamps of higher values, accompanied by an increase in the sales of stamps of lower values, is probably due to the fact that stamps of lower values on which the higher rate of discount is still allowed are used in combination for stamps of higher values on which the discount has been reduced.

5. The revenue from the sale of stamps of all classes has increased from Rs. 87,88,026 in 1874-75 to Rs. 1,27,76,907 in 1884-85 and to Rs. 1,39,77,937 in 1889-90.

Levy of penalties.

6. The number of cases in which deficient stamp duty and penalty were levied by Civil and Revenue Courts during the last four years, and the amount realized in these cases, are exhibited in the following table :—

Year.	Number of cases.		Amount of duty and penalty realized		Total.

Prosecutions

7. The average number of prosecutions instituted for various breaches of the stamp law was 816. The average number of persons brought to trial was 929, of convictions 740, and of acquittals 116. The average amount of fines imposed by Magistrates was Rs. 6,626, while Rs. 1,756 were disbursed as rewards to informers. The Board bring to notice the fact that not a single rupee was paid as reward in the Patna, Orissa, and Chota Nagpore Divisions, in three out of the four districts of the Bhagulpore Division, in five out of the seven districts of the Rajshahye Division, in four out of the six districts of the Presidency Division, and in three out of the five districts of the Burdwan Division. This would seem to show that this important subject has not met with due attention on the part of local officers, for it is on the encouragement afforded by a liberal distribution of rewards that detection of infringements of the stamp law must largely depend.

8. The Board dwell at some length in their report on the evasion of duty in respect of probates, letters and certificates of administration, and remark on the absolute necessity of providing some agency for checking the valuation of estates of deceased persons by executors, and also for adjudicating on the valuations when objected to. This question has already formed the subject of a special correspondence between the Board, the High Court, and the Government, and the Lieutenant-Governor would prefer to deal with it separately from the triennial report.

9. The Lieutenant-Governor's acknowledgments are due to the Board for their careful administration of the Stamp Department. The names of the officers who have been mentioned as specially deserving of credit will be noted in the Appointment Department.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. J. S. COTTON,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

	Narail ...	0·76
	Bongong ...	0·60
10	Moorshedabad ,, 11, '90	Nil	Weather—bright and clear. Prospects of amun favourable. Kalai is still being sown. It is being resown on lands submerged by the recent rise of the rivers. Water gradually going down. Agricultural loans and gratuitous relief are still being given.
	Rajshahye Div.
11	Dinagepur ,, 11, '90	0·40	Weather—seasonable. Prospects continue favourable. Outturn of hasmanti rice may at present be estimated at almost 20 annas. Price of rice unchanged.
	Thakurgaon ...	0·11
12	Rajshahye ,, 11, '90	2·08	Weather—dry; clouds passing; rainy to-day (11th). Aus paddy gathered. Jute steeping and cleaning continue. Other crops thriving and flood receding. Prospect of hasmanti paddy good. A tornado passed over villages Jonail and Dighsoil in subdivision Nattore south to north, rising from Bulsatoil towards Beelchalan. About 22,000 bighas paddy and some 400 houses destroyed.
	Nattore	0·08
	Nowgong	0·39
13	Rungpur ,, 11, '90	Nil	Weather—cool and pleasant in the morning, but sultry later on. Rain is evidently impending. The mischief done by the storm of the 26th—28th extends over 200 villages which have lost the greater part of their crops. A tornado with a course of 2 miles in length by 120 feet in diameter has swept everything away on its track. Generally, however, prospects are excellent all round.
	Nilphamari ...	1·23
	Kurigram ...	2·90
	Gaibanda ...	1·45
14	Bogra ,, 11, '90	Nil	Weather—fine, with northerly breeze. Hot sun. The recent flood in the north and west of the district has destroyed or damaged a considerable area of transplanted rice: in those parts the outturn on the whole may perhaps be 10 annas, but the inquiries are not yet complete. Some jute has also been destroyed, but the outturn has been on the whole very large. The broadcast amun has been rather benefited, and elsewhere the amun rice of both kinds is mostly in excellent condition. Sugarcane promises generally well. Ploughing is going on, and mustard and kalai are being sown. Common rice is selling at 18 seers per rupee.
	Sherpur ...	0·03
	Nowkhilla ...	Nil
15	Pubna ,, 11, '90	Nil	Weather—rather hot. Rubbi sowings have commenced. Prospects of winter crops continue as before. Prices of food-grains have risen higher.
16	Darjeeling ,, 11, '90	0·07	Weather—fair. Prospects good. Hasmanti paddy doing well in Terai. Lands being prepared for rubbi crops.
	Silliguri ...	1·73
17	Julpigoree ,, 11, '90	3·13	Weather—hot and cloudy. Prospects of all crops generally good. Harvesting of jute continues. Price of rice unchanged.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE MONTH OF SEPTEMBER 1890.

THE most notable features in the weather conditions during September are:—

1. During a large part of the month lowest pressure was over the Bay, and at times a trough of relatively low pressure extended from the head of the Bay in a northerly direction over Bengal. Changes of pressure have seldom been large, and readings differed to any large extent from the normal only towards the end of the month.

2. The rainfall distribution was largely influenced by the almost permanent low-pressure area over the Bay, especially during the first half of the month, when very small amounts were received; the defect in North Bengal and Behar being about 2 inches for both the first and second weeks.

3. In ordinary years the western districts of Bengal derive part of their rain from the western current blowing across the Central Provinces, but this year, though steady westerly winds blew over almost the whole of Bengal for several days at the beginning of the month, these winds were so dry that only very scattered showers fell at that time.

4. While the dry westerly winds were blowing in the early part of the month, and even after the ordinary easterly circulation recommenced, clear skies were general and temperature several degrees above the normal, but after the disturbed conditions commenced during the last ten days, a very rapid fall commenced, and some unusually low temperatures were recorded, especially in Behar and North Bengal.

5. As stated above, pressure was generally low over the Bay, but between the 13th and 19th, and again from the 22nd, the differences of pressure increased, causing what may be called the depressions of the month, the former being very shallow and local in its influence, but the latter of greater importance, because of the heavy rain received over the whole of Bengal, which was under its influence from the 22nd till the end of the month.

From the 1st to the 5th lowest pressure was over North Bengal and North Behar, and a steady westerly current was blowing over almost the whole province as far east as the boundary of Assam, where the only showers at that time received in Bengal were probably caused by the meeting of this westerly current with that from the Assam valley. Day after day the stations in this corner reported rain, while elsewhere there was unusually dry, clear weather. On the 6th pressure was low over the Bay, and northerly winds were blowing in Orissa, but at inland stations light, variable breezes were general, or the westerly directions, which were gradually retreating, still obtained. Up till the 9th a trough of low pressure, extending from the centre of the Bay in a northerly direction, gradually drifted from east to west. During its passage variable winds prevailed, but afterwards the ordinary monsoon circulation became established, viz., south or south-west in Lower Bengal and east or south-east in the northern districts. From the 9th to the 13th the distribution of pressure was very uniform, and fine, clear weather prevailed in all districts, except North Bengal, where showers, sometimes heavy, were as general as earlier in the month.

Shallow depression from 13th to 19th.—On the 13th pressure began to fall in the north-west corner of the Bay, and a shallow depression formed, at first covering part of the Bay, Orissa, Chutia Nagpur, and the Central Provinces. After a further brisk fall of pressure it concentrated over Orissa on the 15th, where it practically remained till the 19th, when it filled up. On the 16th and 17th pressure rose to the north of the depression, and this rise forced it towards the south, more over the Circars, but this was the only motion observable while it existed. Rain commenced to fall in the central districts of Bengal on the 13th, and became more general till the 16th, after which it ceased in the north and east, though in South-West Bengal and Orissa showers fell till the 19th.

On the 19th and 20th fine weather generally prevailed but on the 21st unsettled conditions again began, a depression developing rapidly off the Circars on the 22nd in consequence of the rapid general rise of pressure in the surrounding country, while there it either remained steady or fell.

Depression from 22nd to 30th.—On the 22nd, when the low pressure area first became clearly defined, lowest pressure was at Vizagapatam, just under 29·65 inches, and gradients were steeper than usual, especially towards the north-east, the difference between Vizagapatam and Sibsagar being a quarter of an inch. On the 23rd there was still further intensification, and gradients were again steeper over the head of the Bay, and in Lower Bengal, a clearly defined indraught towards the area of low pressure resulting. The centre was close to the coast between Gopalpur and Vizagapatam, and on the 24th it was well inland, moving in a north-westerly direction. Between the 25th and 26th the direction of motion was northerly, and after that it moved almost due east, covering part of Chutia Nagpur on the 27th, and almost entirely filling up on the 28th, when a widely diffused low pressure area extended from the north of Bengal as far as the Circars. The barometer continuing to rise rapidly in Bengal on the 29th, pressure was again lowest in the Circars and the adjacent part of the Bay, and the depression was in almost the same position as when it commenced to form a week before, with the difference that pressure was higher by two-tenths of an inch. On the 30th a widely diffused low pressure area covered the Bay, and the distribution was steadily becoming more uniform.

Between the 23rd and 26th rainfall in Bengal was almost entirely confined to the southern districts, and heavy rain fell daily in Orissa, but after the change of direction of motion on the 26th, winds became southerly in Orissa, South-West and East Bengal, and general rain fell in all districts, continuing very heavily in the northern districts on the two following days, and especially in North Bengal after the storm broke up. Local thunder storms occurred over the whole province, the most severe being in North Bengal and the northern parts of East Bengal, and these were in places accompanied by very heavy falls of rain. On the 30th conditions were becoming more settled, and only a few showers fell in Lower Bengal.

Pressure—During the first half of the month underwent small changes only, and the mean was very nearly normal On the 16th a wave of high pressure, entering the province from the north-east and moving to the south-west, caused a rapid rise of pressure, first in North Bengal and afterwards in the southern districts, and forced the low pressure area from the Orissa coast southwards over the Circars, where it filled. The largest change was ·17 inch in Chutia Nagpur on the 17th. Pressure continued to rise rather rapidly, and up till the 26th there was a general excess, varying from ·075 inch at Gopalpur to ·05 inch in Assam, East and North Bengal and North Behar. After the depression commenced to move to the east from Central India, there was a rapid fall in the western districts, defect amounting to ·2 inch at Hazaribagh and Dehree on the 27th. A very rapid rise followed on the 28th in Chutia Nagpur and South Behar, and in the central districts on the 29th, after which a slow rise continued, the distribution becoming very uniform.

The means for the month are below the normal by about ·02 inch in the south of Orissa, and above by nearly 03 inch in East Bengal, but elsewhere the difference from the normal is only a few thousandths of an inch.

Temperature—Was below the normal for a day or two at the beginning of the month, when a steady rise setting in, first in the western districts, a considerable excess soon accumulated, averaging 3° or more in Behar, Chutia Nagpur and South-West Bengal and more than 1° over the whole province till about the middle of the month, after which it was generally below the normal, defect being between 3° and 5° at nearly all stations on the 24th. Temperature fell very rapidly between the 27th and 29th in Behar and North Bengal. On the 27th defect was between 6° and 7° in North Behar, and by the following day this had increased to between 10° and 12° at the more western stations, and on the 29th in Behar and North Bengal. Some very low night temperatures were recorded during these days, the lowest being 64·8° in Chutia Nagpur, 65·6° in North Bengal, and 66·5° in Behar. After the filling up of the depression there was a rapid rise, and by the end of the week defect was replaced by excess of 3° in Lower Bengal and 1° in the northern districts.

Rainfall—As stated above, was very scattered during the first half of the month in all districts, except North Bengal, but the formation of the two depressions in the south-west corner of the Bay gave continuous heavy rain in Orissa and part of South-West Bengal, and as the latter and more important of the two ultimately broke up in the northern districts, very heavy rain fell there at the end of the month. The greater part of the province has received deficient rainfall, the whole of North Bengal and the northern parts of Behar and East Bengal, as well as a strip of country running north and south and including Orissa and the western half of South-West Bengal, being the area over which falls have been heavier than usual. The connection of this distribution with the depressions is sufficiently clear, the lower districts being affected during their formation, and the northern districts while the second was filling up. Over the large area including Chutia Nagpur, South Behar, and part of North Behar on the west, and East Bengal and the eastern half of South-West Bengal on the east, the deficiency is very variable, being between 20 and 70 per cent. of the normal at eastern stations, and up to 40 per cent. in the western districts.

The comparison of the actual rainfall of the various large divisions of the province during the month is most accurately shown in the form of a percentage. The figures representing the rainfall for the month, calculated in this way, are included in the following table under the heading of September This table really gives a condensed summary of the rainfall statistics of the present year up to date for each meteorological division; the first nine columns giving the actual average falls in each division for each month expressed as a percentage of the normal, while the tenth column gives the actual rainfall of the first nine months as a percentage of the normal rainfall for that period.

The districts which have received more than 50 per cent. excess rainfall are :—Pooree Cuttack, Balasore, Bogra, Dinagepore and Rungpore (where the average fall is double the normal) : between 25 and 50 per cent.—Burdwan, Rajshahye and Purneah. Those where defect is over 50 per cent. are—Furreedpore, Dacca, and Tipperah : between 25 and 50 per cent.—Khoolna, Jessore, Backergunge, Durbhunga, Gya, South Bhagulpore, Lohardugga, and Manbhoom.

The heaviest falls in Orissa are 22 inches at Balasore and Jellasore, and 21 inches at Cuttack, while amounts at the other stations are nearly all over 15 inches. In South-West Bengal a large number of places received between 10 and 12 inches, except in Khoolna and Jessore, where falls are generally under 7 inches. In East Bengal the heaviest falls are Harrishpore 21·3, Subornakhally 16·8, Kutubdia 15·54, Jamalpore 14·1, and a few others in Chittagong and Mymensingh between 10 and 12 inches. In Tipperah and parts of Furreedpore and Dacca total falls are generally between 2 and 5 inches. In North Bengal falls are nearly all over 12, and in Rungpore, Julpigoree, Cooch Behar, and Darjeeling over 20 inches. The only reports under 10 inches are Pubna 8·85, Manda 6·55, and Sibgunge 7·78. The rainfall in Purneah is similar to that in North Bengal, amounts being generally between 15 and 20 inches, but in the other districts of North Bengal falls are nearly always between 5 and 10 inches In parts of South Behar less than 5 inches have been rather frequently registered, especially in Gya and the Sonthal Pergunnahs, but falls elsewhere are usually between 5 and 8 inches. In Chutia Nagpur the distribution is very uniform at about 7 inches.

The mean fall for the whole of Orissa, as shown in the table below, is 17·2 inches, or 6·9 above the normal; and in North Bengal, 19·17, which is 5·75 inches above the normal. The mean for South-West Bengal is practically normal, and for the other districts below the normal by 4·87 inches in East Bengal, 1·68 in Chutia Nagpur, 1·45 in South Behar, and ·32 in North Behar.

* Mean of six days.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period for the last ten years. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed as percentage, saturated air being presented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The numbers given in the rainfall column are the numerical means or average of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisional station for the period in question during the past week, as in the district reading in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least hundredth of an inch fell.

for the week ending Friday, the 10th of October 1890.

CALCUTTA, the 14*th October* 1890.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 10TH OCTOBER 1890.

EXCEPT on October 4th, the first day of the past week, weather was fine and settled, with neither pressure nor temperature differing to any great extent from the normal, and an almost entire absence of rainfall. On Saturday pressure was falling briskly in Behar, where readings were lowest, and up till then south-westerly or westerly winds had been blowing over Bengal as far east as Assam, but a shift to south-east of directions over the eastern half of the province seems to have caused the thunderstorms which prevailed so extensively on the evening of the 3rd in all districts except Behar, Chutia Nagpur, and Orissa, in the last two of which, however, a few scattered showers were received. Rain fell in varying quantity at nearly all stations in North Bengal, South-West Bengal and East Bengal, but after the 4th conditions again became settled with light variable winds in Bengal, and a slow indraught towards a commencing low-pressure area over the Bay. Up till the 6th there was very little change, and then a brisk rise commenced along the foot of the hills, giving relatively highest pressure there and north-east winds in East and North Bengal. At the same time a steady slow fall was going on in the Bay, making the depression daily more definite, at first in the extreme south, and probably covering a large area. By the end of the week it was not far from the coast, moving slowly towards Vizagapatam. The indraught to the low-pressure area stopped the flow of moist air from the Bay, so that during the latter part of the week very fine clear weather was general in Bengal. The influence of the depression, however, was beginning to be felt in Orissa, a few light showers falling there both on Thursday and Friday.

Pressure has been on an average below the normal by about two-hundredths of an inch at nearly all stations; changes have generally been below a twentieth of an inch. There was a brisk to moderate fall during the first two days, then a moderate rise for two days which gave a distribution very nearly normal, and on the last three a general slow fall.

Temperature has been below the normal in Assam and North Bengal, above the normal by less than half a degree in Lower Bengal, and above in Behar by about 1·5°. Changes have been very irregular, but generally small.

Rainfall.—Almost all the rain of the week fell on Saturday the 4th, being caused by the thunderstorms which were so general on that day. The weather almost immediately became more settled, and during the rest of the week only a few light scattered showers fell in East Bengal, chiefly in Chittagong, Backergunge, and Noakhally; in North Bengal in the Cooch Behar and Darjeeling Hill Districts, and in Orissa towards the end of the week. Average falls are very small in Orissa, Behar, and Chutia Nagpur, and very little over half an inch in the other districts. The average fall expressed as a percentage of the normal gives Chutia Nagpur 3, North Behar 7, South Behar 8, Orissa 14, North Bengal 44, East Bengal 49, and South-West Bengal 70.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 10th of October 1890:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

MEMORANDUM.

Monthly review of deaths registered in forty-five districts of Bengal for the month of July 1890.

THE deaths registered in forty-five districts in Bengal during the month of July 1890 were 115,581, and correspond to an annual rate of 21· per 1,000 of the aggregate population of those districts, which is 65,859,534. This rate is ·24 lower than the average rate of the corresponding months of the past five years 1885—89, and is higher than the rate of the corresponding period of any of the past five years except 1887 and 1889, vide the figures below—

	July 1885.	July 1886.	July 1887.	July 1888.	July 1889.	Monthly average of five years, 1885—89.	July 1890.
Ratio of deaths per 1,000 of the population per annum	18·72	16·80	24·84	20·52	25·08	21·24	21·00

The following table shows the highest proportions of deaths registered during the month of July 1890, compared with the corresponding month of 1889 :—

Districts.	Ratio per mille during— July 1890.	July 1889.	Districts.	Ratio per mille during— July 1890.	July 1889.

Chumparun	33·00	16·92	Gya	25·92	31·08

The total mortality during the month under review from the several registered death causes is compared in the following table with the mortality from those causes in the corresponding month of 1889 and the average of the five years 1885—89 :—

	Ratio per mille during— July 1890.	July 1889.	Monthly average of five years 1885—89.

Bowel-complaints	·60	·96	·84
Injury	·72	·84	·72
Other causes	2·88	3·48	2·88

Compared with the figures of July 1889, there is a noticeable reduction in the mortality of July 1890 under the heads cholera and fever.

The highest annual death-rates from the registered death-causes occurred in the following districts :—

OFFICE OF SANITARY COMMISSIONER FOR BENGAL,

The 8th October 1890.

W. H. GREGG, Dip. Publ. Health, Camb.,

Sanitary Commissioner for Bengal.

MEMORANDUM.

Weekly review of births and deaths in twenty-seven of the principal towns of Bengal for the week ending with Saturday, the 27th September 1890

Births.

The births registered during the week ending with Saturday, the 27th September 1890, in twenty-seven principal towns of Bengal correspond to an annual rate of 22·2 per 1,000 of the aggregate population of those towns, which is 1,061,574. This rate is 3·3 below the average rate of the corresponding week of the past five years, and is also below the rate of the corresponding week of any of the past five years except 1887—vide the figures below—

	1885.	1886.	1887.	1888.	1889.	Weekly average of five years, 1885–89.	1890.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The 18th October 1890.

No. 373.—Notification.—The subjoined bye-laws for the working of the Patna Tramway, which have been confirmed by the Local Government under section 26 of the Bengal Tramways Act, 1883, are published for general information.

J. M. MCNEILE, Col., R.E.,
Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

1. No car shall be driven at a greater pace than seven miles an hour. On all sharp curves and down steep inclines cars shall not be driven at a greater pace than four miles an hour.

2. A clear space of at least 50 feet shall be kept between successive cars, except at stations or turn-outs, unless it may be necessary to approach nearer in order to avoid collision or prevent injury.

3. No two cars proceeding in opposite directions shall stop abreast of one another and so block the street. They shall stop so as to have a clear distance along the line of 50 feet between them.

4. At the intersection of narrow streets cars shall not be driven at a greater speed than five miles an hour, and they shall be stopped so that at most the rear platform only shall remain opposite the intersected street.

5. For the breach of any of the above four rules the driver and conductor shall each be liable to a fine not exceeding Rs. 20.

6. The driver shall at all times be responsible for seeing that the line is clear of obstructions, and if there is any risk of collision, or the line is in any way obstructed, the car shall be stopped till the line is clear of obstruction. The penalty for infringement of this rule shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 20.

7. If a procession be passing along the street, the car shall be stopped till it has passed. For breach of this rule the conductor and driver shall be each liable to a fine not exceeding Rs. 10.

8. During the Mohurrum or any other festival on which a large crowd shall be expected to assemble, it shall be lawful for the District Superintendent of Police by written order to prohibit the running of the cars upon specific sections of the line during specific hours. For infringing this bye-law the conductor shall be liable to a fine of Rs. 20.

9. The purdahs or other side arrangements on the cars shall be so arranged as not to project beyond the foot-board, flap about, or otherwise interfere with the passing traffic.

10. No horse that is not thoroughly broken in shall be used in any tram-car.

For any breach of rules 9 and 10, the Company and the conductor shall each be liable to a fine not exceeding Rs. 20.

11. Every conductor and driver shall wear a distinguishing badge in such way as to be fully exposed to view, and shall state his number to any passenger asking for it. The penalty for infringement of this rule shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 5.

12. In the classes of cars enumerated below the number of passengers carried shall not exceed the number stated opposite to each class—

1	Horse car, four rows benches	...	...	...	24
1	Ditto longitudinal	...	...	...	24
2	Ditto ditto	...	...	...	40

In the event of passengers in excess of the above numbers being carried, the conductor shall be liable to a fine not exceeding Rs. 5.

13. Any person may secure for himself as many seats as he wishes by paying double fare for each extra seat.

14. Every passenger has a right to cause the car to be stopped for the purpose of leaving it, and if there is room in the car, every intending passenger has the right to cause the car to be stopped for the purpose of getting into it.

The conductor shall, under the above circumstances, be bound to stop the car as soon as possible after being required to do so by any passenger or intending passenger. For breach of this rule he shall incur a penalty not exceeding Rs. 5.

15. On the occurrence of any accident causing serious injury to person or property, it shall be the duty of the Company to report the matter at the police-station within the jurisdiction of which the accident may have occurred, or at the nearest police-station, whichever may be most convenient, within one hour of such accident, and to give the police full and prompt assistance in the prosecution of any enquiry which they may institute. For neglect to comply with this regulation the Company shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding Rs. 20.

16. If in connection with such accident any person receives any serious bodily injury, it shall be the duty of the conductor to make arrangements to send such person to hospital with the least possible delay, unless his friends desire otherwise and agree to take charge of him. If the conductor omits to make such arrangements, he shall incur a penalty not exceeding Rs. 10.

17. No conductor or driver shall use abusive language to any of the passengers or intending passengers, or behave in an insolent manner, or misconduct himself in any other way in the performance of his duty. The penalty for infringement of this rule shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 10.

18. Every car running between sunset and day-break shall carry two bright lights, one in front of the car and one at the back, and the horses shall also be provided with bells. For infringement of this rule the driver and conductor shall each be liable to a fine not exceeding Rs. 20.

19. Cars reserved for females shall have a distinguishing mark. For infringement of this rule the Company shall be liable to a fine of Rs. 20.

20. A conductor charging or asking for more than the rate fixed in the table of fares shall be liable to a penalty of Rs. 20.

NOTIFICATION—EXAMINATIONS.

Simla, the 10th October 1890.

No 71.—The following regulations respecting the Examination of Candidates for the Civil Service of India to be held in August 1892 are published for general information.

Copies of these regulations and of the form of application may be obtained on application to the Secretary to the Government of India, Home Department.

EXAMINATIONS FOR THE CIVIL SERVICE OF INDIA.

REGULATIONS FOR THE OPEN COMPETITION OF AUGUST 1892.

N.B.—The Regulations are liable to be altered in future years.

1. On the 1st August 1892, and following days, an Examination, open to all qualified persons, will be held in London (a). Not fewer than 32 persons will be selected, if so many shall be found duly qualified; viz., for the Lower Provinces of Bengal (including Assam); for the Upper Provinces of Bengal (including the Punjab, Oudh and the Central Provinces); for Burma; for Madras; and for Bombay (b)

2. No person will be deemed qualified who shall not satisfy the Civil Service Commissioners—

(i) That he is a natural born subject of Her Majesty.

(ii) That his age will be above twenty-one years and under twenty-three years on the 1st April 1892.

[N.B.—In the case of Natives of India, (i) and (ii) must be certified by the Government of India, or of the Presidency or Province in which the Candidate may have resided.]

(iii) That he has no disease, constitutional affection, or bodily infirmity unfitting him, or likely to unfit him, for the Civil Service of India.

(iv) That he is of good moral character.

3. Should the evidence upon the above points be primâ facie satisfactory to the Civil Service Commissioners, the Candidate, on payment of the prescribed fee (c), will be admitted to the Examination. The Commissioners may, however, in their discretion, at any time prior to the grant of the Certificate of Qualification hereinafter referred to, institute such further

---

(a) An order for admission to the Examination will be sent to each Candidate on the 18th July.

(b) The numbers for the different Presidencies will be announced hereafter.

(c) The fee (£5) will be payable by means of a special stamp according to instructions which will be communicated to Candidates.

nquiries as they may deem necessary; and if the result of such inquiries in the case of any Candidate should be unsatisfactory to them in any of the above respects, he will be ineligible for admission to the Civil Service of India, and if already selected will be removed from the position of a Probationer.

4. The Open Competitive Examination will take place only in the following branches of knowledge:—

		Marks.
French Language and Literature		500
German ditto ditto		500
English ditto ditto (including special period to be named by the Commissioners)		500
Sanskrit Language and Literature		500

Candidates are at liberty to name any or all of these branches of knowledge (d). No subjects are obligatory.

5. The merit of the persons examined will be estimated by marks; and the number set opposite to each branch in the preceding regulation denotes the greatest number of marks that can be obtained in respect of it.

6. The marks assigned to Candidates in each branch will be subject to such deduction as the Civil Service Commissioners may deem necessary (e) in order to secure that "a Candidate be allowed no credit at all for taking up a subject in which he is a mere smatterer."

7. The Examination will be conducted on paper and viva voce, as may be deemed necessary.

8. The marks obtained by each Candidate, in respect of each of the subjects in which he shall have been examined, will be added up, and the names of the several Candidates who shall have obtained, after the deduction above mentioned, a greater aggregate number of marks than any of the remaining Candidates will be set forth in order of merit, and such Candidates shall be deemed to be Selected Candidates for the Civil Service of India, provided they appear to be in other respects duly qualified. Should any of the Selected Candidates become disqualified, the Secretary of State for India will determine whether the vacancy thus created shall be filled up or not. In the former case, the Candidate next in order of merit, and in other respects duly qualified, shall be deemed to be a selected Candidate. A candidate entitled to be deemed a selected Candidate, declining to accept the nomination as such, which may be offered to him, will be disqualified for any subsequent competition.

(d) A syllabus, defining in general terms the character of the Examination in the various subjects will be issued, and notice of its appearance given in the London Gazette.

(e) Marks assigned in English Composition and Mathematics will be subject to no deduction. Each science will, for the purpose of deduction, be treated as a separate subject.

9. Selected Candidates before proceeding to India will be on probation for one year, at the end of which time they will be examined with a view of testing their progress in the following subjects (f):— "

		Marks.
Compulsory—
1.	Indian Penal Code and Criminal Procedure Code, 1882	500
2.	The principal Vernavular Language of the Province to which the Candidate is assigned	400
3.	History of British India	800

Optional. [Not more than two of these subjects.]—

		Marks.
1.	The Code of Civil Procedure, 1882, and the Indian Law of Contract, 1872	450
2.	Hindu and Mohammedan Law	350
*3.	Sanskrit	400
*4.	Arabic	400
5.	Persian	400
*6.	Political Economy	400

In this Examination, as in the Open Competition, the merit of the Candidates examined will be estimated by marks (which will be subject to deductions in the same way as the marks assigned at the Open Competition), and the number set opposite to each subject denotes the greatest number of marks that can be obtained in respect of it at any one Examination. The Examination will be conducted on paper and viva voce, as may be deemed necessary. This Examination will be held at the close of the year of probation, and will be called the "Final Examination."

10. Candidates will be tested during their probation as to their ability to perform journeys on horseback; and no Candidate will be deemed qualified for the Civil Service of India who fails to satisfy the Civil Service Commissioners of his competence in this respect.

11. The selected Candidates who, at the Final Examination, shall be found to have a competent knowledge of the subjects specified in Regulation 9, and who shall have satisfied the Civil Service Commissioners of their eligibility in respect of nationality, age, health, character, and ability to ride, shall be certified by the said Commissioners to be entitled to be appointed to the Civil Service of India, provided they shall comply with the regulations in force at the time for that Service.

12. Persons desirous to be admitted as Candidates must apply on Forms, which may be obtained from "The Secretary, Civil Service Commission, London, S.W.," at any time after the 1st December 1891. The Forms must be returned so as to be received at the office of the Civil Service Commissioners on or before 31st May 1892 (g).

The Civil Service Commissioners are authorized by the Secretary of State for India in Council to make the following announcements:—

(1) Selected Candidates will ordinarily be permitted to choose, according to the order in which they stand in the list resulting from the Open Competition, so long as a choice remains, the Presidency (and in Bengal the Division of the Presidency) to which they shall be appointed; but this choice will be subject to any other arrangement which the Secretary of State or the Government of India may deem necessary (h).

(2) Selected Candidates will be required to report their arrival in India within such period after the grant of their Certificate of Qualification as the Secretary of State may in each case direct.

(3) The seniority in the Civil Service of India of the Selected Candidates will be determined according to the order in which they stand on the list resulting from the combined marks of the Open Competitive and Final Examinations. Candidates selected under these Regulations in 1892 will, in view of the alteration in the limits of age, have seniority over the Candidates selected under the previous Regulations in 1891.

(4) An allowance amounting to £100 will be given to all Candidates who pass their probation at one of the Universities or Colleges which have been approved by the Secretary of State, viz, the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge, Dublin, Glasgow, Edinburgh, St. Andrew's, and Aberdeen; University College, London; and King's College, London; provided such Candidates shall have passed the Final Examinations to the satisfaction of the Civil Service Commissioners, and shall have complied with such rules as may be laid down for the guidance of Selected Candidates.

* These subjects may not be offered by any Candidate who has offered them at the previous Examination.

(f) A syllabus, showing the extent of the examination, will be issued to the successful Candidates as soon as possible after the result of the open Competition is declared.

(g) These forms should be accompanied by evidence on the points mentioned in Regulation 2, and by a list of the subjects in which the Candidate desires to be examined. Evidence of health and character must bear date not earlier than 1st May 1892. Applications for leave to alter or add to the list of subjects named will not be entertained unless received on or before the 5th July.

(h) This choice must be exercised immediately after the result of the Open Competition is announced on such day as may be fixed by the Civil Service Commissioners.

Candidates are not permitted to migrate from the University originally chosen by them to another University without first applying to the India Office for the permission, and receiving the sanction, of the Secretary of State, who will not entertain such application unless good and sufficient reasons are assigned.

(5) The allowance of £100 will not be paid to any Selected Candidate until he has been certified by the Civil Service Commissioners to be entitled to be appointed to the Civil Service of India; and every Certificated Candidate must, before receiving his allowance, attend at the India Office and enter into an agreement binding himself, amongst other things, to refund in certain cases the amount of his allowance in the event of his failing to proceed to India. A surety will be required.

(6) All Candidates obtaining Certificates will be also required to enter into covenants, by which, amongst other things, they will bind themselves to agree to such Regulations for the provision of pensions for their families as may be approved by the Secretary of State for India in Council. The stamps payable on these covenants amount to £1.

(7) Candidates rejected at the Final Examination of 1893 will in no case be allowed to present themselves for re-examination.

SYLLABUS.

Showing the extent of the Examination in certain subjects at the Open Competition for admission into the Indian Civil Service in 1892.

THE Regulations governing the Open Competition for admission into the Indian Civil Service have been framed with a view to the principle regarded by Lord Macaulay's Committee, in 1854, as essential, viz., that the object of the competition should be to secure for the Indian Civil Service officers who "have received the best, the most liberal, the most finished education that their native country affords." The scheme of examination has accordingly been made to embrace most of the subjects of the Honour Schools in the Universities of Great Britain and Ireland. In administering the scheme, the Civil Service Commissioners, concurring with Lord Macaulay's Committee in the opinion "that no candidate who may fail should, to whatever calling he may betake himself, have any reason to regret the time and labour which he has spent in preparing himself to be examined," desire to avoid all disturbance of the general course of University studies, and to render it possible, with due regard for the principle of Open Competition, for those who have graduated with honours at the Universities to attend the Examination for the Indian Civil Service with good prospects of success. The appended Syllabus shows in outline the intentions of the Commissioners with regard to the extent and character of the examination in those subjects which seem to require further definition. The scope of the examination in the subjects not mentioned in the Syllabus is sufficiently defined in the scheme published in the Regulations themselves. The Examiners will be instructed to keep the Standard in each subject up to the level of the highest course of study pursued in the Universities.

English Composition.—An Essay to be written on one of several subjects specified by the Civil Service Commissioners on their Examination Paper.

English Language and Literature.—The Examination will be in two parts. In the one the candidates will be expected to show a general acquaintance with the course of English Literature, as represented (mainly) by the following writers in verse and prose, between the reign of Edward III and the accession of Queen Victoria:

Verse—Chaucer, Langland, Spenser, Shakespeare, Milton, Dryden, Pope, Gray, Collins, Johnson, Goldsmith, Crabbe, Cowper, Campbell, Wordsworth, Scott, Byron, Coleridge, Shelley, Keats.

Prose—Bacon, Sir Thomas Browne, Milton, Swift, Defoe, Addison, Johnson, Burke, Scott, Southey.

A minute knowledge of the works of these authors will not be looked for in this part of the Eamination, which will, however, test how far the candidates have studied the chief productions of the greatest English writers in themselves, and are acquainted with the leading characteristics of their thought and style, and with the place which each of them occupies in the history of English literature. Candidates will also be expected to show that they have studied in these authors the history of the English language in respect of its vocabulary, syntax, and prosody.

The other part of the Examination will relate to one of the periods named below, which will follow each other, year by year, in the order indicated :—

1.	1340——1600
(1892)	[Chaucer to Spenser]
2.	1600——1700
(1893)	[Shakespeare to Dryden]
3.	1700——1800
(1894)	[Pope to Cowper]
4.	1800——1832
(1895)	[Nineteenth Century writers to the death of Scott]

The Examination in this part will require from Candidates a more minute acquaintance with the history of the English language and literature, as illustrated in the chief works produced in each period, and will be based to a considerable extent, but by no means exclusively, on certain books specified each year by the Commissioners.* The names placed under the dates are intended to suggest the general character of the literary development of the period, and, consequently, the natural limits of the Examination. All the works of Shakespeare, for example, will be regarded as falling within the second period; all the works of Swift within the third; all the works of Scott and Wordsworth within the last.

French Language and Literature.—Passages for translation from French into English, and from English into French; Critical questions on the French Language and Literature.

German Language and Literature.—As in French.

Latin Language and Literature.—Passages for translation from Latin into English. Composition in Prose and Verse (in the place of the latter may be taken, by those who prefer it, a paper of critical questions on the style of the Latin orators and poets, based on Cicero, De Oratore, and Quintilian, Institutiones Oratoriæ, Lib. x.); Critical Questions on the Latin Language and Literature.

Greek Language and Literature.—Translations from Greek into English. Composition in Prose and Verse (in the place of the latter may be taken, by those who prefer it, a paper of critical questions on the style of the Greek orators and poets, based on Aristotle's Rhetoric (Book iii) and Poetics). Critical Questions on the Greek Language and Literature.

Sanskrit Language and Literature.—Passages for translation into English from Sanskrit and from Sanskrit into English. History of Sanskrit Literature (including knowledge of such Indian history as bears upon the subject); Sanskrit Grammar; Vedic Philology.

Arabic Language and Literature.—Translations as in Sanskrit; History of Arabic Literature; Arabic Grammar; Arabic Prosody.

English History.—General questions on English History from 800 to 1848; questions on the Constitutional History of England from 800 to 1848.

Questions covering the whole period named will be set, but Candidates will be allowed to attempt only a limited number of them.

General Modern History.—Candidates may, at their choice, be examined in any one of the following periods:—

1. From the accession of Charlemagne—The Third Crusade.
   800 ——— 1193.
2. From the Third Crusade—The Diet of Worms.
   1193 ——— 1521.
3. From the Diet of Worms—The end of the reign of Louis XIV.
   1521 ——— 1715.
4. From the accession of Louis XV.—The French Revolution of 1848.
   1715 ——— 1848.

   Periods 3 and 4 will include Indian History.

Greek History.—Questions on the General History of Greece to the death of Alexander; questions on the Constitutional History of Greece during the same period.

Roman History.—Questions on the General History of Rome to the death of Vespasian; questions on the Constitutional History of Rome during the same period.

In Greek and Roman History Candidates will be expected to show a knowledge of the original authorities. Questions covering the whole period named will be set, but Candidates will be allowed to attempt only a limited number of them.

Mathematics.—Pure Mathematics: Algebra, Geometry (Euclid and Geometrical Conic Sections), Plane Trigonometry, Plane Analitical Geometry (less advanced portions) Differential Calculus (Elementary), Integral Calculus (Elementary).

Applied Mathematics: Statics, Dynamics of a Particle, Hydrostatics, Geometrical Optics, all treated without the aid of the Differential or Integral Calculus.

Advanced Mathematics.—Pure Mathematics: Higher Algebra, including Theory of Equations, Plane and Spherical Trigonometry, Differential Calculus, Integral Calculus, Differential Equations, Analytical Geometry, Plane and Solid.

Applied Mathematics: Statics, including Attractions, Dynamics of a Particle, Rigid Dynamics, Hydromechanics, Geometrical and Physical Optics, Geometrical and Physical Astronomy, excluding the Planetary Theory.

* The books for 1892 are—

Chaucer: Prologue to the Canterbury Tales; The Flower and the Leaf; The Assembly of Foules Minor Poems.
Langland: Vision of Piers Plowman.
Spenser: Faery Queen, Books I, II; Shepherd's Kalendar.
Sir John Mandeville's Travels.
Sir Thomas More's Utopia.

JUDICIAL.

The 17th October 1890.

No. 1525.—In exercise of the power conferred by section 35A(1) of the Births, Deaths and Marriages Registration Act, VI of 1886, as amended by Act XVI of 1890, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to appoint the undermentioned persons to be Commissioners for the purpose of examining and verifying the registers or records which have already been, or may hereafter be, sent under section 32 of the Act to the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages for Bengal:

The Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages for Bengal.

The Remembrancer of Legal Affairs, Bengal.

The Registrar of the Calcutta Diocese.

No. 1535.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 36 (e) and (f) of the Births, Deaths and Marriages Registration Act, VI of 1886, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to frame the following rules for the guidance of Commissioners to be appointed under section 35A (1) of the above Act as amended by Act XVI of 1890:

1. The descriptive lists to be prepared by the Commissioners appointed under Chapter V of the Act shall show, in three separate classes, the registers or records, or portions of registers or records—

(a) relating to births, baptisms, namings or dedications;

(c) relating to deaths or burials.

2. Each list shall show in each class in alphabetical order the places at which the registers or records, or portions of registers or records, therein referred to have been kept.

3. The volumes of the registers or records, or portions of registers or records, kept at each place shall be shown in the list according to the chronological sequence of the entries therein, and the number so assigned to each volume in the list shall be written or impressed on the outside of such volume.

4. The pages of each register or record, or portion of a register or record, examined shall be numbered in consecutive order, and the total number of the pages in each register or record, or portion of a register or record, shall be entered in the descriptive list.

5. The entries in each year in every register or record, or portion of a register or record, examined shall be numbered in consecutive order where this has not already been done, and the total number of entries for each year in each register or record, or portion of a register or record, shall be shown in the descriptive list, together with the dates of the first and last entries.

6. Every blank space, blank page, interlineation and erasure found in each register or record, or portion of a register or record, when examined by the Commissioners, shall be indicated therein by a stamp impressed, and the descriptive list shall show in appropriate columns on what pages in each register or record, or portion of a register or record, such impressions have been made.

7. Entries in registers or records, or portions of registers or records, which purport to be true copies only, shall be indicated therein by a stamp impressed, and the descriptive list shall show on what pages in each register or record, or portion of a register or record, such impressions have been made.

8. Every descriptive list shall further show in appropriate columns the following particulars:—

(1) the name and description of the person from whom each register or record, or portion of a register or record, to which it relates was received;

(2) the names and descriptions of the persons by whom such register or record, or portion of a register or record, was kept;

(3) the class or classes of persons to whom the entries in such register or record, or portion of a register or record, relate;

(4) the condition of each register or record, or portion of a register or record, or any other remarks relating thereto, as the Commissioners may think fit to record.

9. The descriptive list shall be in the following form :—

The Indian Law Reports,

Published under Authority.

THE Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor-General in Council appear in monthly parts, published as soon as possible after the first of each month at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, and comprise four series—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court. The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the Series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat, and the Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad respectively.

In supersession of the previous advertisements, on and from the 1st January 1889 the terms of subscription and sale will be as follows for current issues as well as for back numbers of the Reports from 1876:—

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses, both chemical and industrial; trade statistics; markets, &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributions have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names; so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal pages; Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891; but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary; and this as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs. 30 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole sets.

 No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete, and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs. 45 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.

REPORT ON THE ECONOMIC AND ART SECTION OF THE INDIAN MUSEUM FOR THE YEAR 1889-90.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—MISCELLANEOUS.

Darjeeling, the 13th October, 1890.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Report of the Trustees of the Indian Museum on the Economic and Art Section of the Indian Museum for the year 1889-90.

The Report of the Assistant Curator of the Economic and Art Section of the Indian Museum was submitted to Government with remarks by the Trustees of the Indian Museum on the 6th September 1890.

2. As in previous years, the work was mainly confined to preserving specimens from the influences of climate and the ravages of insects, the insecure condition of the present building and the insufficient number of show cases making this a difficult task. In spite of every care, some samples of woollen goods and raw materials were so damaged as to be unfit for display. It is considered that air-tight glass-cases, with the air inside fully impregnated with napthaline, afford the only means of securing efficient protection, and provision for such cases has accordingly been made in the estimate of fittings for the new building now under construction. The attention of the Public Works Department will be drawn to the recommendation of the Trustees that the completion of this building be expedited.

3. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to notice that the arrangements referred to in last year's Resolution, as to the exchange of specimens between the Economic Museum and the Jaipur Museum, have been effected. An interesting series of specimens was received from Jaipur, and the return collection is reported to be almost ready for despatch. A number of valuable specimens, not represented before, was added to the Artware Court during the year, partly by donation and partly by purchase. Additions were also made to the exhibits in the Ethnological and Economical Courts. The total number of specimens in the register of each Court stood as follows on the 31st March, 1890:—

	Last number on 31st March, 1889.	Last number on 31st March, 1890.	Number of articles damaged during 1889-90.	Net increase during the year.
Art-ware Court ...	10,090	10,526	Nil	436
Economic „ ...	16,816	16,954	13	123
Ethnology ...	6,972	7,145	Nil	173

4. The most important works in which the Assistant Curator and his staff were engaged during the year were (1) the formation of a large and exhaustive collection of the fibres and mat and paper grasses of India for distribution to several institutions in the United Kingdom; and (2) the formation of comprehensive collections of the whole of the economic products of India for the Imperial Institute, London, the Indian Museum, and any other museums in India which Provincial Governments may recommend, and for which they may be prepared to purchase a set of specimens. No actual collecting was done during the year, but tabular statements of all the products required from the various provinces during 1890-91 were prepared, and the preliminary correspondence issued. It is proposed to make the collections pari pasu with Dr. Watt's Dictionary of the Economic Products of India, which will thus form an analytical and descriptive catalogue of the specimens. The proposal has the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor.

5. On the recommendation of the Bengal Committee of the Colonial and Indian Museum, who brought their work to a close during the year, a sum of Rs. 7,025, being the balance of the sale proceeds of exhibits, was placed at the disposal of the Trustees for the purchase of good specimens of Bengal art-ware to form a collection under the name of the "Asanullah and Swarnamayi" collection in commemoration of the liberal donations of the Nawab Asanullah of Dacca and the Maharani Swarnamayi of Cossimbazar towards the cost of the Bengal Screen.

6. The Lieutenant-Governor notices with pleasure that the arrangement under which the accounts of the Economic and Art Museum were transferred to the Trustees' Office on the 1st May 1890 is working well.

7. The lamented death of Mr. E. F. T. Atkinson, C.S., C.I.E., Chairman of the Trustees, which occurred in September, 1890, has deprived the Government and the Board of Trustees of the services and advice of an enthusiastic worker in the causes to which the Indian Museum is devoted. Sir Steuart Bayley desires to record his appreciation of the late Mr. Atkinson's zeal and labours in the pursuit of scientific knowledge.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. E. BUCKLAND,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE GENERAL ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE CHOTA NAGPORE DIVISION FOR THE YEAR 1889-90.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—MISCELLANEOUS.

Calcutta, the 16th October, 1890.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The General Administration Report of the Chota Nagpore Division for the year 1889-90.

Material condition of the people.

The report, submitted by Mr. Grimley, who was in charge of the Division throughout the year, deals fully with all the prescribed topics, and it is necessary to touch in this Resolution only on some points to which the attention of the Lieutenant-Governor has been specially attracted. The price of food was high during the year, a condition favourable to the ryot in his character of a producer, but injurious to such labourers as are paid in money. The yield of the different crops was good, with the result that there was a large increase in the export trade. In the Lohardugga district there has been a distinct rise in the rate of wages, unskilled workmen now getting from 2 annas to 2 annas 3 pies a day against 1 anna 9 pies to 2 annas in 1887-88, and a similar tendency is observed in Manbhoom. Public health was better than in the preceding year, and there were also some minor causes at work to improve temporarily or permanently the condition of the masses, which in this Division is generally the reverse of satisfactory. The Commissioner writes:—

"In Manbhoom the opening of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway enabled the cultivators to take advantage of the high prices ruling in the neighbouring districts and to export their surplus stocks of rice, oilseeds, &c., at a substantial profit, while the excellent outturn of the lac crop materially benefited the people of Jhalda, Bagmoondi, and the rest of the western parts of the district. In Singbhoom the construction of the railway brought a great deal of money into the district, a good portion of which was earned by people of all classes from all parts of the district. In Hazaribagh, apart from the general prosperity consequent on the good harvests, the people of Gawan, Koderma, Baraganda and Giridih and their neighbourhood found ample work in the numerous mica, copper and coal mines at comparatively high wages. In Lohardugga the 'opening of the Bengal-Nagpur lines in the Division, the operations of the public works and road cess departments on a large scale within the district, extensive development of trade at the various centres and the local tea-gardens, have increased the demand for labour, and the consequent rise in the price of wages has greatly ameliorated the condition of the poorer classes.' The working of the Anglican and German Missionaries has also brought on a great change among the aboriginal races who at present constitute an important section of the population of the district. Much improvement is to be observed in their mode of building houses, and they take greater care to keep themselves neat and clean, and have a general tendency to give up some of their primitive habits and ways of living. A great advance is also noticeable in their style of clothing. The condition of the non-Christians too, as regards dress and dwelling-houses, has made a visible improvement within the past few years."

Mining.

2. In this Division considerable importance attaches to mining operations, and it should be the object of all Government officers having the charge of estates, or being otherwise in a position of authority in regard to such matters, to afford every facility for prospecting, while refraining from making any settlement of permanent mining rights otherwise than in accordance with the prescribed rules. An economic survey is now being made of the Jharia coal-fields, and leases were granted for mica prospecting, under rules lately framed by this Government for the purpose, over 190 acres out of 370 acres applied for. The applications in regard to the balance should be promptly disposed of, if this has not been done already. In the principal coal mines the output was 564,971 tons against 630,527 tons in the preceding year; in the mica mines 1,333 maunds; in refined copper 320 tons against 218. In regard to gold the Commissioner writes:—

"In Lohardugga the aborigines of Sonapet have for a long time obtained small quantities of gold by washing the sand of the Sona river, but the quantities gathered have never been sufficient to pay them anything more than their daily wages. The Sonapet valley is almost entirely encircled by a belt of hills, and some of the reefs in these hills have been examined by mining geologists, and the favourable reports submitted have encouraged several persons to take up tracts of land with the view of forming mining companies. The Bengal-Nagpur Railway has brought the district of Singbhoom within reach of Calcutta and into prominent notice in commercial circles. Syndicates have been formed there with the view of exploiting its mineral resources, and there are at the present time several important applications pending before me for licenses to prospect for minerals. In fact, signs are not wanting that this district with its mineral and forest products has a great future before it."

State of public feeling.

3. Of chief importance in connexion with the subject of public feeling is an agrarian agitation which has arisen among the Kols and which has connected itself with a singular religious development. The Kols have for many years shown signs of discontent with their existing condition, especially in relation to the claims made upon them by landlords for excessive rents and for unpaid labour. At one time the feeling induced a few of them to put forward political claims which had to be unhesitatingly rejected. During the past year the dissatisfaction with the landlords' demands showed itself in some lawlessness, not of a very aggravated character, and in frequent refusals to pay rent or to give unpaid labour—symptoms which have caused the landlord class considerable uneasiness. A body of Jesuit missionaries have recently been extending their operations in the Division and have warmly taken up the cause of their Kol converts. Under this influence the number of conversions has been remarkable, though, as Mr. Grimley points out, in many cases "the enquiry established the fact that the conversions to Christianity were effected by the rough and simple process of depriving the new convert of his topknot, and also that those who allowed themselves to be thus easily converted to the new faith did so in the full hope and belief that they would be thereby enabled to escape from the exactions of their landlords, whether in the shape of rent, cesses or predial services." With the consent of the Government the Commissioner issued a proclamation specifying the amount of services which had been customary in past times and warning the zemindars to demand nothing in excess, at the same time urging the ryots to yield what was due. Other remedial measures of a more permanent character were discussed at a conference at Ranchi, and the Lieutenant-Governor is now awaiting a report from the Commissioner on them.

4. The thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are given to Mr. Grimley for his careful administration of the Division during the year. Colonel Garbett, Colonel Lillingston, and Colonel Samuells all worked well as Deputy Commissioners, and Mr. Baker, of Manbhoom, showed administrative ability of an exceptional degree. The remarks of Deputy Commissioners as to their subordinate officers are not included in the Commissioner's report. This omission should now be supplied.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. E. BUCKLAND,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

	Behar ...	1·11
	Dinapore ...	1·60
27	Gya „ 17, '90	0·32	Weather—clear and sometimes cloudy. Prospects of paddy and other crops favourable. Sowing of rubbi commenced. Sugarcane prospering. Prices of food-grains falling daily.
28	Shahabad „ 18, '90	2·99	Weather—cool. The late rain has checked rubbi ploughing, and has harmed bajra, which, however, is cultivated only in small quantities. On the whole, the rain will not have harmed rubbi, and will, if anything, improve the paddy, which is now excellent.
	Buxar ...	2·06
	Bhabuah ...	0·31
	Sasseram ...	0·94
29	Durbhunga „ 18, '90	Figures not given.	Weather—cloudy and rainy during greater portion of the week. There has been sufficient rain this week. It has greatly improved the prospects of the rice crop. A break is, however, necessary to facilitate rubbi sowings. Prices almost stationary.
30	Mozufferpur „ 18, '90	1·56	Weather—somewhat cloudy and cold. Prospects of rice crop excellent. Recent rainfall has done some harm to rubbi crops which are being sown. Prices stationary.
31	Sarun „ 18, '90	1·93	Weather—seasonable. Much cooler since the rainfall early in the week. Prospects of crops very good, and still further improved by the rain which fell almost universally during the week.
32	Chumparun „ 18, '90	6·8	Weather—cool and cloudy. Ploughing of fields for rubbi sowings stopped by incessant rain. Prospects of paddy very good.
Bhagulpore Divn.
33	Monghyr „ 18, '90	2·29	Weather—cloudy and rainy. Prospects of standing crops continue favourable. Rain has been beneficial to the winter rice.

* Mean of six days.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the readings during the same period for the last ten years. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed in percentages, saturated air being represented by 100, a clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The numbers given in the column of rainfall in the district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisional station for the period in question during the past week. The number of stations in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least hundredth of an inch fell.

for the week ending Friday, the 17th of October 1890.

CALCUTTA, the 21*st October* 1890.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 17TH OCTOBER 1890.

METEOROLOGICALLY speaking, the past week has been the most important of a very uneventful season, in that it furnished the severest cyclonic storm of the year up to date. It may be remembered that at the end of the previous week a low-pressure area had formed, with its centre between the Andamans and Madras. On the 11th it had intensified considerably and approached the coast, wind increased to a gale at Pooree and Gopalpore, and fierce squalls developed in the south and south-west quadrants of the whirl. On the 12th the centre of the depression continued its north-westerly march and crossed the coast during that night, winds meanwhile abating somewhat. On the 13th and 14th the depression moved northwards, its centre keeping steadily parallel to the coast; winds of course increasing at all points in its progress and quieting down in those localities from which it was receding. The far-reaching effects of the depression are exemplified, however, not so much by any very unusual wind velocity as by the general and very heavy rain which followed in its wake. So far as reports have been received, not one single station in the province, including Assam, Behar, and Orissa, fails to report rainfall, and in the great majority of cases the weekly fall exceeds the average for the whole month.

Pressure has been almost everywhere below the normal of the week, but owing to the movements of the depression it has of course varied greatly from day to day. The ultimate result is that it considerably above the average, with a disquieting element in the shape of a relatively low-pressure area in the south of the Bay. As might be expected, in Orissa and South-West Bengal have suffered the greatest defect (—·080″ to —·050″), whilst Behar and East Bengal are closest to the normal.

Temperature.—Consequent mainly on the depression, temperature was below the average by amounts varying from 0·9° in East Bengal to 3·8° in North Bengal. These refer to divisional averages, but local temperatures do not differ from them much. The tendency throughout the week at all places was distinctly towards a decline.

Winds were cyclonic at the beginning of the week. As the depression passed away they naturally became more feeble and variable in direction. At the close, however, they were again feebly cyclonic.

Rainfall.—As mentioned above, the rainfall has formed the most abnormal element of the weather for this season of the year. North Bengal records the highest divisional average, 11·26 (just eight times the weekly normal). Next come Orissa and South-West Bengal with 6·95″ and 6·31″ respectively, each about four times the normal quantity for the week. North and South Behar each received 3·41″ (about five times the normal), East Bengal 3·25″ (nearly double the normal), and Chutia Nagpur 1·58″, which is more than double its average fall Some very heavy subdivisional falls are reported as under:—

Humidity and cloud proportion were very high throughout the week.

Weather has been dull and gloomy, and much rain has fallen. Northerly winds have set in West Bengal and along the Madras coast, and barometer has recovered everywhere. These are conditions favourable to an early cold season, but unfortunately they also favour the formation of another cyclonic storm, and the latter appears the more likely favourite.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 17th of October 1890 :—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

MEMORANDUM.

Monthly review of deaths registered in forty-five districts of Bengal for the month of August 1890.

THE deaths registered in forty-five districts in Bengal during the month of August 1890 were 116,479, and correspond to an annual rate of 21·12 per 1,000 of the aggregate population of those districts, which is 65,859,534. This rate is 1·44 lower than the mean rate of the corresponding months of the past five years 1885—89, and is also lower than the rate of the corresponding period of any of the past five years except 1886 and 1888, vide the figures below—

	1885.	1886.	1887.	1888.	1889.	Monthly average of five years, 1885—89.	1890.
Ratio of deaths per 1,000 of the population per annum	24·60	20·64	24·96	19·68	23·04	22·56	21·12

The following table shows the highest proportions of deaths registered during the month of August 1890, compared with the corresponding month of 1889 :—

Districts.	Ratio per mille during— August 1890.	August 1889.	Districts.	Ratio per mille during— August 1890.	August 1889.
Darjiling	37·20	42·00	Shahabad	29·88	38·16
Gya	36·84	42·00	Khulna	27·12	17·40

Noakhali	30 60	23·04	Hazaribagh	25·08	32·64

The total mortality during the month under review from the several registered death-causes is compared in the following table with the mortality from those causes in the corresponding month of 1889 and the average of the five years 1885—89 :—

	Ratio per mille during— August 1890.	August 1889.	Monthly average of five years 1885—89.
Small-pox	·08	·06	·04
Fever	15·24	15·12	15·12
Bowel-complaints	·48	·96	·84
Injury	·72	·84	·72
Other causes	3 00	3·36	3·00

It will be seen from the above that there was a noticeable decrease in cholera deaths during August 1890. The mortality under the other heads was pretty much the same as in corresponding past periods.

The highest annual death-rates from cholera and fever occurred in the following districts :—

Cholera.	Ratio per mille.	Fever.	Ratio per mille.
Chumparun	11·64	Noakhali	28·08
Gya	6·48	Gya	24·84

Sarun	3·00	Dinajpur	21·36
Durbhanga	2·28	Jessore	21·12
		Hazaribagh	20·88
		Rajshahye	20·40

The mortality of the month under review, according to Sex, Class and Age, was distributed as follows :—

According to Sex.	Ratio per mille.	According to Class.	Ratio per mille.	According to Age.	Ratio per mille.

OFFICE OF SANITARY COMMISSIONER FOR BENGAL,

The 15th October 1890.

W. H. GREGG, Dip. Publ. Health, Camb.,

Sanitary Commissioner for Bengal.

MEMORANDUM.

Weekly review of births and deaths in twenty-seven of the principal towns of Bengal for the week ending with Saturday, the 4th October 1890.

Births.

The births registered during the week ending with Saturday, the 4th October 1890, in twenty-seven principal towns of Bengal correspond to an annual rate of 29·7 per 1,000 of the aggregate population of those towns, which is 1,061,574. This rate is 7·9 higher than the average rate of the corresponding week of the past five years, and is also higher than the rate of the corresponding week of any of the past five years with which comparison is instituted—vide the figures below :—

	1885.	1886.	1887.	1888.	1889.	Weekly average of five years, 1885-89.	1890.

C. C. STEVENS,
Offg. Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

EXAMINATION OF CANDIDATES FOR ADMISSION INTO THE OPIUM DEPARTMENT.

Dated Darjeeling, the 25th October 1890.

NOTIFICATION—By the Government of Bengal, Revenue Department.

IN pursuance of the decision contained in this Government's Resolution, dated the 14th July 1884, it is hereby declared that a competitive examination for three appointments in the Opium Department will be held in February 1891. At this examination only such European and Eurasian candidates as have been nominated by the Lieutenant-Governors of Bengal and the North-Western Provinces, and the Opium Agents of Behar and Benares, each of whom is authorized to make one nomination for each vacancy subject to ultimate nomination by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, will be permitted to present themselves. It must also be clearly understood by intending competitors that those who may be declared successful will not, as far as can be at present foreseen, obtain permanent appointments for some time to come, and can only expect in the interval to act in such temporary and officiating vacancies as may from time to time occur in the service. One-fourth of the appointments in the Opium Department is reserved exclusively for "Natives of India" of unmixed descent; but as it has been decided to make these by selection, they are not affected by the rules now issued.

2. A certificate of health and physical fitness, signed by a covenanted medical officer in the form appended to this notification, will be required from each candidate, who should also furnish a copy of his baptismal certificate, in the absence of which sufficient evidence as to age should be forwarded with the application for admission to the examination. With reference to the orders of the Government of India, No. 4843, dated 20th September 1889, no one whose age on the 1st February 1891 exceeds 22 years, or is under 18 years, will be permitted to appear at the examination.

3. A certificate that the candidate is able to ride and is of active habits, signed by a district officer, or by a Presidency Magistrate or Commissioner of Police in the case of applicants residing in Presidency towns, should also be submitted.

4. Applications, accompanied by the necessary certificates and a fee of Rs. 15, must be sent on or before the 1st January next to the Under-Secretary to the Government of Bengal in the Revenue Department.

5. The examination will be held at Calcutta, and the date and place will be notified to such candidates as are allowed to present themselves at the competition.

6. The examination will be by written questions and answers, and the subjects will be as follows:—

FIRST DAY.

Morning.

A short essay on some easy every-day subject, to be selected by the Examiners and declared at the time of the examination.

Time allowed—2½ hours.

Afternoon.

_____ Description

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. E. BUCKLAND,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

DARJEELING,

The 25th October 1890.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT,—FORESTS.

NOTIFICATION.

The 24th October, 1890.—The Lieutenant-Governor hereby notifies, under section 4 of the Indian Forest Act (VII of 1878), that it is proposed to constitute the land within the boundaries described below reserved forest under the provisions of the said Act:—

District.	Pergunnahs or sub-divisions.	Name of forest	Description of boundaries.
Lohardugga ...	Sudder sub-division	Mailong ...	North—From a point on the old Ranchi-Purulia road along that road for about ¼th of a mile; then a line running in a south easterly direction to the Baha Nuddee skirting cultivated lands; then along the Baha Nuddee skirting cultivated lands in two places at the south-eastern extremity to the Raru Nuddee. East.—Boundary between Horhap and Mailong mouzahs. South—From a point on the boundary line between Horhap and Mailong mouzahs a line running in a south-westerly direction, then due west skirting cultivated lands to the trijunction of the boundaries of the villages of Horhap, Mailong and Baram. West.—From a point on the boundary between Baram and Mailong a line running in a westerly direction to the south of cultivated lands of Barkumba; then first northwards, then westwards, skirting cultivated lands to the starting point on the old Ranchi-Purulia road.

The Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to appoint the Deputy Commissioner of Lohardugga to be the Forest Settlement Officer, who will, under the provisions of Chapter II of the Indian Forest Act, determine the boundaries to be finally laid down, and enquire into and determine the existence, nature and extent of any rights alleged to exist in favour of any person in or over any land comprised within the boundaries specified above, or in or over any forest produce to be found therein in cases where claims to such rights are preferred by any individual or community under section 6 of the said Act, and will also himself ascertain, as far as possible, and enquire into the existence of any rights mentioned in section 4 or 5 of the said Act, within the said boundaries which are not claimed under section 6, so far as the same may be ascertainable from the records of Government and the evidence of any persons likely to be acquainted with the same, and will otherwise perform the duties of a Forest Settlement Officer under that Chapter.

The Lieutenant-Governor is also pleased, under section 16 of the Indian Forest Act, to appoint the Commissioner of the Chota Nagpore Division to hear appeals from the decisions of the Forest Settlement Officer as above appointed.

C. E. BUCKLAND,
Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

Orders and Notifications by the Government of India, &c.

Reprinted from the "Gazette of India."

The following orders, issued by the Government of India in the Home Department, are republished for general information.

C. C. STEVENS,
Offg. Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

NOTIFICATION.

Simla, the 23rd October 1890.

No 2177.—With reference to Rules 3 and 7 of the Rules published in Home Department notification No. 1817, dated 3rd July 1888, and to Rules 3 and 7 published in the notification of the Government of Bengal, dated 29th April 1889, it is hereby notified that the examination prescribed for filling up vacancies in the Clerical Establishments of the Secretariat Offices of the Government of India and attached Offices, and of the Offices subordinate to the Government of Bengal, will be held at Calcutta, in the Senate House of the Calcutta University, and at Allahabad and Lahore, at the places to be appointed by the Governments of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh and the Punjab, respectively, in January 1891; the exact dates will be notified hereafter. The hours of examination will be from 10 A.M. to 1 P.M. and from 1-30 P.M. to 4-30 P.M. daily.

The probable number of vacancies in the Secretariat Clerical Service of the Government of India and attached Offices to be competed for is one in the Upper Division and eighteen in the Lower Division. Of the latter, nine will be reserved for candidates who may succeed in passing at the examination to be held at Calcutta, and nine for those who pass at the examination to be held at Allahabad and Lahore, provided that a sufficient number of candidates, duly qualified, present themselves at those centres.

The probable number of vacancies in the Offices subordinate to the Government of Bengal will be four in the Upper Division and twenty in the Lower Division. These will be reserved for candidates examined at Calcutta.

Candidates should pay the prescribed fee (Rs. 20 for the Upper Division and Rs. 10 for the Lower Division) into the nearest Treasury, and forward the Treasury Receipt to the Secretary to the Board of Examiners, Calcutta. Candidates paying their fees in Calcutta should pay them into the Bank of Bengal.

Application for permission to appear at the examination, whether for appointments under the Government of India or for those under the Government of Bengal, should be made to the Secretary to the Board of Examiners, Calcutta, between the 1st and the 15th days of December (inclusive)

The attention of intending candidates is called to Rule 6 of the Home Department notification of the 3rd July 1888, and to Rule 6 of the notification of the Government of Bengal of the 29th April 1889, prescribing the particulars* and documents which should accompany the application for permission to appear at the examination.

* (1) Evidence (except in the cases provided for by Rules 8 and 9) that the candidate at the date of making his application is not less than eighteen and not more than twenty-four years of age. The date of the candidate's birth must be stated.

(2) In case the candidate has been educated at a school in which students' good conduct registers are kept, the candidate's register for the last year of his attendance at school when a year has not elapsed since he left school. In other cases, a certificate that the candidate is of good moral character from the head of the institution in which he has last been educated, or from some respectable householder to whom he is well known in private life, and who is himself known to a District or Sub-divisional Magistrate, or to the head of some Government office, this last fact being certified by the countersignature of the officer in question.

The Indian Law Reports.

Published under Authority.

THE Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor-General in Council appear in monthly parts, published as soon as possible after the first of each month at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, and comprise four series—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madra High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court. The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the Series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat, and the Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad respectively.

In supersession of the previous advertisements, on and from the 1st January 1889 the terms of subscription and sale will be as follows for current issues as well as for back numbers of the Reports from 1876:—

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses, both chemical and industrial; trade statistics; markets, &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributions have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names; so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 550 royal pages; Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891; but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary; and this as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs. 30 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole sets.

 No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete, and no single volume will be sold separately The price to non-subscribers will be Rs. 45 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.
